MAGNOLIA NEWS

Among the Churches Of Magnolia

Sunday A. M. at the First Free Will Baptist church, pastor K. D. Brown, preached a strong temperance sermon. It was timely, reasonably, logically convincingly and Biblically presented. His text was from Isaiah 28:7. But they also have erred through wine and through strong drink are out of the way through strong drink. At the Baptist church Sunday night Pastor J. B. Sessoms delivered a great message from 2nd Chronicles 7:14: "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked way, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

The Baptist revival will begin in the Magnolia church next Sunday morning at 11:30, and will continue through the 3rd Sunday night. Services at 8 p. m., unless day services are announced later. Rev. D. M. Branch, Raleigh, Eastern Carolina Missionary of the Baptist State Board will do the preaching. Note the announcement for third Sunday. Sunday morning, will be the last evangelistic service. Dinner will be served on the church grounds. Bring a basket. In the afternoon the church dedication service will be held. Concord is the mother church of Magnolia, Kenansville and Oak Vale churches are the children of the Magnolia church. These three churches are invited to be present and participate in the service. Watch the papers next week for the program. This is annual home coming day, and it is hoped that members who are elsewhere will be with us. Make your plans to come.

The election Tuesday was the most quiet of perhaps any previous years.

If there has ever been a time when all churches need to come together in prayer on Armistice Day it is this year. No matter what other meetings are held the churches and Christians need to come together in prayer for World Peace.

Mrs. Thad Matthis of Wilmington spent Saturday with Mrs. Emma Pope. Mrs. Pope is nursing Mrs. Stokes Newkirk but came home for the week end.

Mr. Waltus Woodcock has moved his family to New Bern.

Mrs. Eble Wilson attended the Cape Fear Free Will Baptist Conference at Red Hill church near Benson last week. Rev. and Mrs. K. D. Brown of Burgaw came by and carried her.

Mrs. Lon Frederick of Warsaw is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. J. Tucker.

Mrs. Pinney and daughter, Mrs. Guthrie and Mrs. Oliver Stokes of Kenansville were in town Friday.

Haywood Merritt, of the Navy is at home for fifteen days.

Miss Margaret Edwell is visiting relatives at Harrells Store.

Week end guests of Mrs. Johnnie Pope were her granddaughter, Mrs. Katie Dail and her cousin, Miss Velma Proctor of Wilmington and Mount Olive.

EXPERTS TELL HOW TO PREPARE PELTS RIGHT

Skinning, scraping and stretching are the "3 S's" of good pelt handling! The first step (top sketch) in handling any pelt correctly is to see that the fur is clean and dry. Use lukewarm water and a clean cloth repeatedly rinsed out to remove all blood and dirt. Dry with a cloth to finish the cleaning. Some trappers also comb and brush the fur after drying.

Then, (lower sketch) with a sharp knife, cut around hind paw pads and slit up backs of the hind legs to base of the tail. This is the beginning for both "cased" and "open" handling. Skins that are "cased" are shaped on stretchers with straight sides and one end tapered to a point. "Open" pelts are stretched either square or round by tacking them on a wall or board, with fur side toward the board, exposing the flesh side to the air. Only Beaver, Badger and Raccoon pelts are handled "open." Dry skins in a cool, airy place—never by the fire or in the sun. Never use salt alum or any other preparation for curing skins. Simply shape and dry. Never cut off heads (except Rabbits). Never cut up back of pelts. Tails and legs of Muskrat, Opossum, Rabbit and Beaver should be cut off. Feet and claws should be left on Lynx, Fisher, Marten, Fox and Weasels. Leave feet on Wolves (except the claws) as almost all of the leg is used by the fur trade. Take your time and use skill in skinning heads and getting pelts loose around eyes, nose and ears. Never over-stretch. This thins the fur and makes quality look poor. Don't under-stretch. This causes wrinkles. Get the "feel" of this job and you'll get results. Don't let your knife slip. Don't tear the pelt. Do a clean, careful job. Get square effect on Badgers and Raccoons, and round effect on Beavers, by stretching—NOT by trimming!

Book Week To Be Featured Here

OUR community will participate in the nation-wide observance of Book Week, November 15-21. This annual opportunity to arouse public interest in books and reading has long had the active support of our librarians, teachers, social agencies and civic groups. Although Book Week is dedicated primarily to boys and girls, parents and others interested in young people or books will enjoy the special exhibits on display in libraries, schools and bookstores. The poster for Book Week shown above was designed for this twenty-fourth nation-wide annual observance of Book Week. This year more importantly than in the past the contribution of books to living in a world at war is emphasized. As President Roosevelt has said, "it is part of our dedication always to make them weapons of men's freedom."

The echoing boom of the big guns of the last war had just begun to dull in our memory—when World War II became reality and blasted us all out of our peaceful way of life. Now it is time to remember—those who fought and bled and died in the battles of both wars. Now it is time to realize that this is the people's war—and that to win it, so that we will be victorious on the Armistice Day yet to come, each of us must fight with all our will and love of liberty! Whatever you are doing to help win the war—you can't buy too many War Bonds and Stamps.
