SCOUTS, BOOSTERS ERECT YULE TREE IN ROSEHILL

It was a brilliant array of multi-colored lights which greeted visitors to the downtown section of Rosehill last weekend—and every night since, according to word received here before press-time today. The ever-active Boosters club and the local Scout troops joined forces with the town officials and a local electrical contractor to prepare a large Yule tree and other decoration to add to the cheerful atmosphere of the season.

Plans are now being made for a community concert around the tree Christmas Eve, when carols will be sung and gifts will be taken to the unfortunate families of the town.

College students and sundry pedestrians returning to familiar haunts this week-end were impressed with the appearance of the old home town. According to Miss Ruth Murray, president of the Boosters Club, the town furnished the lighting equipment and the Tide Water Power Co., of Wilmington, contributed the electricity. The tree was secured by the Scouts and the wiring was done by S. K. Lockerman, local electrician.

LAW VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED DESPITE ORDERS

According to a Duplin official, a member of the Sheriff's office of Duplin County has taken steps to arrange for the offenders of the Sunday hunting law, who were caught by Game Warden Jim Smith and later released in accord with orders from Raleigh Game and Fishery headquarters, in court for trial. The same source disclosed that District Solicitor Jim Powers confirmed previous statements by Warden Jim Smith that District Game Protector Fred D. Williams instructed deputies to enforce the Sunday hunting law in the presence of Mr. Powers.

Local officials were gratified to learn that action was to be taken in the case and expressed the desire that readers should be informed of the fallacies contained in the answer given by J. D. Chalk, Commissioner of the Game and Inland Fish Division of the Department of Conservation and Development, to a recent editorial in the TIMES (the answer was printed in the NEWS AND OBSERVER on December 8th).

Warden Jim Smith has in his possession a paper citing the law mentioned, containing the following notation, "Assistant Attorney General T. W. Bruton, Raleigh, ruled this law was in effect, and was law," and the whole signed by Fred D. Williams, District Game Protector, Fayetteville, N. C. In addition to the paper Solicitor Jim Powers recalls a conversation in which Protector Williams instructed his deputies to enforce the law. If this be a mistake, we know where the blame lies.

Mr. Chalk says, "Smith was a new man and didn't know exactly what to do."

The truth is that Smith was a Deputy Game Warden for considerably more than 2 years, after which he was made a Special Protector the first day of last June. The only difference in the jobs other than the title is that while a deputy warden one receives a commission, and when called a Special Protector he is paid a salary.

Mr. Chalk says that Smith called the office to find out what to do, but Smith and others say that he had not communication with headquarters until a phone call came through instructing him to drop the case.

It has come to our attention that Smith has been subjected to some threats of losing his badge, to which we wish to answer that some official big-wigs should consult the dictionary on the definition of "boomerang."

Duplin still hasn't returned to "pork-barrel" politics.

The Dionne quintuplets are three and a half now and Santa Claus has kept pace with the years of these international idols. Since they're not babies any more, he had to perfect "grown up" toys. Hence this see-saw on which Yvonne, Cecile, Annette, Marie and Emilie play under the eyes of a watchful "mother." As last year, the world-famous quintis will be prominent in 1937 Christmas doll circles.

U. D. C. MEETING

The James Kenan Chapter of the U. D. C. held its December meeting on Thursday afternoon, December 16 at the home of Mrs. G. P. Pridden with Mrs. C. A. Womack as associate hostess.

The president, Mrs. J. W. Farrior was in the chair. The meeting opened with the ritual, led by the chaplain, Mrs. C. F. Carroll.

Mrs. N. B. Boney gave an interesting account of the soldier's Home in Raleigh, which was sent in by Miss Martha Haywood. Mrs. Charles Carroll told of the first Confederate flag that was designed by Irvin Randolph Smith and made by one of his friends, Miss Rebecca Winburn. Mrs. Carroll was formerly from Louisburg, and gave interesting things relative to Mr. Smith. The President, Mrs. J. W. Farrior, gave to each member a year book, printed on white with red letters, the U. D. C. colors, which she had compiled, and which included charter members, present members, the ritual, and date for meeting.

The home was decorated with Christmas evergreen. In one side of the room was a Christmas tree, under which were placed packages for the ladies, who live at the Confederate home at Fayetteville.

At the close of the meeting the hostess assisted by Miss Catherine Pridden served a delectable sweet course.

Friends will be glad to know Mr. Sterling Marriner will soon be up again.
