

Sparkman-Carlton Wedding Warsaw, Tuesday

Warsaw, Sept. 29.—The outstanding social event of the early fall season here was the garden wedding of Miss Helen H. Carlton of Warsaw and Jacksonville, to Mr. David Dixon Sparkman, of Kinston, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Carlton, Tuesday afternoon, September 28, at 5 o'clock. An aisle bordered with goldenrod led from the front door to the side lawn, where the ceremony was performed. The white satin altar, entwined with smilax, was placed before a background of pines, interspersed with growing shrubbery and ferns; on either side were tall baskets of Japanese peas, marigolds, calendulas, and Mexican sunflowers.

Professor K. G. Hurst of Goldsboro, and Mrs. Clarence Brown and Miss Nell Bowden of Warsaw, gave the musical music as follows: Violin solos, "Rosary," Hevin, and "Souvenir," Dr. J. Prof. Hurst; "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," vocal solo by Miss Bowden; "To a Wild Rose," McDowell, violin and piano, was played softly during the ceremony; wedding Marches from Wagner and Mendelssohn were used. Mesdames A. L. Cavenaugh and A. Brooks greeted guests on the front lawn and directed them to their places. Rev. B. A. Cadle, pastor of the Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. The groom entered with his brother, Charles H. Sparkman of Burgaw, as best man. The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Carlton, an only sister, attended the bride. Her afternoon dress was of hyacinth blue Alencon lace with a short-sleeved jacket; completing her costume she wore a hyacinth Panna velvet hat with a tulle brim, and silver slippers. She carried a gorgeous shower bouquet of Tulliman roses.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, D. L. Carlton. She wore a fitted model of white Alencon lace with a long-sleeved jacket; her hat was white Panna velvet with a tulle nose veil; her slippers were white satin, and she carried a huge shower bouquet of the bride's roses. The impressive ring ceremony was used.

A reception on the grounds immediately followed the wedding. Senator and Mrs. B. D. Johnson introduced to the receiving line as follows: Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Carlton, Miss Douglas Hand, of Raleigh, aunt of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Sparkman, Miss Margaret Carlton, Charles H. Sparkman, Miss Elizabeth Sparkman, Mrs. Goodwin D. Ellsworth, grandmother of the bride, and G. D. Ellsworth, Jr., both of Washington, D. C., Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Cadle, Mr. and Mrs. William Ellsworth Carlton.

Guests were served individual wedding cakes and block cream by Misses Isabelle Dunn, of Jacksonville, Mamie Chambers, Goldsboro; Margaret Craigan of Elkin; Katherine Sparkman of Burgaw, and Mesdames J. C. Thompson, L. B. Huie, J. T. Gresham, Jr., R. L. West and Glenn Rollins of Warsaw. Mrs. George D. Bennett and Miss Fannie Wilson directed to the living room where gifts were displayed. Receiving at the door were Mrs. D. E. Best and Miss Belle Bowden; in the living room, Mesdames L. J. Carlton and A. B. Debus; in the dining room, where gifts were also displayed, Mesdames John Middleton and K. E. Carlton. Presiding over the bride's book were Mesdames Gordon West and Graham Phillips. Punch was served on the side porch from two beautifully decorated punch bowls by Mesdames A. Sidney J. Williams, of Richmond, and Mrs. W. F. Walters of Warsaw; Misses Dorothy Brooks and Jennie Quinn Cavenaugh assisted. Goodbyes were said by Mrs. John Pierce and Miss Nell Bowden. Cerise and white dahlias and ferns were house decorations.

The bride, vivacious and charming daughter of D. L. Carlton, prominent attorney of Warsaw, graduated at East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, taught in the schools of Wallace and Seven Springs and for the past several years has been Home Demonstration Agent of Onslow County. The groom, son of Mrs. David Dixon Sparkman and the late David Dixon Sparkman of Burgaw, is a graduate of Duke University and Edmond School of Pharmacy, and holds a position in Kinston, where the couple will be at home after a trip to western North Carolina. The bride's going-away gown, in which she appeared perfectly charming was a black suit of tulle and crepe, with silver foxtail trimming. With this she wore a velvet halo beret, and side accessories.

On the evening preceding the marriage the wedding party was entertained at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Carlton. Supper was served buffet style and consisted of a chicken salad course.

Among the out-of-town guests who registered were: Mrs. Goodwin D. Ellsworth and Goodwin D. Ellsworth, Jr., Mrs. Livingston F. Vann, Jr. and Livingston Vann 3rd., Mesdames A. W. Wells, Chas. Taylor, all of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. A. Sidney J. Williams of Richmond, Va.; Miss Douglas Hand, Raleigh; Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Hand and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hussey of New Bern; Mesdames Harry Sutton, Ella M. Temple, Ada W. McGowan, and Miss May Swann, Kinston; Mary L. Spear, Seven Springs; Margaret Craigan, Elkin; Mrs. J. R. Gurganus, and Misses Mildred Pelletier, Laura Matthews, Evelyn Erwin, Vera Bridges, Eva Simpson, Jennie Oliver, Isabelle Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harmon, Herman Ketchum and Gus Ketchum, all of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCullen and Judge C. E. McCullen, Jr., Miss Katherine Sparkman and Messrs. Charles H. Sparkman and Poe Jenerette, all of Burgaw; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, and Mesdames E. S. Williams, D. H. Williams, Norwood Williams, D. Stokes Williams, Edward Sidney Williams, Jr., S. G. Jones, J. E. Zibelin, Lina Potter, R. M. Browder, and Misses Virginia Browder and Lillie Murphy, all of Wallace; and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Grady, Mesdames R. V. Wells, J. A. Gavins and L. A. Beasley, of Kenansville.

To BE-LIEVE or Not To BE-LIEVE

by Hugh Maxwell

WELL, here we are back again. Another week has rolled around and the Times has once more reached your loving hands. We know that you will read it from cover to cover, and that includes the fruit of your struggling columnist's brain, so here goes.

BUT before we get started it might be a good idea to give you this warning. The candid camera bug has bitten another innocent soul — your esteemed journalist. Should you hear a series of deadly clicks behind your back as you go about your work one fine day, do not be alarmed, dear reader, 'tis only I.

AND another thing, your columnist has never been accused of having too much energy when it came to work, so why shouldn't he follow journalistic custom and steal somebody else's stuff, such as this story from the News Reporter, in Whiteville? The writer of the story claimed it to be first hand, but we can't vouch for that. Anyway, he expounded on the fact that journalists have to be very careful not to misprint facts which might be labeled libel, lest they find themselves defending a libel suit. A cub reporter had been given strict warning along this line, and when he was pressed in service on a society item he wrote the following:

"A woman giving the name of Sarah Brown, who is reported to be one of the social leaders of the city and claims to reside at 123 Madison Park Avenue, is said to have given what is purported to be a reception yesterday afternoon."

"It is understood that a considerable number of so-called guests, reported to be ladies prominent in social circles, were present, and some of them are quoted as saying they enjoyed the occasion."

"It is charged that Mary Hill served the alleged refreshments and Rokonaki the supported music."

"The hostess is said to have worn a necklace of alleged pearls which she declares were given to her by her reputed husband."

THAT is a pretty good story, but something your columnist said about his lack of energy up there set him to reminiscing. He thought about all the times that he has been berated for his laziness, and of her time in operation.

For your information this weekly and once the about the year) originated in the same newspaper of the University of N. C. The faculty decided to make it a journal. The first issue was published in 1910. It is a review of current events and many political, social and economic problems, but has been separated from the paper because of a brief affair with the betrayer.
