Hudson-Daughtry Wed Thanksgiving Day In Faison Presbyterian Church

Miss Ellen Christine Daughtry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Wocorow Daughtry of Faison, and William Daniel Hudson, son of Mrs. Percy Hudson of Dunn and the late Mr. Hudson, were united in marriage Thanksgiving Day at 3:30 p. m. in the Faison Presbyterian Church with the pastor of the bride, the Rev. W. T. Perkins, officiating at the double-ring ceremony.
The vows were spoken before a background of Mexican emerald fern, southern amilax, plumosus fern and brass candelabra holding lighted cathedral tapers. The altar was flanked on either side by a brass urn filled with white snapdragons.

The wedding music was presented by Miss Berta Stroud, organist, Mrs. Donnell Taylor, soloist, who sang, Because, and Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. C. D. McCullen who sang The Wedding Benediction and The Lord Bless You and Keep You.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a crown of Italian silk and Chantilly lace fashioned with fitted bodice featuring a Sabrina neckline of scalloped lace studded with pearls and iridescents, long sleeves tapering over the hands. The bouffant skirt featured tiered flounces in back edged in scalloped lace extending into a "shell" train. She wore a matching mantilla of lace which fell from a cap of imported lace and orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white snow crystal chrysanthemums and white orchid showered with bridal ribbons.

Matron of honor was the elder sister of the bride, Mrs. Roland Parker of Charlotte, Maid of honor was the younger sister of the bride, Miss Elizabeth Daughtry of Raleigh. They wore waltz-length dresses of leaf green peau de soie styled with lotte and Miss Elizabeth Daughtry of Raleigh, honored the Hudson-Daughtry Wedding party Wednesday night in the Assembly room of the Presbyterian Sunday School. Mrs. Parker and Miss Daughtry are sisters of the bride, Miss Christine Daughtry.

The room was prettily decorated with white flowers and candles. The refreshment table, covered with a cut work linen imported cloth was centered with an arrangement of white mums and snapdragons in a crystal container - crystal punch bowl and candelabra were used on the table.

Mrs. Parker served lime punch. Miss Elizabeth Daughtry served wedding cake, salted nuts, pink and white wedding bell mints. The bridesmaids assisted in serving Mrs. Wade Daughtry the bride's mother was hostess at large. Around 35 attended.
