Request For Name Change Of NC State College Adopted By School's Directors

A resolution calling for granting a liberal arts degree at North Carolina State College and a change in the College's name has been adopted unanimously by the Board of Directors of the State College Alumni Association, Charles H. Reynolds, association president, and Senator Ralph H. Scott, board chairman, announced today.

The resolution calls for the name of the College to be changed to North Carolina State University.

Copies of the resolution are being sent this week to Governor Terry Sanford; William C. Friday, president of the Consolidated University; John T. Caldwell, State College chancellor; the Board of Higher Education; the Board of Trustees; and the press, and radio and television stations of North Carolina.

In calling for a liberal arts degree at State College, the board points out in the resolution, that the College is already teaching the courses necessary for the degree, and that the degree "would serve many additional students at no additional cost to the state, and at less cost to all commuting students." The board also states the granting of the degree "would be in step with developments at other outstanding Land-Grant institutions."

Reasons for the desirability of a change in name, according to the board's resolution, are that State College has already reached university status and has a national and international prominence in many fields.

The resolution reports that "North Carolina State College is one of only six of the 52 principal Land-Grant institutions of the Nation that do not carry the designation of State University or its equivalent."

The directors add that 13 Land-Grant institutions have acquired University designation in the past five years, and that 44 of the 52 institutions grant a liberal arts degree.

The new name "would more accurately describe the services now being rendered, and would add to the prestige of the institution, its faculty and research scientists, its student body and alumni," the directors state in the resolution.

The resolution also includes a statement on State College growth in the 75 years since its founding, in 1889, pointing out that State College "has an enrollment of nearly 8,000, upwards of 1,000 graduate students, more than 300 foreign students from 50 foreign countries, master's degree programs in 35 fields, doctoral programs in 22 fields, and has acquired an international reputation among citizens, statesmen, and scholars."

In announcing the board of directors' action, the alumni officials said:

"The growth and development of State College in the past decade has been remarkable, and is only a sample of what the institution can become in terms of being an asset to the future of the State and to its youth."

"Between 1951-62 and 1961-62, enrollment increased almost 100 per cent, from 3,706 to 7,117; the graduate program increased 160 per cent, from 348 students to 597; the value of the physical plant increased from $26 million to almost $60 million.

"The college has had long experience with graduate work. It awarded its first master's degree in 1894, only a few years after it was founded, and it granted its first Ph. D. in 1926."

Members of the board of directors of the State College Alumni Association are:

Senator Ralph H. Scott, Haw River, chairman; I. P. Duncan, North Wilkesboro; Fred Jones, Winton; W. Tilford Smith, Newport News, Va.; J. D. Wallace, Charlotte; J. Roscoe West, Statesville; Wilton L. Adams, Miami, Fla.; Kermit E. Austin, Clinton; W. C. Calton, Raleigh.

John B. Gaither, Raleigh; John H. Isenhour, Salisbury; William P. Brewer, Greensboro; J. Hyatt Hammond, Asheboro; G. C. Lassiter,

Requests For Claim Assistance Keep Coming In To FCIC; $1,073,953 Paid

Farmers insured all-risk with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation are continuing to request assistance with claims as they finish selling tobacco crops in the coastal counties ravaged by rains the last of June and the first of July, according to Julian Mann, State Director of the FCIC. Through the last of September there were 1,217 claims approved in the State Office of FCIC amounting to $1,073,953. Tobacco accounted for 959 claims totaling $1,010,345.

Spring Hope; Robert E. Pomeranz, Sanford; and Charles W. Weaver, Birmingham, Michigan.

Charles H. Reynolds, Spindale, is president of the overall alumni association, and R. J. Barnes, Charlotte, is vicepresident.

have invested more in their crops. The new counties already allocated to North Carolina for 1963 are Bertie, Carteret, Hertford, Richmond, and Yancey Counties. Tobacco will be insured in all of these counties, cotton in Bertie, Hertford, and Richmond, and peanuts in Bertie and Hertford Counties. Peanuts will be added in Bladen, Edgecombe, and Martin Counties and soybeans in Beaufort and Craven Counties. It is expected that Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman will announce the North Carolina counties in which peach insurance will be offered in 1963.

The notices of premium due have gone out to all insureds or will go out in the near future. Premiums are due when crops are planted. However, each insured is permitted to delay the payment of his premium without interest or other charges until tobacco markets open or until cotton or peanuts begin to be sold.

We earnestly request all of our insureds to pay premiums promptly after receiving premium notices, especially this year, when we have delayed notices because of the late crop. These premiums may be paid by sending a check to our county FCIC offices or coming by in person.

meet Tempest '63...today!

how's this for exploding the myth that cars have to be expensive to look it! Tempest '63

Maybe you can tell the difference between Pontiac's Tempest (especially that Le Mans) and the high-priced jobs. Besides having a 4 that acts like a V-8, Tempest sports a new 260-hp V-8 that acts like nothing you ever got your hands on before. And besides its beautiful balance, Tempest has Wide-Track this year. And self-adjusting brakes and a tachometer* and fetching style and all kinds of niceties that'll make your Tempest smoother and tougher. About all it doesn't have is a big fat price tag. Vive la difference! Pontiac Tempest

WE do. Along with all the other members of our system. What's REA? Our banker. That's all. Our loans are paid on time—with interest to Uncle Sam.

We operate this business here at home—
 Not by proxy.
 The directors we elect,
 Are leaders in the community.

As owners, we're unique.
 For we're consumers, too.
 We can't afford an unfair rate.
 We can't afford poor service.

Our business is good for the community.
 Has been for years.
 But more than that.
 It's good for all America.
