

YOUR WASHINGTON and MINE

WHAT GOD WAS PUT ASURDER

Before keeping his rendezvous with the funny denizens of the deep, President Roosevelt warned the boys in Congress to be careful, and sparing, with the Government hay, and to not forget the flamboyant yesterday, with their lamentable and mournful afterdamp. He modestly demands that the new farm setup be kept within the current half-billion dollar annual farm program expenditures. The President had been told that the need existed for a much larger sum, and a few had made so bold as to suggest a billion dollars as the amount required for saving the farmers the way farmers deserved to be saved on the eve of an approaching election. So he sent the Senate a letter in which he said:

"I feel that every effort should be made to keep the new farm program within the present limit of $500,000,000 per annum." Then, obviously in answer to those optimistic ones, and intimating that he would not oppose the use of more money, provided the boys on the Hill went out and raised the dough, President Roosevelt adds meaningly:

"I think that steps be taken to provide the necessary increase in revenues to meet any expenditures under the new farm program in excess of this."

So what? Plenty—and then some! A correspondent who, day in and day out, mingles with Congressmen en masse and inter-jects the word "collectively" may not pervade the herd. True, the President will not mix or meddle in their private political affairs, for he wants to help them. But adroitly he leads the boys up to view the unpromised land of 1938 with political whipping-posts gleaming along the beautiful landscape, and invites all to make a picnic of it, to have a good and jolly time, if they feel inclined toward recklessness, then by agile innuendo reminds them that the gleaming sunbeams, and with the onfall of the night they needs must return home by the weeping cross.

Pre-election tax levies and Congressional seeking re-election are what God has forever put asunder!

WOULD REMOVE VICE FROM VICE-PRESIDENCY

Democrats in Washington proclaim, and Republicans agree, that Mr. Garner has, by his record, achieved the impeachment of that stigma of nominality heretofore commonly imposed to the Vice-Presidency, that he has rescued it from the shadows of obscurity and brought it out into the glistering sunlight of recognition. As it relates to Mr. Garner personally, Texas Democrats and Garner admirers in other States would remove vice from the Vice-Presidency in 1940 in a glowing tribute to his illustrious fellow Texan, Senator Morris Sheppard said:

"... his service as Vice-President is a landmark in American history, in that he has taken the Vice-Presidency out of the category of merely a nominal position and made it a place of real usefulness and power. His service as Vice-President is but another step in one of the most useful and outstanding careers in our country's annals."

Said Senator Bennett Champ Clark, of Missouri: "... I can say to the Senator from Texas that the people of all other States and citizens of the United States join in the pride and admiration which the people of Texas feel for Vice-President Garner, who has restored the Vice-Presidency of the United States to the position of a great office of great prestige and influence which it was originally intended to have, and which it had in the early days of this Government."

SIXTY-FOUR PEOPLE MARRY IN DUPLIN IN NOVEMBER

During the month of November Cupid kept things intact by bringing together 64 persons for life partnership. Thirty eight of these were white and twenty-six were colored. The other counties helped us, too, for we had eight of the couples who had one or both of the parties from outside the county. Cupid seemed to be most active around the 6th of the month and again during Thanksgiving week. Perhaps it will be interesting to watch his activities during the days of happy December.

Hancock Active in Campaign Now

Honorable Frank Hancock is already carrying the fight for the United States Senate to Senator Reynolds, with an active campaign getting under way fast.

Congressman Hancock has been a member of Congress for seven years, and is depending on his record as a hard worker there to place him in the Senate. Many newspapers have already declared him their choice.

Senator Reynolds has not yet showed any worry over the opposition confronting him, and his campaign has not yet been started.

Marmalade is Good, Xmastime

"Marmalade is good for breakfast, and it has its place in the school lunch. But have you ever thought of it as a dessert?" asks Cornelius C. Morris, State College economist in food conservation.

"Spread marmalade on hot, buttered pancakes, roll them up and dust with powdered sugar. Your family will like this dessert and call for it again.

"Marmalade will help stretch the Christmas dollar. Small jars of marmalade, attractively wrapped, make good Christmas presents; they help out in planning Christmas menus."

Marmalade is easy to make, Mrs. Morris stated. The best fruits to use are oranges, grapefruits, and lemons. Select fruits on which skin is clear and free from blemishes.

(One orange, one lemon, and one grapefruit will make enough marmalade to fill six 10-ounce jars.

Cut fruit into very thin slices with a sharp knife. Resharpen knife frequently while slicing the fruits. Measure the sliced fruit, then add three times as much water.

(One orange, one lemon, and one grapefruit will make about a quart of fruit. So add three quarts of water.)

Boil fruit and water for 30 minutes, or until fruit is tender. Let stand over night, then boil again for 90 minutes. Measure the mixture and add an equal part of sugar. Then cook rapidly until the syrup begins to jelly when poured from the side of the spoon.

Let the finished marmalade cool for a minute or two, then pour into the jars. (If poured in immediately, the fruit will rise to the top.)

an important item in her diet. Good roughage not only provides nutrients in itself, but it also makes possible a more complete digestion if the grain in a cow's ration.

Are you pointed out that a pound of nutrients can be produced more cheaply in roughage than in grain. Therefore, it is considered a good feeding policy to give a cow all the roughage she will eat.

Legume hay such as alfalfa, soybeans, lespedeza, cowpeas, or clover is unquestionably the best hay for dairy cows, Arey stated. Mixed hays such as legume and grass, or legume with oats and barley are also good.

Besides hay, cows need succulent feed. Silage is recommended for winter feeding, is nutritious and has a laxative effect that helps keep the digestive tract in good order.

Where winter cover crops are available, they too make a good succulent feed.

Arey said a common rule is to feed three pounds of silage per day for each 100 pounds the cow weighs.

Silage in the ration increases a cow's capacity for digesting feed, and the more feed she can digest and convert into milk, the more profit the dairyman can make.

Says Dairy Cow Must Have Plenty of Feed

PLENTY OF FEED
With a capacity of 40 to 60 gallons in her four stomachs, the dairy cow is no sibil, said John A. Arey, extension dairy specialist at State College.

Her digestive organs function best when well filled with good feed, he continued, and that is the reason why roughage is such
