QUESTION BOX

Q—What kind of shingles should be used on a roof with a very steep pitch?

A—All styles of asphalt shingles are suitable for a roof with a rise of 4 inches or more to each horizontal foot. Strip and individual asphalt shingles are made in a variety of shapes and colors. The variety of shapes enables the home-owner to pick out the pattern that will add most to the attractiveness of his dwelling. Attractiveness can also be increased by judicious choice from among the many solid and blended colors available.

Q—What makes a plaster ceiling fall?

A—Plaster falls because it gets wet. Water softens plaster, and soft plaster loses its grip on the lath. The water can come from a leaking roof or a leaking pipe. Because water can work its way unseen through the walls, its source is often far from where it appears.

Q—What is the best way to repair the crack where a concrete basement floor has pulled away from the wall?

A—Widen the crack to form a wedge-shaped groove. Pack the groove with a stiff mortar made of one part cement and three parts sand.

Q—How can a crack in cast iron be repaired?

A—With iron cement, which is sold in hardware stores. This comes as a powder and is mixed with water to form a thick paste.

KILLING CARPET MOTHS

A way to destroy moths in a carpet is to lay a wet cloth on the carpet, then rub a hot iron over it.

Inadequate Wiring May Cause Trouble

Having trouble with electricity on your farm? If so, chances are the fault can be traced to inadequate wiring.

Edwin S. Coates, agricultural engineering specialist for State College Extension Service, says Tar Heel farmers are using more electricity than ever before to reduce hand labor and speed up chores. But old, inadequate wiring is still slowing up the job electricity does on many farms.

A good way to check on wiring is to ask yourself these questions: Do lights dim when refrigerator, pump, heating, and other types of motors turn on?

Does radio volume decrease when other appliances switch on?

Do motors in the barn operate poorly when the electric stove or other large household electric equipment is on?

Do electric motors on the farm stall easily or get hot fast?

Most of these troubles, says Coates, are caused by wires that are too long or too small. Such wires increase resistance and slow up electricity. Studies show that extra costs of from 8 to 10 per cent can be charged to farmstead wires that are too small and too long.

of Agriculture and the North Carolina Experiment Station and released to growers last December, is showing up well in its performance this season, according to horticultural specialists at State College.
