GOLDEN GLEAMS

In all things what we prize most is novelty.—Ovid.
What is there that does not appear marvelous when it comes to our knowledge for the first time? —Play the Elder

Everybody agrees that there are too many highway fatalities in North Carolina but the living do nothing about it and the dead can't.

The coming spring will be a good time for those people who have been planning to beautify their premises for the past ten years to make a start.

Personally, we have no hope that everybody will agree with our ideas and rather hope that some specimens of humanity will find them obvious.

The DUPLIN TIMES is prepared to forgive those who failed to renew their subscriptions in January, provided, they do so in February.

The DUPLIN TIMES will be glad to receive news items, or letters, from its readers. Sign your name for identification; it will not be published if you request us to omit it.

We see where some American "intellectuals" are making a friendly protest to the Soviet Union, which will tell them, probably in a polite way, to mind their own business.

After the individual (young lady) breaks about five appointments with another young individual (young man) even the young man ought to be able to overlook the next appointment.

It will take more than a plan to solve the social problems of the United States and the individual citizen of Duplin County can help the job along by taking care of himself or herself.

DUPLIN'S HOUSING PROJECT

A meeting will be called Monday of leading citizens from every section of Duplin County to lay plans for calling a mass meeting of every home owner who is interested in repairing his home or building a new one.

Ralph E. Hallock of the Asheville office of the Federal Housing Administration was in the TIMES office yesterday and stated that he was very anxious that Duplin County home owners get started on the project at the earliest possible time. His office will send a government representative to meet with the Duplin folks at their mass meeting and explain the proposition.

Duplin County farmers have been unusually fortunate for the past two years. Crops have brought a fair price and they are about out of debt. For the past five years or more the average person has not been able to give his home the necessary repairs and so the United States Government in its NEW DEAL program is going to make it possible for every home-owner to repair and remodel his home.

There are two primary purposes behind this move. First is the desire that every man should have the average conveniences of life. When we take a look into some of our homes, a great many of them, and see conditions under which the inhabitants reside should we wonder that there is so much crime and unrest among us? When a person arises on a cold morning and has no decent place, not even as good as some animals, to prepare himself for the day's work ahead his spirits are low and he doesn't care much what happens. A comfortable convenient home for every resident of Duplin County will aid in reduction of crime and lawbreaking as much as anything that can be done. The TIMES believes.

The second purpose behind this great move is to put people to work. When hundreds of homes in this county begin being remodeled and repaired lumber mills begin to run, paint factories increase their production, merchants' sales begin to jump and more people are given work in every line of business. In short it puts all the wheels of industry to turning. It is, we believe, a patriotic duty to attend this meeting and do your best to improve your living conditions thereby raising your standard of living and aiding in the re-employment of millions of people throughout these United States.

WHAT OUR LADIES ARE DOING

The Junior Woman's Club of Kenansville in cooperation with ladies from other sections of the County are undertaking a project of beautifying the County Court House lawn. The spirit and interest shown deserves much consideration from the other citizens of the county. It is a loyal attitude that prompted the desire to clean-up and beautify our county capital. The TIMES here and now takes cognizance of their efforts and compliments them for their undertaking.

The bridge tournament Monday night netted about $25.00 for the project. We think it would be a fine thing if our board of county commissioners would recognize their efforts and donate an amount to assure a one hundred percent job. We do not think $100 is too much for the county to contribute. Also we believe there are some loyal and interested citizens in the county who would be glad to contribute a dollar or two for the work. In case there are some we suggest that you send your money to Mrs. K. C. Wells or Miss Anna Carr in Kenansville.

Here's to you ladies. The TIMES is pulling for you.

BUSINESS ISN'T BOTHERED

While the country awaits the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the gold clause case with interest there is little evidence that anyone is greatly worried.

Deas and Bradstreet's, generally accepted as a reliable authority on business, says that nearly every branch of business is attaining a more accelerated pace than we met a year ago. Since 1933 the business activity index has moved from 83.5 to 78.9 and now stands 37.1 ahead of last year.

Other great economists insist that natural forces are now moving to end the depression and that nothing can prevent the up-turn from reaching progress. Of course, unwise legislation and foolish acts can thwart it or make it slow, or great are the natural resources of this country, the check will be temporary.

A Lesson From Gen. Robert E. Lee

Seven Springs, N. C. January 19, 1935.

Editor The Times:

This is Robert E. Lee's birthday. There is nothing I can add to what has been said in his praise. There are some who followed him in war but not in peace. It has been nearly three score and ten years since Lee surrendered at Appomattox. A few months after the surrender, I have heard, the trustees of Washington College, now Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, met and elected the great General president of the college. Some one must go down near Richmond and inform the General of his election. The trustees discovered that not one of them had any money to buy a railroad ticket, that not one of them had a decent suit of clothes to wear. There was one woman in Lexington, the story goes, who had saved a little gold from the wreck of war. She lent it to the trustees. They bought one of the number a brand-new suit of clothes and he went to tell General Lee of the election.

Robert E. Lee devoted the five remaining years of his life to the service of the little college, endeavoring to repair the wrecks of war, helping the prostrate South get back on her feet. He lost no time cursing the Yankees. He forgave and forgot. Can we not all do likewise?

One of the finest tributes ever paid the great Southern Leader came from Charles Francis Adams of Massachusetts in 1907, the hundredth anniversary of Lee's birth. Likewise Henry W. Grady, the great Southern orator, paid to Lincoln the highest tribute that human lips could speak.

In memory of Robert E. Lee let us keep our faces turned toward the future. Let the past dead bury its dead.

John T. Fitzgerald.
