Behind the release of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pioture, "Sarstogs," which opens Monday at the New Wanoon Theatre with Clark Gable and Jean Harlow in the starring roles, lies one of the most unusual technical tasks ever attempted in a Hollywood studie. When the flood of letters began pouring into the studio demanding release of this picture, Director Jack Conway was faced with a problem of devising the few uncompleted scenes without the feminine star.

when the flood of letters began pouring into the studio demanding release of this picture. Director Jack Conway was faced with a problem of devising the few uncompleted scenes without the feminine star.

The solution lay in rewriting these sequences to eliminate as far as possible the character she played; reediting scenes already filmed to conform with the new treatment and the use of several tech-ment and the use of several tech-nical devices.

Fortunately, the ending of the photure with Miss Harlow and Clark Gable had already been filmed. Miss Harlow was in all the scenes up to next to last reel of the production. A double was used in the few rewriten scenes, but her appearances were minimised. In these instances, only "long shots" were made, the double appearing with her back to the camera. In no place is her face seen. Other de-

The Wilson tobacco market, known as the "greatest tobacco market in the world," outdid itself Tuesday with the largest sales for a single day recorded in the history of the market, according to a statement issued by the Tobacco Board of Trade there.

The warehouse floors accommodated 1,027,847 pounds of tobacco, which sold at an average of $24.45 per hundred pounds.

Warehousemen stated that in spite of the great sales, only a small block of tobacco was held over for the following day's sales, due to efficiency in handling, and the enormous floor space to be found on the market.
