Activities Pleasing On Wilson's Tobacco Market

WILSON.—Activities were very pleasing on the Wilson tobacco

Italy Launches Biggest Battleship

Thousands cheered and waved their hats as this sleek monster slid down the ways at Trieste, marking a red-letter day in Italian naval history. The battleship is the Vittorio Veneto (35,000 tons), the largest of Italy's sea-warriors and one of the largest in the world.

market for the past week and all tobacco farmers received more money by selling on this huge tobacco center.

As sales got underway last Monday several thousand farmers representing every tobacco growing county in eastern had deposited hundreds of thousands of pounds of tobacco on Wilson's nine warehouse floors. The first few hours of selling brought much encouragement as the various grades took an upward trend in price. Optimism prevailed throughout the day. For the remainder of the week prices continued strong and held to the same price level as was paid on Monday.

Wilson is offering tobacco farmers at this time a market that has an unexcelled buying corps, that have heavy orders. These buyers are backed by the strongest tobacco companies, numbering ten in all, and have instructions to get tobacco. This buying personnel is really paying a higher dollar for all grades of leaf.

Wilson is truly setting a pace this season, and one that would do any market proud. It is paying a higher dollar and is making more new friends this year for the length of time it has been operating than has ever before been the case. A greater quantity of long distance tobacco is being sold on the local market this year and high individual averages are being paid for this product. Wilson's long distance grade is picking up daily and farmers of three states are patronizing this market.

The Wilson tobacco market has sold this season through Thursday, Sept. 9, a total of 9,201,834 lbs. and has distributed to farmers the grand total of $1,922,189.57 at a high average price.
