RALEIGH ROUNDUP

SURE ... There may be doubt on the part of a lot of people as to whether the forthcoming bond election which was authorized by the legislature for capital improvements will pass, but apparently this doubt is not shared by a number of architects throughout the state.

We have it on good authority that the plans for a large percentage of the buildings proposed under this bond election are already being drawn by various architectural firms with the understanding that they will not be paid for their work in the event the bond election fails to pass. There is one thing for sure. This group of architects must have confidence that the election will be successful. And it is certain that they will be drawing withers have an esprit de corps similar to that experienced among the ships at sea. They give aid and comfort to each other. We are slowly hearing their many signals. At first we raised our hand from the steering wheel and waved at the other bus drivers, but we soon noticed that they do not take their hands from the wheel. They just raise one finger as a friendly gesture one hand and politicking with the other.

CHARLEY GOLD ... We really stirred up a hornets nest last week when we didn't include Insurance Commissioner Charley Gold as one Washington Sunday.

Mrs. Thekla Hargroves and sons Jerry and Darry and daughter Clarry are visiting friends in St. Thomas, Ontario.

Several from Long Ridge Church attended home coming at Sarecta Church Sunday and took part in the singing.

Visitors in the Roland Thigpen home during Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thigpen and daughter, Britton; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Malpass and son of Goldsboro and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Moring of Dudley.

Sunday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Outlaw and children were guests of Mrs. Annie Quinn and family of Warsaw.

Mrs. O. W. Scott and son Joe visited the Helen Summerlins of Warsaw Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Carter were visiting in Wallace Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Carter.

O. W. Scott was a caller in the home of Cecil Rees Sunday in Kinston.

Sunday night supper guests of the Tappan family were Mrs. Ben Scott, Mrs. James Grady and son Carroll of Mt. Olive.

Governor the next go-around.

YOUNG DEMOCRAT ... John (Buck) Fraley the master politician and successful trucking executive from Cherryville has started training his seven year old son, Buck, Jr. to become President. Young Buck has mastered the enthusiastic handshake of the experienced politician and is already performing like a veteran. Young Buck showed Kidd, Jr. his famous political handshake the week before school started, and Kiddo used it to get himself elected Vice-President of his 8th grade class.

KNOWLEDGE ... Things we didn't know until we became a bus driver ... bus drivers and truck drivers as they meet. One signal we saw several times but couldn't figure out the meaning was a circular motion of the hand. We later learned that this means "All clear ahead, let her roll." They flick their lights when another truck passes, to indicate that it is time to pull back into the line of traffic ahead of them.

The most interesting thing we have learned is the advantage of the height of the drivers seat as compared to that of a car. Did you realize that a bus, or truck driver, can see right into your car when passing? You would be surprised at the things you see from this vantage point. For instance, we had no idea that as many wives have the habit of riding with their left hand on their husband's right knee as we have learned from a recent observation from the vantage point of the bus drivers seat. How do we know it is their wives? By the ring on their finger - come to think of it a lot of them didn't have a ring on their finger! We will pass on more knowledge as we continue our course.

NOTES ... Remember the State Horse Show at Raleigh the last week end of this month and the Trade Fair in Charlotte coming up next month - and football every week end. Let her roll!

Former 4-H Club Members Given Big Opportunity To Help In "Peace Corps"

Former 4-H Club members have a special invitation to volunteer for the Peace Corps, says L. R. Harp, state 4-H Club leader. Their skills and training are needed for a Peace Corps project which is now being considered for Latin America, Harp reports.

While exact location of the project cannot be announced yet because it is still being negotiated, participants would work as two-person teams, and help develop 4-H type rural youth programs. They would assist local Extension workers of the country in recruiting and training local volunteer club leaders, and helping Club members with projects, demonstrations, meetings, exhibits, and recreation.

The Peace Corps assignment would be for two years, starting about December 1. The assignment includes a three-months training program in the language of the country, its customs and culture, at the National 4-H Club Center in Washington, D. C. Men and women 18 years of age or older, with rural and 4-H backgrounds, are especially desired as applicants. Those selected would be accompanied to their assignments, and guided in their work, by a project director and three regional supervisors, representing the National 4-H Club Foundation.

The representatives will have their food, clothing and housing, plus incidental expenses, paid for during the period of training and also during overseas service. All interested should call, write or visit their county Extension office.
