The Parent-Teacher Association met at the school auditorium last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. H. Witherington in the chair. Carl Ebertson, principal of the school, conducted a short and impressive devotional, giving as the subject, "The Nineteenth Psalm." Mrs. Martha Faison addressed the audience on the great need of parents and teachers working together, using methods that build the right kind of character and make law-abiding and peace-loving citizens. When the parents stood in answer to the roll call by grades it was found that the fourth grade had the largest number of representatives. The eleventh grade received the prize of fifty cents for the high school.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon at the church with Mrs. O. L. Taylor presiding. After a short business session, Mrs. J. E. Faison, chairman of Religious Education presented the program, "Enlarging Home Horizons," in which was stressed the necessity and importance of the Christian home.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH TO WAR AGAINST SYPHILIS

Raleigh.—"Peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must" we will protect the innocent against syphilis," declared Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer. "Persons infected with this disease will not be able to evade compulsory treatment, or imprisonment, if they persist in their refusal," he continued, "simply by moving from one county to another, or from one State to another."

"I am in receipt of a letter from Virginia asking me to notify the authorities here to be on the lookout for a syphilitic from that commonwealth who left to come to North Carolina. I am contacting the health officer in the community to which he is supposed to have gone, in order that he may be located and compelled to continue treatment, or go to jail."

"In the future when a syphilitic moves from one North Carolina county to another, the health officer will be requested to notify promptly the State Board of Health and, in turn, the health authorities in the community to which he is supposed to have gone will be notified."

"So, you see, we mean business. The only way to see this thing through is to make a thorough job of it, and with the cooperation of our coworkers, we will do just that thing. I have a letter from a health officer who requested official blanks. He has in mind a syphilitic who will be formally notified to take treatment. If he refuses, he will be put in jail and he will stay there until he becomes non-infectious and will then be treated until he is cured."

"There is law enough on the books to wage an effective campaign of eradication, if it is enforced; and so far as the State Board of Health is concerned, the provisions will be utilized to the limit. We will muster all the force available to fight this disease from now on. No one who wishes to cooperate, whether infected or not, need have any fears—but once again, 'Peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must.' That goes!"
