CHEERFUL OUTLOOK.

Authorities—good, bad and different—agree on the proposition that cotton will go higher than it is destined to break record since the war. Just how high it will go, however, is just when it will reach the maximum, are matters beyond the powers of prophecy. While other prices are regarded as almost a dead sure thing, it would be a rash man who would set the prices. In a vague way, the country has been expecting that some time or another the market will reach 20 cents, but so far only Congressman Heflin has made bold to speak out. The observer is inclined to doubt that the farmer is going to get a $100-bale of cotton in his stocking for Christmas gift. It is more likely that the $100-bale will be reserved for the spring season to give him a good case of planting fever. Mr. Heflin's vision may be a little too optimistic, but all the same it cannot be denied that the outlook is by far the most cheerful that has confronted the Southern farmers in more than half a century.—Charlotte Observer.

KING ALCOHOL—23rd Psalm.

King Alcohol is my sheppard, I shall always want. He maketh me lie down in the gutters. He leadeth me beside troubled waters. He destroyeth my soul. He leadeth me into paths of wickedness for effect's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of poverty, and have delirium tremens, I will cling to evil for thou art with me; thy bite and sting doth torment me. Thou preparest an empty table before me in the presence of my family. Thou annointest my head with hellishness, my cup of wrath runneth over. Surely dereliction and misery shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the adversary forever.—Contributed.

Something to be Thankful for.

Some folks are always yelling about what someone says about them. A lot of people ought to get down on their knees three times a day and thank their lucky stars that everything that could be mentioned about them hasn't even been hinted at.—New Bern Sun.

The BIG Warehouse ON MAIN STREET

OWNED and OPERATED by the Farmer, for the Farmer, with the Farmer.

We ask the farmer to help the farmer. You will help the farmer—make money thereby building up the country as well as the town. Our business has exceeded our expectations and we are growing every day. Other warehouses in the State operated in the same manner, made money and divided big dividends among the farmers. When the farmer becomes interested in the business he is building a big business, helping the market and helping the town. Hundreds of farmers have taken stock, and as we have no one selling stock those wanting stock will have to apply at the warehouse.

This is a big business, by your co-operation we can make it a larger business. Appreciation of your patronage is shown by Townsend's hard work.

Yours respectfully,
TOWNSEND'S TOBACCO WAREHOUSE CO.

P. S.—Being unable to get out to see friends and patrons, I ask you to get in early with your tobacco, so we can get you unloaded in time for sale. Prices are much stronger, several of my customers averaged as high as twenty cents for large loads of tobacco.
