"You say you've worn that hat for years?"
"Yes, sir, and it looks all right still. Twice I've had it cleaned, and once I exchanged it for a replacement for one that was almost new."
GIDDAP, HORSE

"I like a man with some go to him, don't you?"
"Yes, if he takes me along."
OLD GOSSIPERS

"Was it a love match?"
"Looks like it, but you never can tell. One of them may have thought the other had money."
SEEMS TO LIKE IT

"I'm thinking of connecting myself with a club."
"Don't your old man connect you with enough clubs to satisfy you, my dear?"
OUT OF THE GAME

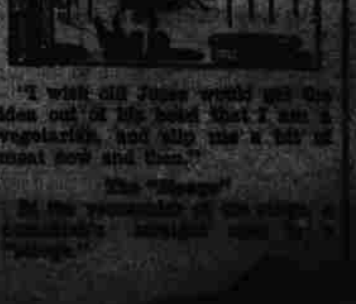

"That new dance hall won't succeed!"
"Why not?"
"Not one of the amusements is banned by law."
RIGHTEARROWS

First Mouse—I'm very fond of Dickens!
Second Mouse—I find encyclopedias more to my taste!
GOOD NAME FOR HILLY

"Hal! Hal! I guess I might sell myself a two-dollar bill!"
FOUR SIDE DISH

"I wish all those would get the man out of his head that I am a vegetarian, and stop me a bit of meat now and then."
The "Vegetarian"
is the responsibility of the man...

WHERE DO WE GO NOW?

I will recall my first impressions of the English and Danish countryside; the beauty and variety of the landscape, the lovely flower gardens, well cared for shrubs and vines in orderly and attractive array, decorated and made beautiful what would otherwise have been humble and ordinary homes. Such loveliness is unforgetable; it calls to us to come again.

I believe it would bring practical results as well as deep satisfaction if a movement could be started, and carried through, having for its purpose the improvement and beautification of North Carolina homes and their surroundings, especially the farm homes bordering on the railroads and highways. The planting of small grains and winter legumes on all available acres—a blanket of green—would make a vast change in the appearance of the country in winter.

I was much impressed by an article by a Nebraska woman published several years ago in an agricultural journal, the name of which I have forgotten. I made a record of the article, and I am giving it to you as I think the thoughts conveyed therein could be used to advantage in preparing North Carolina and other Southern States to receive the thousands of visitors who now make an annual trek by train and by motor from the North and West to the South. The article referred to follows:

"The home ground improvement idea is fast taking hold in

There are many people who venture South for the first time thrilled by impressions they have received from song and story telling of the mysterious and altogether lovely Southern country. But this is only one of the traveler's disappointments. Unpainted, unvarnished houses, ramshackle fences with gates on the hinges, broken down sheds, and the absence of flowers and shrubs and well conditioned lawns add to his disappointment.
