

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING was offered for sale at the first community auction held last Saturday morning on the courthouse parking lot in Waynesville. Here auctioneer Phillip Cronkite of Hendersonville put on the block a heater, which later brought $3.75.

"JUST IN TIME for the hunting season," observed auctioneer Cronkite as he put this shotgun up for sale, and later sold it to the high bidder for $8.50. A total of $475.50 was sold at the first auction, and more is expected to change hands at the second auction this Saturday morning.

"EVERY WOMAN SHOULD HAVE ONE" was the advice of Mr. Cronkite here as he offered this crosscut saw for sale at the community auction last Saturday. The saw later brought $5.25.
