

First-Citizens Bank Opened in Kinston in 1934; Peterson Is Cashier

The First-Citizens Bank and Trust Company opened business in Kinston, February 4, 1934. J. E. Peterson of Smithfield, cashier of the home office of First-Citizens, opened the new Branch in Kinston and later returned to take charge as cashier. Mr. Peterson is recognized as a far sighted banker and is considered a great asset to Kinston.

First-Citizens' resources reach $17,947,300, approaching the assets of the large banks. It serves Eastern Carolina in fifteen communities. Deposits as of the last statement totalled $17,346,157.

Employees of the Kinston Branch are:

J. E. Peterson, cashier, F. O. Fitzgerald, assistant cashier, C. E. Smith, K. E. Tunstall and M. G. Wink, Jr., tellers, Mrs. Dora Cayton, book-keeper, Miss Tommy Backer, Mrs. Kathleen Stanley, stenographers, Louis Medlin, manager of collection department.

The First-Citizens is composed of Trust, Savings, Commercial, Safety deposit boxes, and Bond departments. It is equipped for complete banking service. Slogan: "Every Courtesy, Attention and Service Consistent with good Banking are the Facilities Offered by This Institution."

To Give Broadcast on 4-H Club Work

Durham County will furnish chief actors in the fourth of a series of broadcasts featuring N. Carolina 4-H club members over Radio Station WPTF, Raleigh, Saturday, March 13.

The theme of these broadcasts is "How 4-H Club Work Aids Youth in the Art of Living". L. R. Harrill, club leader at State College, opened the series of programs on January 30, using the above theme as a subject for his talk.

The next talk came February 13 when Marvin Foyles, outstanding

Stroud Drug Changes Hands

Stroud Drug Company in Kinston was purchased the first of the year from Dortch Stroud by S. T. Chadwick. Mr. Chadwick went to Kinston from New Bern where he was in the drug business for eleven years. The store will operate under the name of Stroud Drug Company and will continue the same policies it had under the former management.

club member of Lenoir County, told how club work had aided him in his work.

Four members from two of Wake County's clubs appeared on the program February 27, and described how club work had benefitted them in adjusting themselves to life.

These 4-H broadcasts are heard every other Saturday as a part of the Carolina Farm Features program. Mr. Harrill, who is arranging the programs, says that he is attempting to bring prominent club boys and girls from nearby counties to tell of their 4-H experiences.

The schedule in full for the week of March 8-13 follows: Monday, Dr. Frank Sherwood, "The Place of Wheat in the Diet"; Tuesday, Robert Schmidt, "Tomatoes for the Garden and Market"; Wednesday, M. Taylor Matthews, "Some Rural Problems"; Thursday, Miss Pauline Gordon, "Refinishing Furniture"; Friday, R. E. Greaves, "Sanitation and Care of Chicks"; and Saturday, Durham County 4-H Club Program.

ELECTRIC WASHER SIMPLIFIES YOUR WASHDAY PROBLEMS

"This is the way I wash MY clothes," sings this modern home maker, as she completes the day's washing. And when a young bride such as the one pictured, wears a smile on the proverbial "blue Monday" with which washday is identified, it bears investigation. The secret is a sensational new device in her Hotpoint Washer, called the Thriftvator, which circulates the clothes through three gentle but distinct zones of washing action. This modern Washer washes everything from daintiest garments to heaviest woollens. It is a far cry from the back-breaking toil of the old tub-and-washboard method, and the uncertainty of "sent out" washings.

Gypsy Smith In Charlotte

Gypsy Smith, Sr., began a revival in Charlotte Sunday with about 5,000 in the tabernacle to attend the service. A choir of some 250 voices are leading the singing. The meeting will run for two weeks.

Just as the minister was to begin his Charlotte series, he received a cablegram from his home across the water that his wife was dead. He said that he thought that the will of his wife would be for him to go on with the meeting. Laboring under that handicap he began with a special service Sunday afternoon with 4,000 present and that night the congregation had increased to 5,000.

Revival To Begin At Pink Hill

An Old Time Revival will begin at the Pink Hill Presbyterian Church next Sunday evening at 7:00 with the pastor, Rev. W. H.

Robb has had great experience in evangelistic work, having spent some time with Billy Sunday in his campaigns, and we are looking forward to a great meeting. Special musical numbers will be featured in many of the services with representatives from Kannansville and Kinston helping with the singing. Every one in and around Pink Hill will want to attend all these services. You are most cordially invited.

Mrs. J. D. Robinson Comments On Senator McKee

Senator E. L. McKee, the only woman in N. C. to serve in the State senate is not only a very good looking woman but a very brilliant person. If I may be allowed to recapitulate a few of her outstanding qualities it would be these — First, she is one of the best advertisements that western down to earth women are advertisements and advertisements but she is a walking advertisement on no uncertain terms from "them thar hills". Being the only woman in the senate, Mrs. McKee naturally occupies a very conspicuous position. By fulfilling her duties in such an admirable way, her services have been more conspicuous.

The Wilmington Star-News has this to say of Mrs. McKee—"She is showing real ability in her understanding and handling of legislative problems. She is being highly commended for the manner in which she handled the hearings on the old age pensions in the committee on Public Welfare, of which she is chairman".

In paying our woman senator such a compliment as a public servant, it is in turn a compliment to North Carolina womanhood. The women in this state are indeed proud of such an outstanding member of their sex and the members of the N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs are especially proud of her as she is an Ex-President.
