THEY AIN'T GOT NO BONE

(Esquire Shoe Color, that is)

Walk into the store of the things galore
From books to ice cream cones.
But back in that right rear corner
They ain't got no Bone.

You're greeted with smiling faces
And a hearty, "howdy-do".
They're friendly at the Coolee Drug, but
They ain't got no Bone for you.

They'll fix a sandwich and mix a coke
There's even a stool to sit on.
But don't look back in "that corner".
Cause they ain't got no Bone.

The Hoyle Boys mix the medicine
That's meant for you alone.
They're conscientious pharmacists.
But they ain't got no Bone.

Greeting cards, candy, and make-up.
Records and toys you're shown.
Baby's needs and electric clocks — but,
They ain't got no Bone.

They've heating pads and headache pills.
They may even have cornpone.
But I'm beginning to think they've never heard
Of a shoe coloring called Bone.

Walk into the store and start to speak,
They shake their heads and say, "non".
Big Deal, they speak a little French,
They still ain't got no Bone.

Don't want to color my fingernails
Or give my hair a Toni.
All I want is to color my shoes
That summer shade — Boney.

I don't ask for much, I'm not hard to please
But for this they'll have to atone.
I'm wearing my crude last year's shoes
And I want to color them Bone.

I wan't ask that question again
That makes them moan and groan.
I'm sure to hear that old refrain,
"We ain't got no Bone."

Bowman Gray Races

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—
The high-pitched whine of sleek, low-slung sports cars will be mixed with throaty growls of NASCAR's stock cars Saturday night at Bowman Gray Stadium.

Three events—two heats and a feature race—for Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) sports cars will be staged on the municipal stadium's quarter-mile asphalt oval, on the same program along with eight races for NASCAR's modified-sportsman, hobby and claiming division stock cars.

Track manager Joe Hawkins said that 16 cars were on the early entry list for the sports car competition, including 12 different makes of cars. One of the most highly regarded is a potent Lotus-Cortina entered by Sam Corona of Norfolk, Va.

Others include Sunbeam Alpine, Mini-Cooper, Flat-Abarth, Morris Minor, Sprite, Lotus 7, Saab, MGA, Triumph TR-3 and Alfa GTA.

While the sports car drivers are having their once-a-year competition on the fat, tricky oval, old pro Perk Brown of Spray will have his sights set on the track's career victory record.

Brown's triumph in a 150-lap race here last week moved him within one win of the stadium's career victory record of 29, held by Glenn Wood of Stuart, Va., who has retired from driving and is now a car builder and crew chief on the Grand National circuit.

Brown roared to his 28th victory, and his second of the season, after a lead-swapping duel with home town favorite Pee Wee Jones — who finished second and took the lead in the track standings from Carl Burris of Leaksville. Burris, a two-time winner here this season, was sidelined by a wreck early in the race.

Brown climbed to second in the track standings, and Burris fell from the lead into a third-place tie with Hank Thomas of Winston-Salem — who finished third in last week's event.

Ralph Brinkley of Lexington, Alfred Hill of Jonesville and Carl Alfred of High Point will be after third wins of the season in Saturday night's hobby (amateur) feature. Brinkley evened the score with his second win of the season, and held his lead in the hobby standings, with a triumph last week.
