State College Answers QUESTION. What is fire blight, and how can it be controlled?
ANSWER: Fire blight is a bacterial disease that often appears suddenly on shoots and blooms of apple and pear trees soon after bloom. It blights blooms, spurs, and twigs, results in cankers on branches and trunks, reduces set of fruit, and kills spurs, branches, and even trees. It is very widespread and severe in North Carolina this year.

A simple, practical, and fully effective control measure for fire blight has not been developed. Once the infection starts, there is no way to control it. On a long-term basis, however, the following practices will aid in control: Eliminate hold-over cankers. Cut off branches with cankers during winter, and rub off all water-sprouts during spring and summer.

Use best orchard practices to keep trees from being over-stimulated to too rapid and vigorous growth, particularly during and just after the bloom period.

Avoid planting varieties of pears and apples that are extremely susceptible to fire blight. Remove scattered bloom clusters on young trees before they open. If seen early in their development, break off blighted shoots six to eight inches below any sign of discoloration of the bark.

Blossom blight infection has been reported to be reduced considerably by an annual practice of spraying during bloom with a weak Bordeaux mixture, 2-4-100 (made with two pounds copper sulfate and four pounds hydrated lime in 100 gallons water). Perfect control of blight should not be expected from bloom spraying because it is impossible to cover with the spray all the parts of the blooms and shoots that develop during rainy periods when blight infection can take place.

To The Citizens Of Duplin County

THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONNAIRE HAS BEEN MAILED TO EACH LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATE IN OUR COUNTY

1. If elected, will you actively support with your vote and influence a state-wide liquor referendum?
2. If elected, will you actively support with your vote and influence the abolition of the so-called "gag rule"?
3. What will be your position toward granting special privileges such as voting privileges to municipalities and minority groups, denied to counties and states?
4. What will your attitude toward legalized gambling in the state be?

FOR YOUR INFORMATION WE GIVE BELOW EACH CANDIDATE'S ANSWER:
(The numbers below correspond with the numbers above)

R. M. CARR
(House)

1. yes
2. The rules that govern the House of Representatives are proposed by the Committee on Rules, for the orderly transaction of the business of the House, and upon their report to this body, they are generally adopted by a voice vote without an opportunity for consideration or debate. In many instances the two thirds rule instances the two good legislation, and enables the House to proceed with proper decision and dispatch 1. yes
2. yes
3. The voting privilege is good for the enactment of not a special privilege but good legislation, and until the Rules are presented to the House, then, and only then, the people in a county or a town the right to vote and, at the same time, grant it to other counties and-or towns

J. S. BLAIR
(House)

1. yes
2. yes
3. I will introduce or support no bill allowing a town to have a liquor store when the county itself is dry, since it follows that you have in effect made the county wet anyway.
4. I will vote against legalized gambling in the State.

is not democracy but dictatorship, the same as the "gag rule". I am opposed to dictatorship.
I am opposed to legalized gambling and other things which have existed and - or now exist in our county and state but not touched upon in the questions submitted, which questions cover only a small part of the whole problem of good government.

MITCHELL BRITT
(House)

1. yes
2. yes
3. I will introduce or support no bill allowing a town to have a liquor store when the county itself is dry, since it follows that you have in effect made the county wet anyway.
4. I will vote against legalized gambling in the State.

We are not campaigning for any one candidate, but we believe that every eligible voter should avail himself of this priceless privilege and vote for the man you believe will do the most for good government.

The Truth About REA

Statements being made and published that I voted to kill the Rural Electrification Act when I was serving in the United States Congress are absolutely false.

It is another chapter in the story of half truths, deceitful insinuations, and distortions of fact that have been paraded before the people of North Carolina in a deliberate effort to deceive them. It is typical and in further evidence of the type of campaign being carried on in behalf of another candidate in this race.

Those of you who are familiar with my record as a member of Congress and the United States Senate know I have supported the REA program.

I voted and worked for the passage of the Rural Electrification Act. I not only supported its enactment but thereafter supported appropriations necessary for the development of the REA program and have supported and defended the act since it was first passed. I opposed reducing appropriations for REA in a speech on the floor of the United States Senate on June 26, 1947, and have defended the REA program in many public speeches in North Carolina during the past fifteen years.

I am heartily in favor of the Rural Telephone Programs of REA, and I think that it should be encouraged in every way. If I am nominated and elected Governor, I shall use the influence of my office to aid the farmers of North Carolina in securing telephones and in continued support of the REA program.

I regret that the campaign headquarters of my opponent has seen fit to distort my record in support of REA by saying that I voted in May 1938 against continuing REA as a permanent agency. The facts are that there was no legislation before the Congress in 1938 on the question of continuing REA as a permanent agency.

The REA Act was originally passed in 1936 to continue for a period of ten years, and the matter of its continuance as a permanent agency was not before the Congress until after I had retired from Congress.

I have not only supported the REA, the rural telephone program, and the entire farm program, but I have also supported and voted for every program for better roads and schools that has been passed in North Carolina in the past 30 years, including the Better Schools and Roads Program of 1949.

(Signed)
