Freshmun Feller At UNC Describes 'Carolinawayalife'

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following humorous article is reprinted from The Daily Tar Heel, campus newspaper at the University of North Carolina.)

September 20, 1956

Dear Folks,
Well I been here a week now and I mean to tell you I really have been oriented. Everything started out pretty quiet-like last Thursday night with a big get together in the meeting hall they have at this place.

Some diffrent guys all dressed up like those men in the magazine ads stood up and talked to us for awhile about the stuff that goes on around here and what we shud expect and how we shud act and things like that.

They all talked about something they called the carolinawayalife which I aint too clear on and nobody around here seems to know a awful lot about. But classes start tomorrow and maybe one of my professors can tell me what its all about.

But anyhow that was just the be-ginnin. The next day which was Friday I was supposed to meet my counseller in front of the South building at nine o'clock in the morning so after I had got me something to eat at Lenor Hall (thats a sort of a big meetin place where everybody goes to sit and talk at meal time) I looked at the sun and then struck out tords the South figurin to run into this building directly.

Well its just a good thing I run into somebody who new what he was doin cause that darn place wasnt South at all. It was North. Anyhow after while I found him (that fella I was supposed to meet I mean) and he said good now that everybods here we can go get our fiscals and I said whats that and he just looked at me kinda funny and said youll find out purty quick.

Well as it turned out I didn't find out purty quick at all cause

Fines Creek School

Peak-A-Views

By JOAN DAVIS and FRANCES RECTOR

The Beta Club of Fines Creek High School went on its annual trip Sunday, September 30. This year, members of the club visited the Biltmore House near Asheville, went skating, ate supper, and enjoyed a movie Sunday night in Asheville.

Members of the Beta Club this year are Joan Davis, Frances Rector, Margaret Rogers, Juanita Lowe and Darrel Rogers. Also making the trip were two prospective members, Jerry Ferguson and Joretta Clark, who went along as special guests. The club was accompanied by Mr. Ross, club sponsor, and Mrs. Ross.

Several members of the FHA attended the Western District FHA rally at the Clyde A. Erwin High School last Saturday. Those attending and taking part on the program were: Margaret Rogers, Novella Rector, Juanita Lowe, Joretta Clark, Patricia Kirkpatrick, Barbara Ferguson, Jane Davis, Janie Nichols, and Gail Bradshaw.

The men are very busy laying new tile for the home economics department. The girls are very anxious for it to be completed since it will make their sewing room more attractive and pleasant to work in. They hope to complete it soon.

School pictures were taken last Monday at FCHS by Frank Arnett, photographer for Delmar Studios. The individual pictures will be available in black and white and also in color. Everyone is looking forward to the time when the pictures will be available for sale.

We have been noticing the basketball players gazing longingly at the new glass backboards which have been installed recently. No doubt they will be anxious to try out the new backboards as soon as the electricians finish installing the new lighting system in the gymnasium and remove their ladders and scaffolds from the gym floor, which have become a familiar but welcome sight.

Since we are talking about repairs, we might mention the new concrete walk which is being built from the high school building to the lunchroom. This is welcome, indeed, by all of us who remember wading the mud last winter going to and from the new lunchroom. Also, on these frosty mornings, we extend a warm welcome to the new stoker in the boiler room, which is automatically supplying us with warm, evenly-heated rooms. And we know our janitor, Mr. Beasley, appreciates it very much also.

Sir Alexander Fleming, one of the discoverers of penicillin, is also the discoverer of the antiseptic lysozyme. The latter antiseptic substance is found both in the whites of eggs and in human tears.

There was one real nice thing tho. All the girls around here got together tonight and had a big party for all of us where they live. It was real nice with punch and cookies and all that sort of stuff and everybody sat around and talked about the weather and do- you-know-so-and-so but one girl said she didnt like it. I think it was awful hot and I said no I was purty darn cold and after that nobody said much to me except its time to go home now young man and I said thank you mam but I reckon I better stay in town cause I got a class at eight o'clock in the morning and I doubt if I could get back in time for it if I went home this late.

There's gonna be a big fight this Saturday afternoon down in the woods between some fella name Tatum and another guy I think his name is Murray or something like that and everybody is supposed to go and watch and holler so I reckon I ought to go see what its all about but from what I hear these two fellas aint really mad at each other so it probably wont be much of a fight. But Ill write and let you know if Tatum is as tough as cousin Lem used to be before he fell down the stairs, I think hes the one Im supposed to holler for.

Somebodys poundin on the door yellin for me to stop writing cause the scratchin of my pen is keepin him awake so I better close for now. Write soon.
Your loving son,
Lonzo.

House Guest Has Certain Obligations

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Going away for the weekend? Or perhaps you've been invited to spend a long vacation period with the family of your best friend.

A house visit obligates a guest. The fact that you've accepted an invitation indicates you've made a contract to be on your best behavior, and to observe the household routine. Here are some points to remember...

1. Arrive on the train, plane, bus or other conveyance at the time they expect to meet you. If you do change your plans, inform your hostess immediately.

2. You should have all the necessities with you — toothpaste, comb, brush, nightgown, negligee, slippers, cosmetics. If you forget something, buy a replacement at the first opportunity.

3. Keep your room clean. Do not expect your hostess' mother to clean up after you. Make your bed each day as soon as possible. Pick up your clothes, put them on hangers and put them in the closet.

4. Use cleansing tissues to remove your makeup. Do not smear lipstick on towels or use them for shining shoes.

5. A good hostess will tell you the mealtime schedule the first day. You are supposed to observe it. If she is kind enough to suggest you sleep late in the morning, try not to overdo it. She may want you to eat breakfast in your room if the family eats early, however.

6. They should tell you what the household plans are insofar as entertainment goes. If the family invites you to go dancing or swimming, it's a good idea to fall in with the plan. Don't hold out for bicycle riding, even if that is your fondest exercise.

7. Observe good table manners. If you are unsure of yourself, borrow an etiquette book from the library. Learn to butter small bits of bread instead of the entire slice, to eat your soup with the spoon scooping it up away from you.

8. Try to keep out of the way in between times. Your hostess' mother would like you out of sight when the house is being cleaned, and she'd like you out of your room long enough to vacuum it during your stay, no doubt.

9. It's a good idea to get in the habit of being helpful. Offer to remove the dishes from the table, to wash or dry them, if it is that kind of household. If the family has help, they'd probably like it if you'd stay out of the kitchen.

10. Be sure to take a warm sweater or stole, low shoes for play, your own notepaper and fountain pen.

11. It's a good idea to bring your hostess' mother a little gift. If you do not, be sure to send her a bouquet or nosegay of flowers when you get home. In any case you should get your thank-you note off as soon as possible.

12. If you and your hostess date in the evenings, it's wise to observe the curfew laid down by her parents. You can be assured that you will never get another invitation to their household if they must be put in the position of unusual responsibility for you.

13. If they invite you to extend your stay, be sure to let your parents know by telephone or telegraph if a letter will not arrive home in time.

14. You should tell your hostess the train you plan to get on the day they expect you to leave, so that they do not have to ask you.

15. A cheerful attitude should be maintained throughout your stay, and when you leave, let them know you've had a glorious time even if you haven't.
