The best is never too good for anybody.

While might isn't right, it is a fine imitation.

It takes longer to explain a failure than a success.

I'm buying an airplane factory a "by" sort of venture!

Most persons who preach matrimony practice what they preach.

Rubber coats at breakfast would help to popularize the grapefruit.

One can't tell, by reading contradictory war reports, which is the under dog.

A dead man's ashes have been sent by parcel post. Rather a novel undertaking?

One of the things that makes life worth living is the way the experts disagree.

It takes a crazy and designing woman to trap her husband with a dictograph.

A smiling wife makes a charming background for a stack of stamping hot-spices.

"Stealing another's heart" and "heart pain" are neither police nor surgical terms.

Anybody who goes to bed a pessimist and gets up an optimist has had a good night's sleep.

The European countries are working their respective literary bureaus for all they are worth.

"Hisses" and "laughter" at a mass meeting usually average up about neutral.

A few more unpronounceable names, now that Bulgaria has joined the merry little throng of warriors.

The man in the moon may be a myth, but the man in the honey-moon is a flesh-and-blood reality.

Pains of the children are forever itching for an opportunity to speak somebody's darling boy or girl.

Football is still recalled with amusement, no longer than two years ago was thought a brutal game.

Speculations as to when the war will end have given place to calculations as to when loans will fall due.

Fat is not a bad word, but don't you tell a woman that she is getting fat if you want her to invite you to dinner.

Since there will be no Nobel prizes awarded this year, the feelings of celebrities who might have lost will be spared.

Now is the time for the money lords to make their appearance as an aid to the solution of the transportation problem.

When they get that wireless telephone in Paris working we can call up each morning and get the styles before breakfast.

A great many things can be done on the farm with an automobile, but as soon as a farmer gets a car he wants to breeze into town.

Some people who boast of family trees wouldn't have any more done than to say of the limb they happened to be sitting on.

Football heroes find in these dire straits a time to show their real mettle, a time when the reputation of arms and legs.

It is a curious thought that the scientists who have developed all sorts of antidotes are now at the point of investigating the antihumanity.

Ever since in a while something is done by the ballgame to convince the world that it is not as far removed from barbarism as it had supposed.

The wrist watch when which awakens the wearer by striking him on the wrist, gives rise to the question, "Why should anybody sleep in a wrist watch?"

A lying book agent, it is not critically responsible, says a Philadelphia judge, a decision to the contrary would have struck at the root of the book agent business.

The notion of an interesting story would be one for which people would make a natural record of their own experiences of such day of the week, and days included.

The ultimate outcome is not likely to worry much about who should be the victor in the present in the result is properly indicated in the past, those who have been the victor.

DOUBLE CONTEMPT OF COURT

Gen. Gilman Marston was thoroughly disgusted with Court and willing to pay for it.

The following anecdote is told of Gen. Gilman Marston, a once-famous New Hampshire lawyer.

General Marston was attending court at a small country town when a young attorney made a motion that was denied by the court. The young man remonstrated against what he thought was the wrong ruling of the judge. So vehemently did he do so that he was fined $10 for contempt of court.

An older attorney took the matter up, and he was fined a similar sum. Still another, who thought he stood a little better with the judge, endeavored to straighten the matter out, but he, too, enriched the coffers of the state by paying a "ten-spot" for contempt.

General Marston was then seen to rise to his seat and advance to the clerk's desk. Taking his long pocket-book from his pocket, he took out two $10 bills and laid them on the desk.

"What is that for?" said the judge. "I want you to distinctly understand," said the general, "that I have just twice as much contempt for this court as any man here, and I am paying for it."

MAKING A JOB THEN.

"Do you think he'll be able to land a job?"

"Well, he worked his way through college."

Prosperous.

"Young Plodgett seems to have done well in the city."

"Yes," replied the old resident. "That young fellow must be drawing a fancy salary. He better run around Hicksville with notafin' on but a sheet on a pair of overalls, but now when he comes back ter see th' home folks he rides up from th' deeps in th' hotel bus."

