One way to court disaster — is to be unable to enjoy a sense of humor. There are few, if any, circumstances or situations, that wouldn't be better lived with a smile or a laugh mixed up in it. Precious energy should never be wasted being tense, nervous and angry which gets the principal worries nowhere. Peace of mind is all we have and few of us really have that. Never become angry — it might cover up a minimum of intelligence!

Hope and memory is all we have — and the only time we have is NOW and it's nothing except as we use it! Easter time can mean more than ever before to the individual if we can learn to understand others who also have a cross to bear. Silent communion with God alone can give us sufficient of His strength in this Spiritual Universe of His.

Had you heard that an ordinary cold can be brought on by a fit of anger? So be careful how you blow your Top or you may be blowing your nose. Watch out when you think twice before you speak once. You might get side swiped out of the conversation, but don't let it worry you. You might be one of those problem children who hasn't figured out your parents yet.

No advice is always worthless. You know a clock that doesn't work is always right, twice a day. And we certainly can't heed all we hear, but "tis said," the more liars there are, the easier it is to find the truth. And the greatest truths — are the simplest — so are the greatest men . . . and nothing can be great which is not right. So much for all this chatter.

Mrs. Eula Sanderson and Mrs. A. F. Gatlin spent last Friday in Wilmington where Mrs. Sanderson attended the Home Demonstration Club hut at Sunset Park with her many friends and acquaintances and also where she was a former president of the Club. She was warmly received and she enjoyed the day very much. Mrs.

Gatlin shopped around and visited her sister, Mrs. Marvin Beal, who is again spending the week end with her at her home here, where both the girls are working like Beavers, in a pine forest painting the home of Mrs. Milloy and doing other chores.

The cutest little birthday party was given Friday afternoon March 28th, 3 p.m. for little Mary Lane Southerland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Southerland you ever did see. The party took place at the home of Mrs. Wayne Southerland where the dining room table was covered with a beautiful skillfully made lace cloth, covered with lovely decorated birthday fixtures to fit the occasion.

Those attending were as follows, Sandra Lee, and Mary Jo Bryan, Emory Sholar, Dean Bryan, Eniline Futrell, Myra Lanier, Nell and Billy Pickett, Mary Linda Raynor, James Vernon Jones, Marie Lanier, Annette and Emily Sloan, Walter Miller, Joyce Ann James, Lowell Sloan, Kay Sanderson, Phillip Ray Pickett, Joan Lanier, Janice McReady, Cecil Lanier, Lowanda and Lona Padrick, Harry Milton Southerland, James Marshall Padrick, Ronald Lonier, Sheila Mobley, Terry Brown, Ozellie Mobley, Bruce Fountain, Tony Lanier and Harrell Gene Sholar.

Mrs. Martha Sloan has been spending several days at Cedar Fork at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brinson, where she can't help enjoying herself with her old friends. Mrs. Sloan who is around 84 years young looks and feels better than she has in months.

Mrs. Mary Stevens of Catherine Lake, has been spending some time with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billie Brinkley.

Mrs. H. L. Dall who has been ill for several months was entered into a Kinston Hospital last week and it's hoped she will soon be recovered and back home.

Words just cannot express the sentiments and awakening of the week's revival held here last week by the Rev. Dr. Poston of Wallace.

A large crowd of candidates joined for baptism, special music was heard during the week, and people came from miles around and from the Baptist communities and the house was packed to capacity most every night. A good week has gone by but much has been learned, for a person with any religion is like a flower a perfume.

Mrs. Guy Rhodes and son, Cecil, of Richlands spent some time Sunday with Mrs. Eula Sanderson on their way to Lumberton to visit her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Shaw Thursday.

On Okinawa, PFC Melvin E. Pate of Warsaw has been congratulated by the assistant adjutant of the 25th Infantry Regiment on being selected Soldier of the Week. Pate, a member of the regiment's Company A, was cited for courtesy, neatness and for being "outstanding as a model soldier."

Solvent extraction of cottonseed has been substantially improved and the quality of the oil produced has been materially increased by engineering studies made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at its Southern Regional Research Laboratory.

Many farmers, especially those with larger operations, have been quick to switch to delivery of

SPECIAL
 In appreciation to the week's revival here last week conducted by the Rev. Dr. Poston of the Baptist Church of Wallace which closed Sunday night I wish to say that God is proud of the Soul reaching messages he brought to the people of Chinquapin and surrounding communities and the so tentatively and anxiously listened and understood the plan of Salvation God meant for us to know and how to be saved by the Grace of God by Faith, much better.

Dr. Poston who was given the key to the city by the Rev. N. E. Gresham and the housewives cooked and served him, too good and too much food, he says—and he also stepped on some of our toes at times, but we crossed our feet and listened even more determined to try to live better life and more closely with God. No one who heard him last Sunday night and didn't feel the Spirit of God in his heart needs to do a lot of thinking and praying. The church was filled to capacity with Soul hungry people who love and are conscious of God or they wouldn't have been there.

Chinquapin will long remember last week and Dr. Poston's words of God, and realize how fortunate the people of Wallace are that God has called a man like Dr. Poston to serve them. The conviction of his own Salvation and being saved himself is so beautiful and an inspiration to all that heard him.

"The church, the people of the whole community who know him felt a prayer for him in his operation and they hope him a successful recovery in his throat ailment. His conviction when put to sleep—if he should never awaken—he would go to heaven, is a sweet thought. I myself can share that gift of God, when I was put to sleep for a forty minute operation several years ago in a New York Hospital. I want to sleep with God in my heart, happy, but went into "shock" and had to be awakened nine hours later. I was convinced if I never woke up again I was happy with God. I too joined the church at 15 — but never knew God until I realized my son
