CHOCOLATE

We began to think we were going to have the "old mother earth" all dressed in her lovely garment of white, last Thursday when the large snow flakes began to fall, but it melted almost as fast as it fell.
Hugh Maxwell and sister, Rose and Violet, and cousin, Victoria Gooding made a trip to Kinston Sunday afternoon. Hugh assists in announcing the children's program each Sunday afternoon. Tune in on your radio and listen at 1-30.
Christmas is just around the corner, and we are hoping that each and every one may enjoy the holidays and celebrate them in the right way, and think of those less fortunate than ourselves.
Charlie and Albert Johnson visited their father, Joe Johnson, at the home of J. C. Maxwell, during the Thanksgiving holidays. They were accompanied back by their father and sister, Miss Louise Johnson, Mr. Johnson and Albert going to Washington, D. C., where Albert lives at present. Louise with her brother Charlie, who is a sailor, went to Portsmouth, Va., where their ship was anchored. Louise enjoyed a big turkey dinner on the ship, then went on to Washington, D. C., and joined her father. Charlie was sailing for California in a day or two.

We are delighted to know that R. G. Maxwell, affectionately called "Uncle Bob" is able to get around on his two crutches instead of one. And we understand he got "bumps & bruises" on them. Guess he will soon be able to join the younger people in doing the "Big Apple." Oh! he is a good old sport, anyway.
Mrs. E. D. Maxwell, Mrs. W. E. Gooding and Mrs. Habel M. Holt spent Friday with their sister, Mrs. J. D. Williamson in Pink Hill, and enjoyed the "old time quilting party." Mrs. Williamson was celebrating her 53rd birthday, and we all enjoyed the "chicken and pastry" and good eats. Mrs. Emma Davis was present, and others, all enjoyed discussing the doings in the olden days, when we were all school children. We often wonder if the present generation gets as much real pleasure out of school life as we all did—those were happy days.
Miss Virginia Turner and little sister, Annie Lee, and Miss Lillian Albertson visited at the home of Mrs. W. E. Gooding Sunday afternoon.
Jessie Stanley, who is doing some work on the corn mill at Ellis Davis in Lenoir County, spent the weekend with his family here in Chocolate, and returned to his work Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gooding, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Maxwell, of Seven Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dawson, of Kinston, Mrs. Magna Outlaw, Mortimer Maxwell, of Pink Hill, and others, visited at the home of E. G. "Uncle Bob" Maxwell Wednesday. It is a real pleasure for old friends to meet.
Miss Lucile Southerland who is a student nurse at James Walker hospital in Wilmington, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her family here, and returned to her duties.
Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Simmons Sunday.

Missionary Society M. E. church, Circle No. 1 met in the home of Mrs. D. L. Carbus. Devotional was conducted by the president, Mrs. Wayne Jordan. Scripture, Luke; song, "Silent Night." "The Child in the Home at Christmas," Mrs. D. L. Carbus. Poem, "Mother of Jesus," Mrs. D. J. Middleton. Song, "Little Town of Bethlehem." "Christmas Customs in Foreign Countries," Mrs. Gordon Middleton. Poem, "One Star Above," a prayer, followed by business session.
The Salfie Edison Circle of the Presbyterian church met Monday in the home of Mrs. E. H. Best. The seasons colors were carried out, and the home was very attractive. Mrs. W. P. Pridden, chairman presided. Mrs. John Frederick was in charge of the worship period. Topic, "Standing By," ministerial relief, "Two Old Men," Mrs. Clyde Blackmon. "God Cares for the Aged," Mrs. Pridden. "As Thy Servant Was Busy Here and There," Mrs. D. S. Ray. Hostesses served sandwiches, waffles and hot tea.
Circle Number 3 of the Woman's Presbyterian Auxiliary was delightfully entertained by Mrs. J. W. Rest in her home on Monday afternoon. Christmas greens and a lighted tree made an attractive setting for the Christmas program.
With Mrs. Ben Bowden at the piano, all joined in the singing of many Christmas carols.
A very interesting Bible study was led by the Auxiliary President, Mrs. B. C. Sheffield.
The topic, "Standing By," was a presentation of the annual Joy Gift for Ministerial Relief, and was given by the Chairman, Mrs. L. B. Enie. Plans were made for the Christmas box sent each year by the circle to our adopted orphan at Barium Springs. Gifts from the members to the little girl are to be sent to Mrs. J. O. Robinson.
Miss Amelia Farrier was at home for the weekend. She had as her guests Miss Irene Barron, of Rock Hill, S. C. Miss Anne Bole of Whiteville, and Miss Belle Moore Sloan of Garland, all student at Peace College. P. T. A. HOLDS DECEMBER MEETING TUESDAY
The regular December meeting of the Rosehill P. T. A. was held Tuesday afternoon, December 7, in the school auditorium.
The meeting opened with the following program:
Selection of Christmas songs, Mrs. Barlett's room.
Selection of Christmas songs, Miss Whitefield's and Miss Stanley's rooms.
Reading, "Writing to Santa Claus," Bill Bonham.
Selection of songs, Miss Morris's room.
C. J. Thomas presented a well rounded discussion of the program subject, "Rural South and Farm Tenancy."
The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. R. L. Carr, the president. After the general routine of the business meeting, a resignation from Mrs. E. G. Murray, chairman of the grade representatives, was read. This resignation was accepted with regrets, but the vacancy was filled with a very capable worker, Mrs. Ward Farrier.
It was announced that Miss Carolyn Brinkley's room won the attendance prize for November; and Miss Barden's for December.
The Association voted to adjourn and meet again Tuesday afternoon, January 6, at 3:15 o'clock in the school auditorium.
