The hostess served delicious refreshments of boiled ham sandwiches, pickles, peaches topped with whipped cream, cake and lemonade.

The Beulaville Presbyterian Church was the scene of an informal wedding at five o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, June 4th which united Mrs. Irene Sandlin Currie, daughter of Mrs. Lura Graham Sandlin and the late I. Mother's Work

Put mother's work away, it's finished What she began when a girl, then a bride And the crowns of motherhood o'er.

There are lots of faults and mistakes she made And many wrong things she did On this work of hers, But she paid with bitter tears she hid.

There is joy, love and pleasure And happiness you will find In this work of hers, you will treasure For she was very kind.

She cared for new born babies Her hand soothed the aching head She fed the helpless and the aged And helped to shroud the dead.

Put mother's work away gently It is finished you see And when you look at it again There will be just a fond memory. By: Mrs. Ida Morton.

The Miracle Of Modern Surgery

The story of a man who "died" twice on the operating table and came back to life after a surgeon massaged his heart was told here. Physicians said the 49-year old patient's heart and respiration stopped for 20 minutes at one time and nine at another.

The man, James W. Staneck, entered Maryland General Hospital for a hernia operation.

This is the story of what followed as told by Dr. Joseph V. Castagna:

Staneck, a printer, was given a customary pre-operative physical check-up and his heart and lungs were reported in normal condition. He was given a commonly-used anesthetic and shortly afterwards his breathing stopped, as did his heartbeat.

Dr. Castagna made an incision in the chest and began gently massaging the heart. "According to all the rules," the doctor said, "this man was dead." Twenty minutes after the heart stopped it began to respond under the massage. Then, just as signs of life returned, they began to disappear.

Nurses and doctors started filling out of the operating room, but the surgeon continued his work.

Again, the signs of life began returning. The heartbeat and respiration picked up. Staneck was placed in an oxygen tent, where he remained unconscious from Wednesday until Sunday morning and when he regained his consciousness, was able to recognize his wife and the doctor.

The State Highway Patrol force in this section underwent some changes this week. Patrolman Harton who has been in Kenansville for the past 18 months, was transferred to Goldsboro Wednesday. Harton has been very popular in Kenansville and Duplin. People regret very much to see him leave. Since coming to Kenansville he has joined the ranks of the "Benedictines". He is now married to the former Elois Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Williams of Warsaw.

Other changes in the county are: Patrolman Ear Whitaker, formerly stationed in Mt. Olive has been transferred to Warsaw but at present will continue to live in Mt. Olive.

Duplin Law To Have Three-way Radios

The Duplin County Board of Commissioners approved the purchase and installation of three-way radios for the Sheriff's Office. The approval was made on Monday, June 5th but was just announced by the Sheriff's Office today. This will enable the officers to talk from car to car and with the Highway Patrol Stations in this area as well as with the various Highway Patrol cars. These radios will unquestionably add to the efficiency of the Sheriff's Department and do much to make Duplin County a bad place for the lawless.

Warsaw Pastor Accepts Call To Angier

The Rev. G. Van Stephens, pastor of the Warsaw Baptist Church for the past eight and a half years, submitted his resignation to the local church immediately following the morning worship service Sunday. The resignation to become effective as of August 1, 1949, came as a complete surprise to many of the congregation.

Rev. Stephens and family came to Warsaw Jan. 1, 1941 from Oxford and have since won hosts of friends not only in his own church but in the entire community where he served as pastor of the Warsaw and Johnson Baptist Churches. For over eight years he has served the people well and meant much to both Churches. He has been active in Eastern Association, having served several years as Moderator and numerous other offices as well as holding several State Baptist offices. His leaving will indeed be a great loss to the community.

Mrs. Stephens likewise has been active in every phase of religious work in her church, town, community and state. Her activities and interests have won the love and admiration of her Sunday School Class, Missionary Circles, young people's work and choir work.

It is indeed with deep regret that Warsaw loses the untiring services of those two loved people; but Warsaw's loss will be the gain of Angier, where he has accepted a call as pastor of the Angier Baptist Church.

Conservation Farming

By G. V. PENNEY Soil Conservation Service

Farm ponds are playing an important role in a complete plan for improved land in connection with conservation and soil conservation and in many instances have sprung up in recent years. Why this sudden interest?

First and foremost, there has been devised a method to raise pan-sized fish. This method is scientific and practical. By following the rules we can grow about the same number of pounds of fish on an acre as beef which could be grown from grazing. True, you can't call up the fish to the barn. There, however, lies another reason for ponds - the sport of hook-and-line fishing.

From one to two acres are enough for a family-sized pond. The pond can be placed on a low spot, too wet for usual crop production. The Soil Conservation Service will make the needed survey for the pond, such as the dam, waterline, and spillway. One requirement is that the edges be dug down so that there will be no water less than 2 feet deep within 10 feet of the shore. This is to help prevent the breeding of mosquitoes.

