

GO TO CHURCH SERVICES SOMEWHERE EVERY SUNDAY

Series Illustrated Lectures Set By S. D. Adventists

An illustrated lecture on the Holy Land will be given Friday night at 7:00 o'clock at the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Hazelwood (196 Beech Street) by J. O. Wilson, missionary recently returned from Jerusalem, according to announcement made by Dave Wiggins, local elder of the church.

Mr. Wiggins says this stereotypical lecture on the Holy Land is the opening meeting in a week of prayer and revival services to be held each night at 7:30 o'clock, from November 23 through December 1, except that the Saturday meetings will be at 11:00 a.m. instead of 7:00 p.m. J. O. Wilson, who is now pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist churches in Western North Carolina, including Hazelwood, will be the speaker through the series, Mr. Wiggins said.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Samuel L. Hofawger had no luck fishing until his last cast. He brought in a squirrel which had been swimming. He took the squirrel home and says he will make a pet of him.

The Prodigal Son

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 15:11-32.

A man having two sons, divided his possessions between them at the request of the younger. Taking his inheritance with him, the younger son went to a far country where he spent his all in wild living.

Having squandered his all, the son was hired to feed a man's swine. Hungry enough to envy the pigs their food, he decided to go home, confess his faults, and beg his father to make him one of his servants.

As he neared home his father saw him and rushed to embrace him. He replaced the rags with fine new clothes and ordered a feast prepared, for, said he, this my son was lost and is now found.

The older brother was angry at the welcome the prodigal had received. His father told him that his brother had been lost, but was found, but "all that I have is thine."
MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 103:10, 11.

Bad Manners Are Causing Much Grief

AP Newsfeatures

"Most young people today (and my own are no exception) have atrocious manners," writes a disillusioned parent, "and it is pitiful they aren't aware of how much harm they do themselves or other people."

How much harm is done by bad manners?

A mother relates that she has been brought to tears by the actions of a daughter. On one occasion daughter barged into the house with a group of friends and asked her mother and her friends to leave the living room!

A teacher tells how she has been told over and over again to mind her own business by a number of spoiled girls in her class. "You can't do anything about it," she says, "because even a parent who understands the problem will rush to the school board and complain if you reprimand their grown-up brats."

Is money the root of the trouble, asks one parent.

"Young people make too much money for their own good," he says. "Unlike the last generation, they're not putting the money into the family kitty."

One parent says his young man saved up on an after school job, bought himself a jalopy, and then presented his father with the bills for school tuition, books and clothes.

School girls are wearing horrible dresses in an effort to be sophisticated, one mother says. When she was shocked by the fit and depth of the neckline plunge, her daughter responded with "I bought this with my own money, so why don't you mind your own business."

What can you do when she's all ready to go out? The mother wails.

Young people are rude to each other.

One young girl observed telling a friend that her shoes were the cheapest looking pair she'd ever seen, was appalled when questioned about it. "Well, they were," she countered, not realizing that even if she had been asked to give her opinion her appraisal should have been tempered.

The girl who'd been insulted was hurt as it turned out, but when asked about it replied:

"Oh, I don't mind her. She's afraid to be nice because people will suspect she is soft."

Does this generation pride itself on being hard boiled?

Or is this independence the result of working and earning a good income?

A father has this to say:

"The last generation slaved to make a few pennies in the wheat fields or in a factory to help out a family. That taught them responsibility. But today's young people are only working greedily to corral more choice morsels for themselves. They're getting more egotistical and righteous every day."

It doesn't cost anything to give a verbal bouquet occasionally, to help out on the family groceries, to inflate Mom's ego by consulting her about clothes, to hold your tongue when any elder makes suggestions or offers criticism. If so many people are miserable because young people lack that kind of respect, why not give "being nice" a whirl?

Thanksgiving

Dear Lord, we have so much to thank Thee for!
Spring's bright promise gloriously fulfilled
In plenteous harvests. Peace throughout our land,
And all the joys of life that help to gild
The passing days—home, work, love, laughter, friends.
But most of all we bless Thee, Lord, for these:
The right to walk in safety, speak our minds,
And, without fear, to worship as we please.
God keep us strong and show us how to share
These blessings with our brothers everywhere!
