Film Night At The Library

The Historical Maps of early Carolina are receiving a great deal of attention from patrons, and at the film showing on Monday night, July 24th, they will be able to enjoy "Pioneer Journey Across the Appalachians." This film ties in with the display, and gives us a greater knowledge and appreciation of the pioneers in our own Carolina country.

The story follows a North Carolina family westward across the Appalachians before the Revolutionary War. It explains why the early settlers moved west, how they traveled and other concepts underlying this movement. It is good entertainment for the whole family. The other film to be shown will be interesting to children and adults alike.

"Children of the Silent Night" follows a deaf-blind girl over a two-year period as she is taught to hear with her finger, recognize language from vibrations, and eventually to speak for herself. Its approach is creative, sympathetic and most interesting. It does a very good job of conveying the process of teaching deaf-blind children—so good, in fact, that it was the Winner in the 4th Annual Film Festival.

Concord Races

Have you ever attended a race at the Concord Speedway? Have you ever met any of the drivers at that race, Carl Reeves, Buck Connell, Shorty Nichols, Jerry Walker or Jimmy Talley. These boys it would seem, eat bolts for breakfast and pick their teeth with a push rod. They and their pit crew put everything they can into each and every race, because the honor of hearing their name shouted by the fans and the satisfaction of each one involved in winning a race, can make them hold their heads high with pride, because a lot of blood and sweat has been poured into their machine that would put them out front. They are the backbone of the car itself. They need good vision on the track if they hope to keep his catlike nerves at a peak and watch for every hazard that might arise. The drivers are not a machine like the one he is driving. They are someone that deserves respect in every way. So give the drivers the respect that is due them. The next time you hear a fellow say "Aw, a guy would have to be a little crazy to drive one of those cars," or "I could drive that thing better than he can," give him a few of the facts, and show him that it's not any easy life and aren't we all a little crazy? After all look on the high-ways and the race track. So if you want to see some good racing come on out to the Concord Speedway Saturday Night.
