Now is the time to get endrin for effective, low-cost control of all major tobacco foliage pests.

Tobacco foliage pests just don't have a chance when you use endrin. It gives you sure-fire control of hornworms, tobacco budworm, flea beetles, grasshoppers, and cutworms. Here are the details:

Powerful: Endrin is so powerful, that less than a half pound per acre controls the toughest insects.

Long lasting: You can usually count on an endrin application to protect your tobacco for a week—sometimes longer. Growers find that with endrin, they make fewer applications, save time, labor and money.

Easy to use: Endrin is easy to use. It comes as spray and as dust. Both are applied with standard application equipment.

Be ready for foliage insects before they strike. Come in or call us for your supply of endrin today.
