

Mountaineers Free-Wheel 20-0 Over Betsy Cyclones

WTHS Team Gives Best Performance

By W. CURTIS RUSS

The way the powerful and smooth-clicking Mountaineers played football at Elizabethton (Tenn.) Friday night will be remembered there a long time after Davey Crockett is forgotten. The Mountaineers came out of the game with everything but a deed to the stadium.

The Cyclones of Elizabethton were held scoreless by a rather stingy and non-compromising Mountaineer line, as the hard-rushing backs from WTHS pushed over 20 points in one of the best games of the season for the Jaynesmen.

Penalty flags fell like fall leaves on the East Tennessee stadium, as 13 penalties were inflicted and six others refused. Waynesville gave up 80 yards in eight penalties while the Cyclones lost 55 yards in five flag falls.

The Mountaineers looked like they might have gone to Elizabethton via Oak Ridge, and while there sampled some atomic power.

In the first quarter, the Mountaineer immovable line held the Cyclones to four downs, with minor gains, on two different occasions.

Elizabethton kicked to Waynesville's 17, and on the first Mountaineer play there was a fumble and Cyclone back Johnny Taylor pounced on the ball on Waynesville's 25—the nearest the E. T. aggregation came to the goal line. Once again, the Mountaineers dug their heels deep into the turf and held for downs.

A penalty kept the Mountaineers from making a first down, and once again the story was repeated with Waynesville holding for downs. Neal Palmer took the Cyclone punt on a fair catch on the 50 as the quarter ended.

The Mountaineer line paved the way for smooth sailing for the backs to lug the leather via land and air to the one-yard line, where Fullback Hugh Grasty crashed over for the touchdown. Hooper followed the same pattern to add the extra point.

Elizabethton sprang back in what looked like it could add up to trouble for the Mountaineers, as

Basketball Call Issued At Clyde

Coach Brown Griffin plans to start basketball practice Wednesday at the Clyde high, in what promises to be an excellent year for the Cardinal Cagers. Only two boys were lost from last year's squad, and the coach sees a "better balanced girls' team this year".

The squad is in fine shape, Coach Griffin said, and he expects one of the school's best teams this season.

Three Games Set Friday In Haywood

Friday will be a jammed-packed football day in Haywood, with three games — all of the last games for as many schools.

The Mountaineers will play host to the heavy-lined, and fast backs of Owen High — a team that has been setting a fast pace in the Blue Ridge Conference this season. The game is at 7:30 WTHS stadium.

The Canton Black Bears will meet the Lee Edward Maroons on the Canton field, also 7:30 Friday night, in one of the top games of the area.

The Sylva Hurricanes will come over from the capitol of Jackson Friday afternoon to meet the Bethel Blue Demons on the latter's field.

This Friday ends the regular schedule for the season.
