Berry Growers Urged to Use 24-Quart Crate and Watch Pack

TO THE STRAWBERRY GROWERS OF DUPLIN COUNTY:

The first requirement for grading and packing good quality berries is to produce quality fruit. When this is done, our grading, and packing problems are greatly reduced.

It has been proved that the introduction of the 24-qt. crate in the Chadbourne area last season was a great step forward in helping solve the marketing problem.

First, with the introduction of the 24 quart crate in this section the growers have an opportunity of making a good name in the markets for their fruit. It has been suggested that growers having 32-qt crates left from last season, use them as early as possible in the beginning of the season, in order to establish the 24-quart crate as the standard crate for this section.

There has been considerable complaint in the market in the past on the quality of North Carolina berries as compared to berries of other sections, thereby resulting in lower prices to North Carolina growers.

Here are a few things all the growers can do to improve their pack:

- 1: If grower is at packing shed or cannot be in field, have a competent foreman to stay in the field with the pickers. This extra expense will be paid with the difference in prices on just a few crates of berries.
- 2: Pick berries often enough to eliminate over ripe berries. The right stage of ripeness is 3-4 to full red, but do not pick green berries. Green berries always sell for considerably less.

Have enough competent packers to insure an attractive pack. By a competent packer is meant one who knows quality berries and will take time and interest enough to throw out any out-fruit and make each cup attractive.

4: Face each quart in the crate. By this is meant to place top berries in each cup attractively, but not put all good quality berries on top and poor quality berries in bottom cups. This has been practiced to some extent in the past, often in demeriting the market. Bottom cups of the crate should be just as attractive as top cups for consumer to continue to buy your berries.

5: Every grower should feel proud enough of his berries to either write or stamp (preferably stamp) his name and address on every crate. Two or three quarts of berries will pay for a stamp that will last for several seasons.

As stated before, with the introduction of 24-qt. crates in this area, growers have a wonderful opportunity of convincing the trade that they are still in the strawberry business.

Wake up, strawberry growers of Duplin! You have the best opportunity in several years to make a reputation for quality berries. You now boast of the largest berry market in the world—why not market, or markets, of the world? boast of the quality strawberry

Yours very truly,
G. E. JONES,
Asst. County Agent.

Fire Destroys The Willard School

The elementary school building at Willard, a frame affair, burned to the ground Friday afternoon of last week, at about 5 o'clock. Two classes had been dismissed for the day and no one was injured.

Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined. Flames were noticed about the chimney, but one student was quoted as saying he had seen fire running along a live electric wire leading to the building prior to the outbreak of the blaze.

The school, which contained class rooms for students from the first to the seventh grades, served Willard and the surrounding territory.

Classes will be held in the church building at Willard until the school closes Tuesday for the term.

Plans have not been made for the rebuilding of the school yet, and it is thought the school that is planned for Fenderlee, Reestablishment Homestead project, near Willard, may be designed to care for the students which have been attending grade school here.

Efforts of a bucket brigade to save the structure were unavailing and the fire engine of Wallace which raced to the scene, arrived only after the building had been destroyed.

total of $31,861.00. Of this amount well over 50 per cent has gone into the coffers of Duplin County farmers.

Some of the larger packing houses bidding on the Warsaw market are Kingan and Company, Swift and Company, Armour and Cahaly.

Farmers are urged by County Agent Reynolds to take their surplus hogs to Warsaw next Tuesday and turn them into ready cash.

Blue Mold is attacking tobacco plant beds throughout Wilcox County, in some cases the small plants have been killed 100 per cent.

214 Senior Graduate From The 10 Duplin County High Schools

Friday will end the trek of young high school graduates marching up to receive their reward for eleven years faithful work in laying the foundation for living and for higher education. The ten high schools in Duplin County will have closed and 214 will have received their diplomas of graduation.

Rose Hill and Magnolia were first to close, bringing their year to an end last week. The twenty-three graduates at Rose Hill heard State Superintendent of Schools, Clyde Erwin deliver the graduating address while 14 of the young graduates at Magnolia listened to Dr. T. E. Brown state director of vocational education.

Tuesday of this week, Kenansville, Wallace, and B. F. Grady ended their terms. Dr. J. Henry Highsmith spoke to 48 graduates at Wallace while Prof. Herbert Rebarber of E. C. T. C., spoke at the Kenansville closing, as 10 graduates received their diplomas. The 22 seniors at Grady did not have a speaker, but gave a program of their own.

Friday will see 25 seniors at Calypso closing their school journey with a program similar to the one of B. F. Grady. D. L. Jones will speak to the 11 Faison graduates; John A. Oakes to 27 at Warsaw; E. C. Hollar will talk to 14 at Beaufort. Chingapin will graduate 26 seniors Friday. We have been unable to learn who the Chingapin speaker will be.

One of the high lights of the Warsaw school commencement is to be a boxing match and dance featuring the dedication of their new gymnasium tonight. The gym was recently completed and is the largest in the county.

Warsaw Hog Market Brings In Nearly 32 Thousand Dollars

Duplin County farmers together with a few farmers from Hampshire, will make their fourth shipment of hogs from Warsaw next Tuesday when a cooperative market will be held. It is expected that six cars of hogs will go north and south from the Duplin market. The market system was begun in February and has resulted in raising the price of meat for our farmers. To date eleven cars have been shipped, representing farmers who have only a few hogs to market and 6 cars from a few big raisers who ship in large quantities. Assuming that six cars will be shipped Tuesday, the total to last week, these markets will have received 22 cars for a