Ponds are fed sometimes by a spring or a very small stream, sometimes by surface drainage only. Ponds should never be located on a large stream for two reasons. First, there would be danger of the dam being washed out by a heavy rain. Second, if too much water passed into and out of the pond, the fertilizer applied would be lost.

All right. Assume we have built our pond according to specifications. Now to stock it and manage so we won't have to depend on the right time of the moon to find the fish in a cooperative mood.

The soil conservation district furnishes fingerlings for stocking. Here again it should be done properly. First, bluegill bream are put in at the rate of 1,000 per acre of water. Later, 6 months or so, bass are added, 100 to the acre. The bream have by this time grown enough so that bass won't be able to eat them all up.

Now comes the struggle for existence for the bream, and maybe for the bass too. The bream multiply at a rapid rate. The bass at as many little ones as they can, and the result is supposed to create a balance between the herbivorous bream and the carnivorous bass which with proper fertilizing of the water, makes good fishing.

Here's how the fertilizing works. Beginning in early spring, applications of a complete fertilizer are made to the water at intervals. The fertilizer stimulates the growth of microscopic life, which is called plankton. The insect life in the pond feeds on this, and the small bass and bream feed on the insects. Then the larger bass feed on the bream.

Thus the growth of fish per acre is made comparable to raising steak or lamb chops. Farm ponds are, aside from a place to grow fish, a source of water for livestock, fire protection, spraying, and provides recreation in boating and swimming. Wholesome recreation at home is calculated to make better citizens and with better places to live we may expect better people to live on our farms. The land will be better for it all.

Methodist Circuit Duplin Churches

Preaching appointments for Sunday, June 19 are: 11:00 A.M. Friendship; 8:00 P.M. Wesley. The subject will be, "Conceptions of Fatherhood." Please note the schedule of preaching appointments for the month of July and some time following: 1st Sunday - 11:15 A.M. Kenansville; 3:00 P.M. Wesley; 8:00 P.M. Friendship. 2nd Sunday - 11:15 A.M. Kenansville; 3:00 P.M. Unity; 8:00 P.M. Magnolia. 3rd Sunday - 11:00 A.M. Friendship; 8:00 P.M. Wesley. 4th Sunday - 11:00 A.M. Magnolia; 8:00 P.M. Unity. This is a slight change for the month of June for Wesley and Unity. The schedule has been arranged after consultation of the pastor with the members. This seems to be the schedule that is largely agreed upon and most workable at present. If, in our experience and working together, we find that a preaching schedule could be adopted that would better enable the pastor to serve the people, the matter can then be discussed again.

Instead of the second Sunday being Father's Day, as was said in Kenansville church last Sunday, the third Sunday in June has been set aside as the day on which to honor our Dads.

The pastor is spending his visiting hours this week in the Wesley and Friendship communities.

Two of our Kenansville members now in the hospital are progressing satisfactorily. Mr. W. M. Ingram will perhaps be able to come home at the end of this week, and Mrs. Henry Dail not long after that.

The pastor met with the Young People of Magnolia Monday night of this week. There were 19 present. It looks now as though we will have at least one young person from Magnolia and at least one from Kenansville to attend our young people's conferences.

Sheriffs Office Busy Last Week

Sheriff R. J. Jones, of Duplin County, and deputies had a busy time with liquor violators during the past week. Last Thursday they located a 350 gallon still and 11 barrels of mash on the farm of Mrs. Paul Owens, 8 miles west of Wallace. Sheriff Jones reports that this was the largest and most up-to-date still he has ever captured. The base of the still was made of brick and it was heated by two oil burners which emitted no smoke to mark its location. Mrs. Owens was unaware of the still on her farm until it was reported to be by Sheriff Jones, who was assisted in the raid by deputies C. W. Wagstaff, Perry Smith, W. O. Houston and Special deputies Lott Kornegay and Joe Sutton.

Sunday, Sheriff Jones with deputies Roscoe Daniels and Bertis Fussell, raided the home of Newwood King, Negro, in the same neighborhood and found him in possession of 1-2 gallon of non-tax paid liquor. Continuing their search to Magnolia they raided the home and premises of Ernest Bright, Negro, and arrested him in the act of serving customers and seized 1 1-2 gallons of non-tax paid liquor.

In another raid in Magnolia on Sunday, Roy Pridgen, 250 pound negro, was arrested for the fourth time at his home about thirty steps from a colored church and a small quantity of non-tax paid liquor was found. According to Sheriff Jones Pridgen's 12 year old son was found using a funnel to pour non-tax paid liquor through a knot hole in the floor from a 1-2 gallon jar. As a result of three previous arrests for liquor violations Pridgen has paid two fines and appealed a sentence of 18 months from County to Superior Court. He is now in jail charged with possession of non-tax paid liquor for the purpose of sale and disturbing religious services.
