Davie Is Given Okay To Add To School

The State Department of Education has formally approved the construction of a 15,000 - square-foot addition to the Davie County High School.

The estimated cost is $200,000 to $225,000. It will be financed by state bond money.

James E. Everidge, Davie County superintendent of schools, said the addition will include a five-classroom unit connecting the gymnasium with the office wing, four additional classrooms built onto the science wing and two added to the vocational area.

"No definite plans have yet been made as to the exact use of these two shops," Everidge said. "However, our thinking at the present time is that one of the new shops will be designated to accommodate a course in auto mechanics and the other will probably house the music facilities including the band, allowing us to release the agriculture shop (now being used by the band) for the use intended."

The architects are at work on the drawings. Plans call for the additions to be put into use at the beginning of the 1967-68 school year.

Angus Sales Up 18% In Past Six Months

The demand for registered Angus beef cattle has been booming in recent months, according to a recent announcement from Glen Bratcher, secretary of the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Mo. In the first six months of the national organization's 1966 fiscal year transfers of ownership were up 18.5 per cent over the same period of '65. For the first half of the 1966 year cattlemen transferred the ownership of 184,369 head of purebred Angus, an increase of 28,858 over the 155,511 head sold in the same months of the 1965 fiscal year.

Prices paid for registered Angus in recent months are higher, too, Bratcher said. In the past 6 months 40,365 head were sold in 490 auction sales for an average price from October through March, 1965 was $411. This is an increase in gross income of $3,281,540 for cattlemen selling Angus in those auction sales.

The average for 13,440 bulls sold in the past 6 months was $570. This compares with an average of $478 paid last year for 14,786 bulls. The average price paid for cows and heifers was $421, up from an average of $369 paid for the first 6 months of 1965.

These increased prices are reflected in registration totals, Bratcher declared. In March, 1966 Angus registrations were up 8 percent over March of 1965, the first monthly increase since last fall. "For the first 6 months of the current fiscal year registrations are only 3,175 head behind the total for the same period of 1965," Bratcher concluded, "and recent demand for quality breeding stock points to an expected record number of calf registrations in the next 6 months."
