HD Club Studies Money Management

"Directing your dollars" was the subject discussed Wednesday when Scott Store home demonstration club met for its regular meeting at the community building.

Mrs. Jason Waller, home management leader, told members to be sensible and thoughtful about the management of money. She told the group to have a plan for spending and saving and try to follow it.

"Money problems are difficult things, which families have to contend with," said Mrs. Waller.

She told members the same plan will not work with all families. Each family can work out the plan to fit their individual need.

Mrs. Helen Waller in her report on health based her remarks on the care of the eyes.

She was also on program as community service leader and reminded members of the many things one can do as a service to the community such as visiting the sick and helping one in need.

Mrs. Jona's Dail recreation leader asked everyone to stand up, move back and sit-down again before asking some questions containing the word green. She asked the meaning of recreation.

During business session, a report of $10.21 profit was realized by purchasing material for the club fashion show at a Goldsboro department store.

Purchasing more dishes for community building was delayed for a while as repair on piano is in progress.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Herring assisted by Mrs. Dunn Smith and Mrs. Nick Lee.

Two visitors from Calypso Club, one from Albertson and three non club members were present at the meeting.

Now is the time to get endrin for effective, low-cost control of all major tobacco foliage pests.

Tobacco foliage pests just don't have a chance when you use endrin. It gives you sure-fire control of hornworms, tobacco budworms, fleabeetles, grasshoppers, and cutworms. Here are the details: Powerfull Endrin is so powerful, that less than a half pound per acre controls the toughest insects.

Long lasting! You can usually count on an endrin application to protect your tobacco for a week—sometimes longer. Growers find that with endrin, they make fewer applications, save time, labor and money.

Easy to use! Endrin is easy to use. It comes as spray and as dust. Both are applied with standard application equipment.

Be ready for foliage insects before they strike. Come in or call us for your supply of endrin today.
