Need Shoes for Barefoot Children at Crossnore

Dear Friend: "Please, may we wear shoes today?" is the pleading query these frosty mornings in the dormitories for little boys and girls, and the it tears their hearts, the housemothers have to shake their heads and say, "No, not yet." There aren't enough shoes to go around, and the ones they have must be saved for wet weather and the harsher cold of winter. But, Oh, it hurts, to see those little feet all blue with the chill. Have you any shoes you could spare us? Summer shoes, winter shoes, sport shoes, dress shoes, it doesn't matter, just so long as we get something to cover those active little feet. (And there are a lot of larger feet that are beginning to work through the shoes that try to cover them now, and a good many more that haven't any covering at all, both in the dormitories and among the people who come to the Old Clothes Sale.)

Uncle Gilmer and Aunt Pop, who have run the sale for 23 years, came to see me this week and I asked them "What do we need?" "Everything." "But what do we need most of all?" "Clothing for men and boys and shoes for everyone." So there it is again, shoes, shoes, shoes, and anything else our friends will send us—or bring us. The hills are painted with red and gold at this season, and we welcome everyone who will come up and see what we are doing.

Gratefully yours, MARY M. SLOOP, Bus. Mgr. Parcel Post, Crossnore, N. C. Freight and Express, Ashford, N. C. Route, North Carolina 194.

Jones County 4-H club boys, planning to grow corn next season, have planted more than 30 acres of winter legumes as cover crops for the acres to be seeded to corn.

TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS ARE ANSWERED BY STATE COLLEGE

Thoughts

QUESTION: How can I keep my black walnuts after they are harvested?

ANSWER: The nuts should be gathered as soon as they fall from the trees and the hull taken off as it begins to turn dark. Never let the hulls dry hard on the walnuts. After they are hulled the nuts should be dried in the sun for not less than ten days. They should then be stored in a dry place where air can circulate among them. Be sure that the nuts are not stored close to any kind of oil, grease, or kerosene. Walnuts that are properly handled and cared for will keep indefinitely.

QUESTION: Can ground Pea hay or ground Soybean hay be used in place of Alfalfa leaf meal in poultry mash?

ANSWER: While little investigational work has been done on this subject, it is generally understood that the high fiber content of these hays would make them undesirable as poultry feeds. Records do not show any milling concern using these hays in their mashers. Due to the small capacity and rapid digestion little, if any, fiber can be utilized by the laying hen and any mash carrying more than five percent fiber content is not recommended.

QUESTION: How can I keep skippers and other meat insects out of my cured meat?

ANSWER: Protect the meat from flies and there will be no trouble with meat insects. If the smokehouse is not screened, each piece should be wrapped separately in heavy wrapping paper, dropped in a thin cloth bag tied securely to prevent flies from coming in contact with the meat, and hung in a cool, well ventilated smokehouse or cellar. However, if the smokehouse is screened with No. 16 copper wire the meat may be allowed to hang there until used. If the meat is wrapped be sure that this is done as soon as it is smoked to taste and before the flies come in contact with the meat.

Winter Weather Is Good for The Soil

"Give the weather a chance to work your idle land for you this winter," said E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at State College. Fields that are plowed deeply this fall will be more exposed to freezing and thawing through the winter, which will pulverize the soil and kill harmful insects, he said.

All lespedeza sod, clover sod, and land on which no winter cover crop is growing should be plowed in November if possible, or at least in December or January. Plow the land good and deep, Blair urged, and leave the surface rough until it is harrowed next spring.

Rough plowed land, he pointed out, will get greater benefits from the freezing and thawing, and will also accumulate moisture that will be helpful to spring crops.

There will be very little erosion on fields that are plowed deep in the fall and left with a rough surface, especially if the furrows run along the contours.

Such furrows will act as miniature terraces to hold the water until it is soaked up by the soil. And the more water there is in the soil near the surface, the more effective will be the freezing action in pulverizing the earth and making it loose and porous.

Ralph Summey of Dallas, Gaston County, has applied 25 tons of limestone to eight acres of permanent pasture and three acres of alfalfa, and the Fairview Dairy farm of Union Road will use 25 tons on 10 acres of pasture and six acres of lespedeza.

Thirty-five Hereford breeders from six counties attended a meeting on the R. G. Shipley farm near Vilas in Watauga County, last week.

Orange County farmers ordered two additional cars of limestone last week and the county agent reports a decided increase in the use of lime, the seeding of winter cover crops, and the planting of permanent pastures.

The Rotary Club of Durham donated $42.50 in prize money to club members who exhibited their animals at the 4-H dairy club show held at the Oak Grove school. A barbeque supper was served.

Hardwood ashes promote the growth of Lespedeza, finds Roy Tritt of East LaPorte, Jackson County, who scattered the ashes on four acres and left them off one. A 50 percent better growth was secured where the ashes were applied, he said.

Peanut Hay Is Good Roughage For Stock

Peanut hay is a valuable roughage for cattle and work stock, and pigs can utilize the gleanings left in the field after harvesting, said Prof. Earl R. Hostetler, head of animal husbandry research at State College.

Peanuts can be "hogged off," he added, but whether this is advisable depends upon the number of pounds of pork that can be produced from an acre of peanuts in comparison with other crops that can be grown on the same land.

But the price of peanuts is usually too high to justify feeding the harvested nuts to livestock, Professor Hostetler pointed out.

Even with low prices, the cost of shelled peanuts per pound is greater than the cost of corn or other feeds usually fed to livestock.

A given amount of shelled peanuts will produce more gain in weight in pigs than the same amount of any of the other common feeds, he admitted, but indiscriminate feeding of peanuts will produce soft and oily pork that is undesirable.

When hogs are shipped to market, deduction are made from the price of those animals which are found to be soft and oily from eating too many peanuts.

If the peanuts are fed to pigs under 100 pounds in weight, and then if the ration is changed to a corn, fish meal, and cottonseed meal ration after the animals attain a weight of 100 pounds, the meat will usually be firm by the time the porkers are ready for market, the professor stated.

NEWSPAPER

Merry Hill—For the first time in the history of the school, Principal J. A. Williams says, Merry Hill School is publishing a student paper. The name of the publication is the "Merry Hill Torch Light" and probably five more issues will be published this year with the next one to come out about December 15. The paper is printed on a duplicating machine.

Eocene Sharks' Teeth Kinston.—A spring near Richlands has "spouted" sharks' teeth, according to a report from that town today. The spring is on the farm of Mrs. Norman Cartmel. The fish lived in the Eocene age and differed, according to Geologists, from the sharks of today. An estimated 58,000,000 years ago the sea covered the area. The report quoted Mrs. Cartmel as saying the bubbling spring was continually throwing up the black teeth "in great profusion."

Halifax farmers in the vicinity of Scotland Neck are showing a revival of interest in beef cattle production and several are buying pure bred beef sires.
