First of the 1935 Airflow Cars

NEW YORK CITY (Special)—
Predictions that cars will be even further atreamlined next year were verified this week, when the first of the 1935 Airflow cars was previewed by automobile editors behind locked doors at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel here.

There has been a greaf deaf of conjecture as to what the new 1935 cars would be like, since Walter P. Chrysler announced that his Airflow models would be a permanent part of the Chrysler Motors line.

This new Airflow car is expected to be the most advanced of the streamlined cars to first be viewed by the public in January at the New York Automobile Show. It has been smartly restyled. The editors found that the front of the car had been designed with a narrowed
