GOLDEN GLEAMS

The borrower is servant to the lender.—New Testament

SENATORS BAILEY AND REYNOLDS, THIS IS FOR YOU WHAT IS MONEY?

Some questions and statements for our politicians and statesmen to consider.

If our farmers and laborers are burdened with debt and many already bankrupt, with millions of laborers out of employment and nearly all of our institutions failing to function well for lack of funds, where is the money to come from to finance them? Is it not self-evident that there is an insufficient amount of money for our economic system to properly function? The money which we have is controlled almost completely by the big banks, and with the control of money they control labor and its products. Under this system we can never have real democracy and there is no such thing as equal opportunity of individuals to share in the wealth that is produced by labor. The elder J. P. Morgan said before an investigating committee that whoever controlled the money and credits of a country controlled its wealth. This was true then and it is true now. As the money power is and has been in control for a long period the wealth has gone into the hands of a few people. It is utterly inconceivable that four or five per cent of the population could ever own eighty or ninety per cent of the wealth except but by class legislation. And the money monopoly is the greatest means ever devised by the brain of man to enslave and exploit a people.

The money question is difficult to understand because the beneficiaries of the system control most of the avenues of information and purposely keep it beclouded so as to befuddle the minds of the people.

I want Senator Bailey and Senator Reynolds each to have a copy of this editorial blue pencilled and I want them to answer through these columns the following questions: What is a dollar? Is it a natural or an artificial thing? Does it grow or is it made by man? If they grow do they grow in England or France or do they have dollars in those countries? Evidently they have money. If money is an artificial product who makes it? Does it have to be made by a die or can it be made by a printing press? Really Senators, it is not the substance nor the method but that which is put on the substance by the authority of the government which makes it money. Is not this so Senator Bailey? And if it is so how do you say "That one thing is sure government cannot manufacture money?" If it is not true Senators, please explain through the columns of this paper what is wrong, with this reasoning and these statements.

If I cannot get sufficiently enlightened on this matter through our own Senators I shall submit this article to Senator Huey P. Long and see if he can shed any light upon this subject.

Respectfully,
R. G. Maxwell

Thousands of Women Benefited By Cardui

The benefits many women obtain from Cardui give them great confidence in it. "I have four children," writes Mrs. J. L. Norred, of Lagrange, Ga. "Before the birth of my children, I was weak, nervous and tired. I had a lot of trouble with my back. I took Cardui each time and found it so helpful. Cardui did more to allay the aches at those times than anything I have ever used. I am in very good health and believe Cardui did a lot of it." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit you, consult a physician.
