

The Duplin Offers Three Outstanding Shows On Next Week Bill; Bing Crosby Is Featured

Everyone who goes to the movies—and everyone does—knows that James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Frank McHugh would make any picture interesting.

Their work in "Here Comes the Navy" and "Devil Dogs of the Air" established them as a trio, after each had reached a high place among screen luminaries as individual stars.

When they are given a real vehicle, such as "The Irish in Us" which has its local premiere at the Duplin Theatre Monday, they rise to even new heights.

Don't, however, attempt to compare James Cagney, the "G Man," with the James Cagney who manages broken down puns and annoy his serious minded brothers, O'Brien and McHugh, by his refusal to take a steady job or keep away from Pat's girl.

The star's rare talent is again demonstrated by his ability to portray so naturally such utterly different roles.

"G Men" was sheer melodrama. "The Irish in Us," as the name would indicate, is a comedy drama. It has thrills enough, and action aplenty, including a prize fight that is said to be the longest and most fiercely fought ring battle in history, having taken 145 days to film although it occupies but 15 minutes on the screen.

Warner Bros. have given these stars a story that revolves around the lives of members of a New York family having its roots in Ireland.

Because it is a picture of Irish life in New York, it jumps from tears to laughter, from bitter family brawls to evidences of brotherly love, from romance to drama, from thrilling action to robust humor.

With the support of World Peaceways and their gigantic advertising campaign, Francis Lederer's plan for ending all war will soon be familiar to innumerable people besides the 100,000 already enrolled in the star's World Peace Federation.

Ever since his arrival in Hollywood, less than two years ago, Lederer has been devoting all his energies and the larger part of his earnings to his ingenious plan for bringing world peace. Over 100,000 people responded by enrolling in his World Peace Federation and now World Peaceways is adopting Lederer's proposals in their campaign.

Announcement of this move came during the production of Lederer's new picture, "The Gay Deception" which comes Wednesday to the Duplin Theatre, and following the return of Emil Berberich, secretary of Lederer's organization, from a trip to New York, where he arranged the final details with World Peaceways.

"The directors of World Peaceways consider my idea for ending wars as the most practical yet proposed," declared Lederer.

Under this arrangement, the pamphlets and pledge cards used by Lederer in his international crusade to outlaw war will be included in all outgoing correspondence of World Peaceways.

Lederer's new picture, which stars him with Frances Dee, gives free leash to the romantic appeal and comedy talents of the handsome Czech star.

Bright-spirited comedy, hitting love songs, and gay romance make Bing Crosby's "Two for Tonight," which opens at the Duplin Theatre Thursday, one grand hour of fun and entertainment, topped by a supporting cast of skillful, but none the less hilarious, comedians, headed by the buoyant inimitable of Mary Boland and the droll humor of Lynne Overman.

Prepare yourself for gales of rib-tickling laughter in Bing's newest laugh riot which provides the crooner with plenty of opportunity to indulge his flair as an ace singer and master of farce.

Presenting Crosby in one mirth-provoking dilemma after another, "Two for Tonight" is a perfect vehicle for Bing's light-hearted, insouciant, personable style of acting.

The comedy centers around the humorous experiences of a struggling young singer when he is erroneously taken for a playwright. Bing is one of three brothers, sons of Mary Boland, who are evicted from their home. Secreting themselves in the garden of a renowned music publisher's home, Bing sings while the other plays the piano, unaware that the publisher is deaf as a post.

An airplane crashes, putting Bing in the hospital. Miss Boland, in her effort to collect $50,000 damages, writes the pilot that the accident has prevented her son from completing his play.

The pilot appears, in the person of Joan Bennett, secretary to a famous stage impresario, Lynne Overman. Through her, Bing and his family have an appointment with Overman who straightway assigns Bing to write a play for his star, Thelma Todd without giving him a chance to explain.

When great leaders such as Jehoiakim, king of Judah also princes under Zedekiah another King, openly showed their hate for God and this book filled with truth penned by prophets by having the writings of Jeremiah burned and he was confined in a dungeon.

idents, Kings, etc. start a movement of this kind they are likely to have many followers, and so it was at that time, for how they sprang up, ignorance and superstition swinging heavily over every one, they rallied to the King and tried to overthrow the great tide of reformation. They tried to destroy God's word, but it would not be destroyed, and later we had others more enlightened or it would seem that they should have been to try and literally do away with every bible and every scripture that had been written.

It came about in St. Pauls Cross in England, 1627 when it was ordered that a great bonfire of bibles be made. Just a little later another bonfire burning a second edition, collecting every bible that could be found, having all homes searched until they thought every copy destroyed. They were so enraged that in A. D. 1428 forty three years after he had died, they actually dug up the bones of John Wycliff and had them burned.

Just as the tide changes, just as one great Government will be succeeded by another with different ideas and make great changes, just as people grow in wisdom to day, so it was then, And where Kings had done everything possible to destroy the bible, now came new Kings and people who saw the bible in a different way, and they worked just as hard to foster and supply this great book. It was by order printed in English, a copy was chained to every parish desk, the people rich and poor, common uneducated and educated begin to learn, it became educational, they studied, it started people thinking. Today we turn to the bible for everything, our great professors, lawyers, learned men of every kind, everything, every movement is built on or from the bible. If every copy, if every word of the bible were literally snatched from us today, if we could not use any portion of it in any way, it would simply mean disaster of the greatest magnitude to the entire world. We simply could not do without it. Should we believe in the bible. Be ready next week—thrills ahead.

A Correction

In the article last week, boosting Mrs. James Livesay of Wallace, N. C., for Roll Call Chairman of the Duplin County Chapter of the American Red Cross for 1935-36, there were several sentences of vital importance omitted. They stated that Mrs. Norwood Boney has been both Roll Call Chairman and Worker for the Junior Membership for several years but that it was too much for any one person to do, therefore Mrs. Livesay is relieving Mrs. Norwood Boney of the Senior Membership in order that Mrs. Norwood Boney can devote more time to the Junior Red Cross.

The little "I Serve" buttons are already here in the hands of Mrs. Norwood Boney and she is anxious for all of the Schools in Duplin County both white and colored to enroll or re-enroll (whichever the case may be) as early as possible. Mrs. Norwood Boney is vice-chairman of the Duplin County Chapter and cooperates with Mrs. J. E. Jerritt, its Chairman in every way. They are both asking for the cooperation of all school teachers in this worthy movement.

A SERIOUS GAME OF MAKE-BELIEVE—Little Rita Sandall, aged three, makes a charming "bride." Her "groom" is Julia Warren, aged six, and for a little girl makes a perfect gentleman.

BOLLED OVER BY HEAVY WHEELS AN HOUR—The camera clicked on a critical moment as "Lucky" Teter, Asheville driver, subjected the 1936 Plymouth to a dual series of hair-raising tests in Detroit. This first photo of the new Plymouth shows all four wheels off the ground as Teter rolls the car over and over. Teter drove the car away, undamaged, upon completion of the roll. A new type girder steel frame and safety-stayed body make the car to withstand such punishment.

HERE IS A MODEL OF A MODEL—This huge replica of the new type Hoffman radiator valve is built on a scale to vent a gigantic house, the site of the Empire State building.
