TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS ARE ANSWERED BY STATE COLLEGE

QUESTION: Are thin shelled or ridged eggs suitable for hatching?

ANSWER: No. Such eggs do not hatch well. Select for hatching only those eggs that are clean, fresh, well-formed, of good shell texture, and weighing 24 ounces to the dozen. Inspect carefully all eggs selected for hatching purposes and set aside all those that are round, small, short, or those that have enlarged ends, as such eggs will not develop a normal, hatchable embryo.

QUESTION: How can I go about developing a Ginseng bed in N. Carolina?

ANSWER: No experimental work has been done in the State with this plant, but a bulletin on "The Cultivation of American Ginseng" has been issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., and copies may be secured by writing this address and requesting Farmers Bulletin No. 551. The environmental demands of the plant are difficult to control and the possibility of losses is great as it takes from five to seven years to produce high grade roots.

QUESTION: Is it possible for an individual farmer to make an analysis of his soil?

ANSWER: This is, of course, possible, where the grower has the proper training, but even with this cost would be prohibitive. The Department of Agronomy at State College will make this analysis free for citizens of North Carolina provided the samples are drawn as prescribed. Full instructions for taking the soil sample and mailing instructions will be given upon application to the Department of Agronomy, N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station, State College, Raleigh, N. C.

Science improved on Nature to give you the Lightning Rod and

SCIENCE IMPROVED ON NATURE TO GIVE YOU MORE NITROGEN for the MONEY THAN IN ANY OTHER "SODA"

Knowing that the reason crops need soda is for the NITROGEN, Arcadian scientists spent millions of dollars to produce a "soda" that would be richer in nitrogen than any other kind. And they did just that in Arcadian, The American Nitrate of Soda. Arcadian contains more nitrogen per ton than any other "soda." It actually gives you extra nitrogen at no extra cost. Insist on Arcadian when you buy.

FRED P. LATHAM Recommends Arcadian
Mr. Fred P. Latham, of Belhaven, N. C., one of the most successful farmers in the State and originator of the famous "Latham's Double" corn says, "I always find Arcadian Nitrate in good mechanical condition, of uniform quality, and easy to distribute. My experience has been highly satisfactory with this form of nitrate." So will YOURS. Insist on ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA.
