

False Rumors Are Spiked

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—Lt. Charles B. Neely, officer-in-charge of the St. said today that several false ideas had been spread during recent weeks concerning enlistment standards in the Navy, and issued a statement to clear up the misunderstanding.

"All recruits in the Navy," he said, are allowed compensation for their dependents, whether they be the recruit's wife, mother or father or all three.

"The lowest base pay of any Navy man is $50 per month. That is drawn by the apprentice seaman, who is equal to a private in the Army.

"For the man who enlists as an apprentice seaman, an allowance of $50 per month is available for his wife. Just as in any other service, $22 of that is taken from the recruit's pay, and the government adds another $28. That is true in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard."

Another misunderstanding concerned the eligibility of men about to be drafted. "A man may volunteer for the Navy up until the time of his actual induction into the army. If he is in Class 1-A even if he has just been reclassified to that group—he needs no release from his draft board.

"However, it is wise to volunteer at least three days before date of induction, so that enlistment can be completed before time of induction."

Married men are eligible for enlistment in the Naval Reserve. Also, men who have false teeth will be accepted if they are otherwise in good condition.

Lt. Neely pointed out that many men who once were rejected by the Navy now may be eligible for enlistment. "Physical requirements have been considerably modified," he said, "especially concerning eyesight and teeth."

It no longer is a prerequisite to have a high school education. Men who can think clearly and quickly, and who can read and write legibly easily can qualify for enlistment in the Navy, and enjoy the advantages which were held open for high school graduates.

Car Owners Required To Report On Tires

OWNERS CAN HAVE NO MORE THAN FIVE TIRES TO RETAIN GAS RATION BOOKS

To retain his gasoline ration books after November 22, each passenger car operator will have to certify to his rationing board that not more than five tires are owned by himself "or anyone in his household related by blood, marriage or adoption".

Information has been received from Washington on new automobile transportation listing two basic parts of the program, cutting driving of all cars to essential mileage and an intention of the government to provide all cars with gasoline and tires for their necessary trips.

Nation-wide gas control effective November 22 will allow a national yearly average mileage of 5,000 miles, which means only 2,880 miles for holders of "A" ration books. Compulsory tire inspection will be instituted to prevent abuse and increase tire life.

Gasoline tickets already issued in this area will be revoked unless the owner of the ration book complies with the ruling requiring certification of the number of tires owned by November 22. Certification blanks may be obtained from postoffices, garages and filling stations and must be mailed to the local rationing boards.

Directions were given for complying with the government's tire purchase plan to remove all but the allowed five tires from private garages, with the Railway Express Agency designated as the government's agent for collection of the tires.

"If you call the company and tell them you have tires for Uncle Sam, the express man will call for and pick them up if you live in his pick-up service area. He will give you a receipt for them and a form to fill out saying whether you wish to give the tires to the government or whether you wish to be paid for them.

"If you choose to be paid you will have a choice of receiving your money by U. S. Treasury check or in war bonds and stamps at ceiling prices set for all tires and tubes less the cost of any necessary repairs to make your tires usable. Only usable tires are wanted but difficult repairs will be undertaken if they appear to be worthwhile, otherwise you will be paid the scrap rubber price for your tire. Tires clearly beyond repair, however, should be sold directly to scrap dealers.

Passenger car owners are advised to keep their five best tires, selling the others to the government. Federal, State, local or foreign go. Tires on vehicles owned or leased by vernments are exempt from the ruling as are those on taxicabs for hire and tires on the shelves of dealers, jobbers and manufacturers."

Passenger car tubes and truck tubes and tires are wanted and will be bought by the government, but gasoline will not be withheld if they are not turned in. Expert appraisers in government warehouses will determine the value of tires turned in, necessary repair costs, and payment will be made by mail.

"Everyone will have to trust his government to pay him all the law allows."

ARMISTICE DAY

Can you remember peacetime? Can you remember the noisy joy-filled throngs that celebrated the Armistice Day that ended World War I? We're "celebrating" that Armistice today—enrolled in World War II. And this is a different war: a people's war in which every civilian wages a fight. This war is going to be a fight to the finish—of totalitarian, fascist, power-lusting. This war is going to end with a more glorious Armistice than the last—because when this war ends liberty's torch will flame brightly, and she'll hold her head high—forever. When this war ends, those responsible for war shall have learned their lesson, and paid a heavy price for it. They won't want another war—ever. That's the kind of Victory to which we pledge ourselves this Armistice Day in tribute to all who fight—and ever fought for freedom!
