SLAIN HEROES WERE HONORED

At The Brooklyn Navy Yard

President Wilson Grave
And Pensive

Dead's Relatives Present Fifteen Thousand Heads Bowed as Secretary Daniels Read names of Sailors and Men Who Fell at Vera Cruz Fight.

Significant points in President Wilson's speech:

We have gone down to Mexicans to save mankind if we can find out the way.

We don't want to fight the Mexicans. We want to serve the Mexicans if we can.

A war of aggression is not a war in which it is a proud thing to die.

But a war of service is a thing in which it is a proud thing to die.

It is just as hard to do your duty when men are sneering at you as when they shoot at you.

Men who do their duty when there are hisses are cheery as of a nation to be proud of.

the vast assemblage were riveted on President Wilson, who stood grave and pensive gazing across the field. One felt that this embodiment of the national spirit portrayed in the sacrifice of these heroes had made and in the tribute of mourning approval of their countrymen were paying them was the dominant note of the memorial service.

Highest tribute to the nineteen boys who gave up their lives for the flag of Vera Cruz was paid by President Wilson today in a remarkable address in which he expressed envy for the heroes who died in the performance of their duty and clearly indicated that of need be the nation is ready to make further sacrifice in the same cause.

The president dwelt upon the example set by the boys who died performing their duty at Vera Cruz. All of us, he said, are performing our duty and though he said he had never been under fire or in action he had never been under fire or in action he was performing his duty as an enlisted man.

"War, gentlemen, is only a sort of dramatic representation, and the president, "a sort of dramatic symbol of a thousand forms of duty. I never went to battle, I never was under fire, but I fancy there are some things just as hard to do as to go to war."

"I fancy that it is just as hard to do your duty when there are hisses as it is to do your duty when there are cheers."

With naval precision, the ceremonies were begun exactly at 11 o'clock. On the stand were President Wilson, Governor Glynn, Mayor Mitchell Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture Houston and members of the senate and house committee from Washington and other officials who had participated in the procession and the brief ceremonial at city hall. All were standing with hats removed when Commandant Gleaves, at the Brooklyn navy yard, signaled to an orderly.

From behind the guard of honor they left the band opened the strains of "Nearer My God to Thee." One verse was played, followed by a hush, again only broken by deep, strong sighs and sobs.

The Rev. W. G. Cassard, chaplain of the naval academy at Annapolis, followed with the Episcopal service for the dead.
"I am the resurrection and the life," and a prayer.

A large part of the throng audibly made the response with navy chaplain, including President Wilson, at the conclusion of the prayer.

Secretary of the navy Daniels then in a voice which trembled with emotion and nervously holding in his hand a slip of paper on which was engraved the names of the nineteen dead, addressed the president. He said in conclusion.

"Mr. President, I hand you, sir, names of these heroes, recorded in the national roll of honor, that they may be preserved in the archives of our republic.
Their services will be held in lasting remembrance by grateful people."

President Wilson rose, took the sheet of paper from the secretary of the navy and looked meditatively upon the row of seventeen flag-enshrouded caskets. His lips trembled as he spoke the opening words of his address. He spoke across the row of the seventeen caskets to the statue-like blue-jackets and marines who were assembled on other side.

The president began speaking at 10:22 a. m. and concluded at 11:34. Father Chadwick, who was chaplain of the battleship Maine when it was blown up in Havana harbor, made the closing impressive prayer.

There followed the firing of the salute for the dead from a firing party from the battleship Texas, three sharp volleys as if fired by one man. Then a pause and finally on the noon air was borne the silvery notes of a bugle—final tribute to the man who dies in the services of the flag—"taps"—lights out—the final farewell.

THE GOOSE NEVER FORGOT.

Helpless Shown a Gosling Gained Man a Constant Friend.

One day a lad saw a young gosling struggling in the grasp of a huge rat. It made a vigorous resistance, but by the time it had come to the rescue it was so severely bitten that it must have soon become its antagonist's victim. The youth confined his care over it until it recovered from its injuries, dressing its wounds every day. During his attendance on it a friendship sprang up between them, and the gosling might be seen limping after him everywhere. The boy reported for school, and on his return home at holiday time, was joyfully recognized by the gosling, which showed its joy as bravely as a dog, and attached itself to him as before.

He became a man, and the gosling a goose, but neither of them outlived their kindly regard for each other. The great-grand deserted her feathered companions as soon as her friend left her home, and following him as before, and when the young man was seized with illness the poor bird became restless and pining as though she knew something was wrong.
Guided by some wonderful instinct, she made her way to his room, a corner of which she had occupied during the time he had been ill, and there she hid her head under the bed and established herself there.

Four Executions Are Set in June.

By setting the dates for three June executions at the State prison, Governor Craig yesterday named one day which will be marked by a double execution.

Three of the murderers are colored and one white. One is still at large. Hedrick DeVane, a negro, whose appeal went to the court in April, escaped from jail the morning that the court took it up and he has since been in hiding. It is reported that he is in New York City. DeVane's date is June 24th.

Jim McCullers, the murderer of Deputy Sheriff Bain last year in Guilford, is under sentence to die, June 19th. Wednesday of last week, Judge W. F. Harding sentenced Sid Finger, the Rowan murderer of Preston Lyerly, to die June 19th. Finger's attorneys did not appeal. Unless there is a change, there will be two deaths on that date.

Will T. McKenzie, a white murderer, is to die June 12th for the murder of his brother-in-law, Peter Jones, in Robeson County. This murder is said to have been peculiarly vicious and unprovoked. McKenzie is a man who had some property.

Another appeal has been settled in the case of Jim Cameton, murderer, but no date set.
News and Observer, 10th.

A Good One On Root.

A good story is told on Senator Root, who, when he was Secretary of State, had a small colored messenger. At first the lad was very respectful to everybody. Mr. Root asked him where the wastebaskets was, and the boy politely replied that Mr. Riley had taken it. "Who is Mr. Riley?" asked the Secretary, only to find that it was "Pete." A little later he asked who left the window open, and the answer came, "Mr. Lantz has been washing window." "Look here, my boy," said Mr. Root, "don't call everybody mister; use their first names. I can't tell whom of an hour the boy opened the door and called, "Sap, Elihu, there's a fat guy outside who wants to speak to you." The "fat guy" was President Taft. There is no record of what Mr. Root said next.
