FROM THE SCRIPTURES

Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou be fed. Delight thyself also in the Lord; and He shall give thee the desire of thine heart.—Psalm 37:3, 4.

GOLDEN GLEAMS

The stars are mansions built by Nature's hand, And, happy, there the spirits of the best Dwell clothed in radiance, their immortal vest.—Wordsworth

When your subscriptions to The Times expires there is no way for us to tell whether you want it continued or not, unless you send us a check to renew.

Business is picking up for the advertisers in The Duplin Times.

There are individuals in Duplin putting the "eat" in death.

Life has its tragic battles, mostly fought out in the heart of the individual.

Not every criticism of preachers can be regarded as an attack upon religion.

Scandal in a community spreads faster than fire and its just about as dangerous.

We see where a biology professor says that sharks fear man—do the sharks know this?

What has happened to the lady who used to tie up her hair and duck when "company" came?

THE TIMES GETS RESULTS

Advertisers will find that most of the important buyers in Duplin County read the Times. Business is made by progressive citizens and this class of our people are behind the Times. Merchants who fail to advertise because everybody in town knows all about them, make the same mistake that is made by those who hesitate to subscribe to the local paper because they know everything that has happened, or is apt to happen.

We are not making boastful statements. We let our advertisers speak for themselves. Our readers, doubtless, have noticed from time to time articles calling attention to the fact that the TIMES is aiding the Welfare department in placing homeless children in god homes. Just last week Mrs. Harvey Boney, county Welfare agent, showed us a handful of letters from people in the county who have been reading the TIMES and are desirous of offering a good home to some child.

This week we get a statement from the manager of the Duplin Theatre at Warsaw thus: "... I feel there is no better medium of advertising to be had anywhere in this section of the state." Another advertiser writes: "... I spent $1.75 for advertising in your valuable newspaper and to date have gotten over $15.00 worth of business. The reason I know that I have gotten this result is because my customers saw the ad in your paper and told me that that was the reason for coming to my place of business."

Other merchants in Duplin County will find it profitable to use the TIMES advertising columns. We are not just publishing an advertising sheet but a "NEWSY" NEWSPAPER for the people of Duplin County.

THESE ASTUTE BRITISH!

Well, Well! How astute these foreigners are! Just as we were beginning to think that our diplomats could not sit in on a conference without losing their trousers, at least, along comes one Harold Nicholson, author and former diplomat, who insists that four of the ten best leaders in international affairs, during the past twenty years, have been Americans.

Isn't that a slick way for the British to fool us into another conference? Make us confident and proud of our ability as diplomats and then entice us into another table discussion of international affairs. How adroit is this British diatribe!

NO PALPITATION

We can work up but mild worry over the alarm sounded by the House investigating committee, which reports many dangerous Reds and Communists in this country and that our native Americans are being constantly exposed to "foreign propaganda."

True enough, no doubt, there are those who advocate force in overthrowing this, and other, governments. That they talk foolishly, absurdly and vain-gloriously is also established. However, they will not get anywhere unless the American people willingly swallow their crazy ideas and insanely attempt to put their mouthings into action.

What is the remedy? Not new laws, because they will not prevent force if there are idiots who believe that force will win, but rather a more thorough understanding of basic American principles and a genuine practice of them in daily life. Education is the best antidote to revolutionary propaganda and a faithful obedience to real American principles by patriotic citizens will render futile absurd doctrines.

FOR ONE OR TWO YOUNG CITIZENS

Does the average reader of the TIMES seek only those articles which express his own convictions? Is he afraid to read the thoughts of men who attack his cherished opinions? Is he, or she, in short, concerned not so much with being right as in being upheld?

The answers to these questions will serve as a good intelligence test not only for readers but for newspaper editors as well. How many of us, in reading what another writes, attempt to secure the fair intendment of the authors? Or, do we impute false motives and fan ourselves into a hot flame of indignation, readily springing to the defense of our own position without answering the expressed questions that arise within us?

The best editorials are those that invoke clear thinking, not the ones that provoke rage or encourage passions. Every question has it has been said, three sides, "my side, your side and the right side." If you are really intelligent you will always be looking for the third side and you will never find it until you can see the other two sides.

Older readers, strongly opinionated, will consider this article a tissue of bunk. Younger thinkers will, we hope, bear it in mind. If one or two of them do, the space will not have been wasted.

A SHORT SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LOUIS H. SANDERSON

June 24, 1869, in a Log-Cabin back in the good old days, when the old spinning wheel and loom were running full speed and the meals were prepared in the fireplace, was born in the home of an humble blacksmith a tiny son.

Just a few happy years had the family spent together when the dreadful war between the States came on. The father was sent to the army leaving the mother and her two little sons to get along as best they could.

Finally the war ceased and fortunately the father returned to his family. What a happy reunion this must have been!

Back in those days, educational facilities were limited. The boys and girls did not have the opportunities that the average boy and girl of today have.

This little boy (Uncle Louis) and his brother had to walk four and five miles to a three month, one teacher, log school house, with an old clay chimney. Seats were made of split-oven logs. Reading, writing and arithmetic were primarily the subjects taught. The "Blue Back Speller," also was a great favorite.

Much of the time the weather was bitter cold, but in spite of the difficulties that confronted the parents, "Uncle Louis" and his brother (the writers' daddy) were always sent to school. The father provided good literature in the home and encouraged his sons to read.

"Uncle Louis" was a very brilliant scholar and one of the most learned and best informed on all subjects (considering his educational opportunities) to be found anywhere. Scarcely could anything be mentioned that he did not know about.

"Uncle Louis" was reared in a christian home; he was taught to love and fear the Lord. In his early years, he united with Hallsville Baptist church (the church in which his parents were members) It was there he attended church and Sunday School walking five miles each Sunday. Later on in years a church was organized at Cabin. He gave the church lot, moved his membership and was a trustee at the time of his death.

"Uncle Louis" served as County Surveyor of Duplin County for four years and was well known throughout the County. He was a genius; he could do most any kind of work from fixing a watch to building a tree.

"Uncle Louis" was a man of good character, a good neighbor and a friend to all. He was honest in his dealings with his fellowman; his word was his honor. Among his favorite hobbies were; Beekeeping, photography and music, although he did some farming. Uncle was quite fond of children and was never too busy to quit work and pet a child. Ofttimes he would build windmills and corn-stalk crows to delight the children.

"Uncle Louis" was never married. He spent his last years with his niece. He was claimed by death February 9, 1935; at the age of seventy-five. Three nephews; Messrs John Hill, Roy and Lloyd Sanderson; and a niece Miss Ernie Sanderson survive him and the following great nieces; Misses Jessie Ruth, Reba Grace, Ann and a great nephew; Master Russell Sanderson.

It is so lonely without Uncle Louis but surely God in His wisdom Knoweth best and doeth all things well. We realize our loss is heaven's gain.

His Niece,
