Likely Nominee

C. L. Shaping, of Greensboro, whose name is heard frequently on the tongues of the voters of his section as a likely nominee in the Democratic primary for candidacy for United States Senator.

Shaping has a successful record as campaign manager for fellow office seekers, and would be helped in his race for the candidacy by the customary observance of east-and-west lines, which this time carries selection of a candidate back to the west.

E. I. SMITH E. I. Smith, 72 years old, of the Smith Township section, died in a hospital in Kinston Saturday night from a complication of diseases.

"Mr. Ivy," as he was known to his many friends, had suffered from paralytic strokes and general ill health for the past five years. Prostate and kidney trouble set in, and he was unable to stand the complication.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at his home near B. F. Grady School, conducted by Reverend Howard McLamb, of Pink Hill, and he was afterward interred in the family cemetery with Masonic honors.

Mr. Smith is survived by one son, John Ivy Smith, and several grandchildren. He was a member of the Pleasant Hill Lodge.

TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS ARE ANSWERED BY STATE COLLEGE

QUESTION: How long should the lights be turned on in the poultry house for best results?

ANSWER: This depends upon whether the lights are used in the morning or evening, or whether both are used. As a general rule the birds should have from 19 to 24 hours in which to feed.

QUESTION: What is the grain ration for young calves?

ANSWER: An mixture that is palatable and supplies the materials needed by the calf is satisfactory. Corn, oats, wheat bran and oil meal are good feeds.

QUESTION: Should new tobacco plant beds be selected each year?

ANSWER: Experimental work and observation shows that damage from blue mold can be substantially reduced by the selection of new beds each year or by the rotation of beds.

beds will be as good as a selection each season, but if beds are used they should be burned over or sterilized before usage.
