Burning Note Of Pastor's Home Ceremony Held

Sunday, September 17, was a very special day for the First Baptist Church of Warsaw. At the conclusion of the Morning Worship Service the church burned the note on its new and beautiful pastor's home and dedicated it as debt free.

Participating in the service was Milford Quinn, Chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee, Paul Potter, Chairman of Deacons, and the pastor, Rev. Del Parker. This was a high hour, indeed, for the church, for it meant that the church not only had erected a new pastor's home of functional and practical design but also that the church now could reach forward to new projects involving the opportunities of material stewardship.

Milford Quinn, in reviewing the details of the building of the new home, mentioned that in the beginning there were many who had said "It cannot be done." "It can be done and it has been done," he asserted. He also mentioned other achievements made by the church in the past ten years, not the least of which was the erection of a new educational building long since debt-free. Then, realizing the danger of dwelling too long on past accomplishments, he issued a challenge to the church to look to the future and greater accomplishments, emphasizing the necessity of total stewardship and vision.

Paul Potter, in speaking for the entire membership, spoke briefly concerning the significance of the occasion. The Milford Quinn striking and applying the match, he burned the note, dropping it into a brass urn held by the pastor. Following this the pastor spoke words of personal gratitude in behalf of his family and led the church in a prayer of dedication.

The home was completed in July, 1959 and was occupied by the present pastor and family for the first time in mid-August of 1959. It is located at 307 E. Chelly Street on a lot given the church by L. P. Best of High Point, a former resident of Warsaw. The contractor was Macon Brown of Beulaville.

Studio for the first meeting of the year '61-'62.

Mrs. C. J. Brown, counselor, briefed the group on the beginning, or "Childhood" of music at first the alphabet letters were used instead of notes, and it was many years later before our way of writing notes was discovered. Some of the very early notes look queer to us now; many men helped to make up the different ways of writing notes.

Following this, a short quiz was held with all members participating.

Those playing in Student Recital were Connie Revelle, Faye West, Dana Rivenbark, Delora Blanchard, Ray Johnson, and Trina Jones.

Sweets were served at the close of the meeting.

Jr. Music Club Plans For Year

The Warsaw Junior Music Club met Wednesday, September 13, in the Warsaw Junior High Auditorium. Members of this club are students from the 8th through the 12th grades in school.

New officers elected were: President-Carolyn Gresham; Vice president-Linda Grice; Secretary-Nancy Ward.

Plans to make money for the club were discussed. During the year the club plans to sponsor several barbecues to make money for tuition scholarships for the student-teacher piano clinic held at the University of North Carolina in June. It is hoped that each member of the club who wants to attend this clinic can receive a scholarship.

Mrs. W. J. Middleton, Jr., selected a "Workbook in the Fundamentals of Music" by Dr. H. Owen Reed, Professor of Music at Michigan State College, for the course of study this year. This workbook is designed to furnish a systematic means of presenting the fundamentals of music to the private instrumental student, to a class in high school theory, or to a first year college theory class in which a concentrated review of fundamentals is necessary. If the lessons presented are diligently studied, the student should have little or no difficulty in satisfying the entrance requirements in the professional schools and colleges music departments in the United States.

Gifts of music note paper and a music dictionary were presented to Bette Walston, Linda Grice, and Elizabeth Sutton for their outstanding summer piano study.

Students performing on student recital were: Dianna Outlaw, Johnny Best, Kathy Benton, Jane Blackmore, Linda Grice, Mary Susan Baars, Linda Blanchard, Marina Blackmore, Nancy Ward, Alice Ray Lewis, Bette Walston, and Carolyn Gresham.

Refreshments were served, Mrs. A. M. Benton and Mrs. Fred Walston.

Rotarians Hear AA Program

A very interesting program on Alcoholics ANonymous was presented to the Rotarians in Warsaw when they held their regular meeting last Thursday at 1:00 p. m. at the Coffee Shoppe.

The speaker pointed out that the AA program is one of the most important things in the lives of its members. Without the program, they would have no job, no family, no church, and they would not worship God. AA was organized nationally in 1934 and in Warsaw in 1964. There are no officers or dues; each unit operates independently. The meets are presided over by a chairman who is usually elected for one month.

It is a fellowship of men and women for the purpose of helping other AA's; they neither endorse nor support any other cause. Their book is referred to as "AA Bible" Non-alcoholics are not only welcome but also encouraged to attend these meetings. They are held in Warsaw on Tuesday night.

The speaker concluded by adding that honesty is stressed by AA-any individual must be honest with himself before any progress can be made by a member through the program. "Service over self" is their motto. Any person with a will to stop drinking may call on any member of the group at anytime. A is always anxious to help.

John Ed Strickland, president, presided with Mett Ausley, presenting the invocation. There were three visitors: Landon Boney of Clinton, Harry Laing of Kingston, and Kenneth M. Burke of Fayetteville.

Rotary members present were as follows: Julian A. Armstrong, Emmett B. Boyette, W. G. Britt, Lee Brown, James A. Cavenaugh, Richard Cavenaugh, Allen W. Draugh-
