mountain, and calleth unto min whom he himself would." The call is personal. He knew what was in man. He knew who would not only give their lives in service, but also in death. Appointing these twelve apostles himself HE would be responsible for them. They would be with Him, learn from Him, preach for Him, and some day die for Him, preach for Him, and some day die for Him, and some day die for Him, prom learners, or Disciples they became Ambassadors, or Apostles.

3. The Kinship of Jesus: After choosing the twelve and preaching the Sermon on the Mount, as recorded by Matthew, Jesus returned to Capernaum. As He ministered in the house at Capernaum He described His kindred as those who do the Will of God. Beyond a doubt Jesus became so absorbed in serving that he handly had time to eat or aleep. His relatives at Nasareth heard of all this and came to get Him away, thinking He was out of His mind. They found such a multitude around Jesus that they could not so much as enter—had to send a messenger and bid Him come out that His mother, brothers and effects might talk with Him. Who is my mother, or my brethren asks Jesus Those who do the will of God. Think of this, busy farmer, here is can assurance of the Sevicer's brotherly kindness. Are you doing the will of God! Think of this har, perpleted mobbes.
