They are from the pen of John Galsworthy. Rose Frankland and William Brown Meloney, with additional dialogue by David Haris.

Merle Oberon has her greatest role to date as Lady Helen Drummond, the lovely English girl who accompanies her father Lord Albligh, an emissary of Parliament. Aherne is seen as Dennis Jordan, the daring, dashing young Irishman, who is the secret leader of the revolt and whom all the strategy of the British has failed to trap.

There's an old saying about home being the abode of love. But there can be such a thing as too much love—and "Clarence," the hilarious comedy of family life by Booth Tarkington, which shows at the Duplin Theatre Tuesday proves it.

Almost everybody in the Wheeler family whose concerns are chronicled in "Clarence," is in love, with the wrong person, and as a result Eugene Pallette, the father of the madcap family, is slowly going nuts.

His daughter, lovely Eleanore Whitney, is in love with a fat bald-headed fortune hunter. His son, Johnny Downs, is in love with his sister's companion, Charlotte Wynters, who is old enough to be, well, his big sister.

The butler is in love with the maid, but he thinks Johnny is also in love with her, and Spring Byington, Pallette's wife, is convinced that her husband is in love with Miss Wynters.

Into this scene comes Roscoe Karns, as "Clarence" and everybody falls in love with him! And he falls in love too in a way that works out the scrambled affairs of all concerned to everybody's satisfaction and keeps Pallette from going to the bug house.
