

All kinds of leather care during hot days — Use saddle soap to clean leather upholstery or leather surfaces on tables, advise Extension home furnishings specialists. To clean leather simply dampen a cloth or sponge in warm water, wring it out, then rub it over saddle soap. Rub the leather briskly. Then rub with another moist cloth without soap. Rub dry with a clean soft cloth. Any gloss which disappears will be restored by friction of the last rubbing.

The specialist warns against using furniture polishes, oils or varnishes on leather because these preparations frequently contain solvents that cause leather to become sticky. If leather appears to be drying out, rub it with a small amount of a leather dressing with the fingers and palm of the hand. In humid weather leather mildews easily.

"Who Says You Need Costly Shots To Relieve 'Hot Flashes' And Irritation From Change-Of-Life?"

Mrs. A. M. Watson, Okla., adds, "Middle age was torture. Had costly shots 3 times a week but got no relief. Then took Pinkham's Tablets. They brought me new happiness, comfort!"

Science offers women new freedom from much of the misery of change-of-life, thanks to an amazing new tablet developed especially to relieve these functionally-caused discomforts. Doctors reported sensational results using this remarkable home treatment alone... and no costly injections!

Relief for 8 out of 10 Tested! Irritability, tortured nerves were calmed. Distress relieved. Awful hot flashes subsided. Here's why. Unlike aspirin and such "general purpose" remedies, this new tablet is a unique combination of special medicines... acts directly on the cause of these troubles... works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve tense feelings and physical distress that bring unhappiness to so many. Clinical tests prove this.

Now this amazing formula is at drugstores without prescription. Ask for "Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets." Don't let change-of-life rob you of joy! Get handy Pinkham's Tablets. Contain blood-building iron. See how fast you can feel your happy self again — without costly shots! (Also liquid Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

MARGARET B. COOPER VS.

Richard Bright and wife, Mrs. Richard Bright; Frances Bright Williams and husband, Sonale Williams; Norman Rhodes; Lucille Rhodes Carlton and husband, Willis Carlton; Adelle Bright Chalmers and husband, Robert Chalmers; Mary Bright Cartie and husband, Charles Cartie;

Keep leather as clean as possible and in a dry place. Wipe mildew off with a damp cloth, promptly, then dry with an electric fan. Leather shoes, handbags and book-bindings as well as leather upholstery need to be kept in a dry place in summer to prevent mildew.

Keep Hot Things Hot, Cold Things Cold — A hot water bottle will stay hot, or an ice bag cold, longer if you wrap it in foil. To delay melting ice cubes removed from tray, place cubes in mixing bowl, cover tightly with foil.

Farmers in 34 Mountain and Piedmont counties will market aromatic tobacco this year.

Patriot in Action

There is no closed season for patriotism. You might think there was for there is a mass of patriotic speeches and editorials along about the fourth of July, and on Washington's Birthday and similar occasions. This time of year people seem to be thinking more about the hunting season, and school openings, than about our wonderful country. Now, let us admit that patriotic speeches the year around, would be a dreadful bore. Fireworks and artillery every night are not called for. Nevertheless it is true: there is no closed season for patriotism. There is a daily need for patriots.

Countersuit Patriotism

Patriotism is not noise, not speeches. The patriot is not the man who brags about his country the most. Travelers abroad from America know the nuisance type of tourist who is forever complaining, wherever he is, about nearly everything, loudly telling the world that "We have it better in the States." Such a man is not doing America any good. Hanging out the flag on important days is a good practice, but a man's patriotism is not to be measured by the regularity of his flag-displays. Furthermore, a true patriot is not one who thinks of his own stock as the true Americans, and all others as not quite it. A man like this will think of descendants of earlier immigrants as antiquated, out of touch with life; and the descendants of those immigrants who came later he thinks are "really" Europeans or something, never quite Americans.

Initiative

Many patriots' portraits are to be found in the Bible; Nehemiah is one of these. He was a governor of Jerusalem, under the Persian Empire, more than a hundred years after Jerusalem's freedom had been lost. Jerusalem had had a string of governors before; but not one of them, or all of them together, accomplished for that city and its people what Nehemiah did in his term of office. He was a true patriot, one whose services really benefit his country, one who renders services without asking payment in return; or if he is a man on salary, as Nehemiah seems to have been, he goes beyond what he is paid to do. Nehemiah never had to be pushed, or prodded. He was out in front, seeing what had to be done and starting to do it, while other men slept.

Leadership

There have been patriots without much power or gift of leadership; but surely a better type of patriot is a man or woman who can stir other people to serve their country too. This Nehemiah is famous for building a wall; but he may never have laid a brick, personally. He did something far more miraculous than that; for the first time in 140 years, he got the people of Jerusalem hard at work at what they should have been doing long before: getting a wall built around their little city. The people "had a mind to work," but it was their governor who inspired this ambition in them. The great patriots of every nation's history,—David, Scipio, Henry V, George Washington, Syngman Rhee, and all the rest, have been men from whom as from a dynamo electric current flowed to vast numbers of their countrymen. Under their leadership, weak men were brave, discouraged men full of hope.

Religion

Religion, in any nation, is not like an auxiliary water tank, for the use of the fire department,—something that can be tapped in an emergency and then turned off again when the trouble is over. Religion if it is worth anything is just as God more important than any country. He never refuses to be used as a political ally, as Hitler and others have tried to use him, other things being equal the man with the most vital religion makes the best patriot. For religion is first and last a reliance upon God, as supreme Helper and as final Judge. Nehemiah's religion comes out in many ways, but it is plain that he was no once-a-week believer. His faith in God was woven into all his actions. He never spent long hours in prayer; but there was no corner of his life shut off from it.
