RACES AT CONCORD

The four local drivers show ed up pretty good Saturday night at Concord, Carl Richard Reeves and Buck Connell both came in in the money bracket. Jerry Waller spun all the way around and was coming around backwards when another car hit him in the front. He has a little dam-age but not too bad. David Shorty Nichols found an opening in one race and passed several cars, then he got sideways for several yards and lost the ground he had gained. The track was a little rough Saturday night and this made the cars hard to handle, for another round. These drivers are all in the 6-cylinder engine class, and they all have ding. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Milto go by the track rules, so holen of Siler City returned been in there trying.

$50 Fine For Failure To Have Car Inspected

Failure to observe the deadline for having automobiles inspected is bringing fines to more and more motorists throughout North Carolina, according to officials at the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The deadline for having a car ispected is midnight on the last day of the month that is punched on the windshield sticker. Drivers who have not taken notice of their inspe ion deadline are subject to fines up to $50.00 and court costs.

"Many people are neglect-ing to consult the sticker and are being fined for violations when the yallow their cors to run over the deadline," said Roger Parker, Inspection Administrator. "Some think they are still having their cars inspected by the last digit on their license plate and others." say they expect the depart-ment to notify them in advance of the expiration date," Parker added.

In both cases the driver of a car with an expired sticker may be due for a day in court. When he is caught with an expired sticker he will be given a citation which will probably result in a fine.

Last year the date for the first inspection was determin-ed by the last digit on the license plate. But this was done in order to stagger the inspection dates so that every-one would not have to have his car examind at the same time. Now, the lone factor determining the inspection date is on the windshield of the car. "We can't notify every driver of his own responsibility," Parker said, "Each driver must take it upon himself to glance at the sticker on his windshield In doing so, he may save him-self a combination of time, trouble and money."

Parker noted that some people apparently are not aware that they can have their vehicles inspected at any time prior to their deadline. He suggested that those whose vehicles are due a second inspection by May 31 may avoid a last minute rush by having their cars examined during the examination of April and early remainder of April and early

YWCA Camp Betty Hastings

YWCA Camp Betty Hast-ings, operated by the Glade Street YWCA in Winston-Street YWCA in Winston-Salem, N. C. is now receiving applications for its 1967 camping season. Campers are girls between eight and fifteen, and the first of three two-week sessions begins Sunday, June 18. Swimming and canoeing archery, camp-craft and hik-ing, handcrafts, nature lore, landsports, tennis, dramatics music and rhythms are among the varied camp activities. Much of the planning is done by the campers themselves with the guidance of collegeage counselors chosen for special skills and mature character. Girls live in cabins by age groups, doing many things by cabins and joining with the whole camp community for special activities such as campfires, camp festivals, and worship services. The cost of YWCA camping is moderate, but some partial and campership funds are available. Campers from all over the Southeast United States attend Camp Betty Hastings, as girls do not have to be members of any club or troop to register for camp. Girls may attend one, two or three sessions.

Supervisors.
The theme, "Three-fourths of Our Land." is developed on the fact that three-fourths of all the land in the United States is owned or managed by private citizens. We look by private citizens. We look to them to provide food, fiber and shelter. Unusual population growth at home and abroad greatly increase demands on the lend to produce these essentials of life. In America, the Soil Stewardship observance traces its ardship observance traces its origin to the Rogation Days. In parts of the South, churches and congregations traditionally set aside the fifth Sun-day after Easter as Soil and Soul Sunday.

In 1964 this became Soil

Stewardship Sunday when the editors of FARM AND RANCH Magazine suggested to a num-ber of Southern religious leaders that one Sunday be set aside to give special rec-ognition to man's obligation as steward of the soil. In 1954, the FARM AND RANCH passed the sponsor-ship to the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The original sponsors felt that a still wider observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday could help bring about a national awakening and recognition of man's obligation to the Lord's her to the staff again this year.

The work with children is always an important part of library service, and we expect it to be increasingly so

ABOUT SPECIAL SCHOOL VOTE

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: As a Mocksville resident, I have been concerned about reports that the coming bond issue would raise both my city and county taxes. Is this ANSWER: No, it is not true. All of the issues in the coming election concern all Davie County voters and are to be taxed from county tax rolls. You would not be taxed for this from city taxes; this would amount to your being double-taxed for these issues if this were true.

QUESTION: I read in the paper recently that 6 of our students made the honor roll at N. C. State University. This seems to indicate that our students are doing well academically in college.

ANSWER: When you say college students, you are talking about only 26% of those who graduated from our high schools last year. Many of our college students ents do poorly, and quite a few have to drop out due to grades. Our achievement testing for 1965-66 school year showed 658 elementary students being at least one year behind the national grade level norms in one year behind the national grade level norms in reading. We are proud of these six students and the many others who have received academic honors; un-fortunately, this percentage of students who will be seeking employment after high school graduation.

QUESTION: Is $200 an adequate supplement for our teachers?

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bailey announce the birth of a 7 lb. son on April 18th at Rowan Memorial Hospital. They have one other son.

Pvt. Darryl Veach has been transferred from Ft. Hucahuca, Arizona to Ft. Jackson, S. C. He spent the weekend here with his wife, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Veach of Rt. 4, Mocksville.

ANSWER: Not really, especially when you compare this with the average supplements paid throughout the state. We have to think in terms of tax-load and what will be acceptable when presenting these issues to the public. It would assist us in receiving more applications for teaching positions from beginning teachers, since most of them send applications to the units offering supplements. Any supplementation to the public, it would assist us in receiving more applications for teaching positions from beginning teachers, since most of them send applications to the units offering supplements. Any supplementations from beginning teaching the fact list these teachers and the property of the public of the
