GOLDEN GLEAMS

But O! for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still!
—Tennyson.

It looks as if the line is drawn pretty sharply in the senate of the United States between the real friends of the bonus boys and the servants of Wall Street. These are the boys for whom nothing could be too good at home if they would only go over and lick the Kaiser and put the hated Hun in his proper place. The world would then be safe for democracy, Christianity thoroughly established, peace on earth and good will toward men put into active operation. There would be no more wars. The returning soldiers would have the everlasting gratitude of their fellow countrymen - And without even having to ask for it they would find that there was nothing too good to be bestowed upon them by their fellow countrymen - But now it seems that if they ask for bread they shall be given a stone. Possibly the Patman bill calls for printing press money sneeringly so called by the Wall Streeters and their henchmen.

Possibly their reason for so calling it is because the government would create that much new money and pay it directly to the soldier boys, and thereby deprive Wall Street of loaning it to the government at interest - Are not the bonds of the printing press? How about the twenty three billion dollars of printing press money issued and guaranteed to the Federal Reserve banks to be loaned by them at a higher rate of interest to other banks and by other banks at still higher rate of interest to the "dear people". Maybe after all it depends on whose ox is gored. It seems to be a case of you first dear Alfonso. Wall Street being Alfonso. Next year is election year. "To your tents O Israel!"—R. G. Maxwell.

FARMERS MUST LOOK AHEAD

Farmers of Duplin County will find it necessary in the protection of their interests to keep up with what happens in Washington and particularly the methods adopted by business to secure legislation favorable to profits.

To say that the farmer has been exploited in past years is not enough. One should emphasize that agriculturalists everywhere are exploited unless they are alert, intelligent and organized.

It is important for farmers to understand, as Secretary Wallace observes, that no set program is involved. What benefits agriculturalists today may not do so tomorrow. The future must be faced with a mind open to change.

NOT OUR BUSINESS

When should any organization of Americans pass resolutions condemning the internal policies of other nations?

The answer is, "never." What rights have Americans in regard to the internal policies of Germany, France, Italy, Japan or Mexico? The same rights that Germans, Frenchmen, Italians, Japanese and Mexicans have in regard to the internal policies of the United States, which means none at all.

The DUPLIN TIMES, like other citizens regrets that Herr Hitler "mistreats" German Jews and that Mexico "mistreats" Mexican Catholics. We would violently oppose similar mistreatment in this country and assist American Jews and Catholics to secure justice in this country because it is a duty incumbent upon every loyal American but we do not support efforts on the part of some Jews or Catholics, in this county, to force the American people through the government, to take up a battle in behalf of citizens of other countries.

IS THE "BOOM" HERE?

A British economist, visiting in this country, says that American business men tell him confidentially that their own business is "up 15 per cent" but carefully explain that "the boom is due to personal management."

Major Angus, the British author, thinks that the Americans are in a boom already but that none of us recognize it because we are like the other business men, and attribute improvement to our own smartness. He may be right and he may be wrong; any reader can take his choice.

BIG BUSINESS HAS ONE PLAN

The argument of Big Business, today, as we understand it, is to postpone all manner of reform legislation because it might disturb business and prevent the nation from moving into a great "recovery". Six years ago, if we understand it, the position of Big Business was that nothing should be done to frighten the delicate sensitiveness of business because it would destroy the great prosperity that was sweeping the nation and threatening to become permanent.

In brief, ladies and gentlemen, the position of Big Business, in times of depression as well as in days of prosperity is not to do anything that will interfere with profits, whether the profits be based upon honest service or special advantages, given by law or taken by monopoly.

Help Stop Forest Fires

GUY A. CARDWELL, Agricultural and Industrial Agent Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co. At the time of the writing of this article the sun is obscured by a haze and the air is heavy with the smoke from forest fires raging and racing over the timbered lands of New Hanover and Brunswick Counties. As rain is badly needed conditions elsewhere in the pine-belt are no doubt similar or even worse than in this immediate section.

I wonder how long we are going to view with indifference the run of the "red demon" through the beautiful and valuable woods and continue to condone the acts of careless and vicious men who have no appreciation of values and no regard for the rights of others.

At the 24th Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Forestry Association held in Raleigh, in February last, the following resolutions were submitted by the resolutions committee, and approved and adopted by those members in attendance:

WHEREAS fire continues to be important renewable natural resource of North Carolina and

WHEREAS fire continues to be one of the greatest factors contributing to the destruction of existing forests and hindering or preventing the restocking of cut-over forests in the State and

WHEREAS the efficiency of forest fire control organization maintained by the State Department of Conservation and Development in cooperation with the Federal Government, certain counties, and private owners in the State has been very seriously impaired by the failure to provide adequate appropriations for the prevention and suppression of forest fires.

BE IT RESOLVED that the N. Carolina Forestry Association very strongly urges the General Assembly to increase the budget for forest fire prevention and suppression from the $12,000 recommended by the Budget Commission to $50,000, the amount requested by the State Department of Conservation and Development. This amount will be required to meet federal, county and other cooperative funds totaling $180,000. These cooperative funds will be greatly reduced if oil burner "washed" the desirable tar, gum and carbon-forming materials and the introduction of two new steps to the procedure, separating the dissolved and separated from the oil.

Never before, engineers say, has such exact control of refining been possible. They say that the Multi-sol Process is well adapted to quantity production, thereby assuring a constant, sufficient supply of Gulfube at service stations to meet public demand from Maine to Texas. At Philadelphia a complete new Multisolv process refining plant has been completed to apply the revolutionary process.

It is stated that the process is more thorough, and more selective since it enables the refiner to remove the unwanted ingredients without touching those desirable to be retained. Multi-sol Process Gulfube gives more mileage. It results in less carbon deposit. It provides easier and quicker starting at low temperatures, and superior lubrication under all conditions.

May Move Church And Use As Part Of School Equipment

Faison school committee are working on a proposition to have the old Presbyterian Church in that community removed to the school campus and put into condition to house the home economics department and the agricultural department.

Mrs. Spicer is sending a man to Faison to look over the situation and has lead the citizens there to believe that they may expect help from her office.

C. M. Schwab backs optimism with a $21,000,000 expenditure.