Illusion of Strength.

"Of course you don't believe clothes make the man?"

"No," replied the observant person, "but they seem to influence his conduct in life considerably."

"How so?"

"Well, he worked his way through college."

DRINK SIX GLASSES OF WATER DAILY

An interesting statement by one of the Big Men in the Drug Business.

of Houston, Texas, says:

"If you have a muddy complexion and dull eyes, you are constipated. Six glasses of water daily and one or two Rexall Orderlies at night will correct this condition and make you fit as a fiddle."

Rexall Orderlies, in my opinion, are the best laxative to be had, and can be taken by men, women or children."

Absorbed.

"You call yourself an expert motion picture operator?" stormed the manager, "and yet you spotted that feature film by running it too fast."

"I know I speeded up a little," answered the operator, contritely, "but it was the first time I've run off that film, and I got so interested I hurried to see how it was going to end."

Pa Discusses Patriotism.

"Pa, what is patriotism?"

"Patriotism, my boy, is love of country."

"Do all good citizens have it?"

"Yes, my boy. Only some of them act as though they had been married in their country so long that they don't think it necessary to show any special mark of respect to her."

"Can I get a drink from your old oaken bucket?"

"Sure," said the farmer, "but things must be kept strictly sanitary these days. Wait until I pick you an individual guard."—Louisville Courier Journal.

Used to It.

"That orator is a wonderful man!"

"In what way?"

"It seemed to me that all the women in his audience were talking all through his speech, but he did not get impatient or rattled for a minute."

"He used to keep a parrot store."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JANUARY 23

THE SPIRIT OF LIFE.

LESSON TEXT—Romans 8:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—As many as are led by the spirit of God, these are the sons of God—Romans 8:14.

The connection of this lesson with the others of the series is in the fact that this chapter is a paeanic regarding the spirit-filled life, the coming of which we have so recently studied. Read prayerfully in this connection Gal. 5:22-25. We emphasize that we ought to study this entire chapter rather than that portion assigned. The key to the whole is found in verse thirty-seven. "We are more than conquerors." If conquerors, how are more than conquerors? Very simple. Some victories leave the victor so exhausted that he cannot possess nor enjoy his victory; not so the spirit-filled Christian for he is "more than conqueror."

Previously in this epistle the spirit is mentioned but once (8:5); in this chapter he is mentioned thirteen times. Over what is the spirit-filled man conqueror?

I. Over the Condemnation of Sin, v. 1. "The spirit-filled Christian lives in a higher realm than that of the flesh (v. 6). The spirit removes us from the realm to that of the spirit, quickening us (i. e., making us alive who were dead in sin) to dwell in the flesh and enabling us to walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit."

II. Conquerors Over the Power and Dominion of Sin, v. 2. While we still have the body yet it is our privilege, through the spirit's power, to work within us, to put to death its deeds every day and each minute (Gal. 5:16, 22-25). To live otherwise is to dishonor God (v. 8). Those who surrender their lives to the control of the indwelling spirit are "sons of God" (v. 14). Therefore, "free from the law of sin and death" (v. 2), for the same spirit that raised from the dead" (v. 11) not alone makes us sons but gives us the same power.

III. Conquerors Over Fear, v. 15. The righteousness of the law is fulfilled in us "who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit" (v. 4) and having received the "spirit of adoption" (i. e., being placed as sons) we cringe not before God in terror, nor call him a tyrant, or even ruler, but we cry, "Abba, my father." As "sons" we are spiritually inherited and have "the love and peace" (v. 4, Gal. 4:6).

IV. Conquerors Over Suffering, v. 18. "We are joint heirs with Jesus" (v. 17) so we suffer with him. Our position and identity in Christ involves our participation in his sufferings (Gal. 6:17; II Tim. 3:11, 12; Acts 14:22). What we often call afflictions are only discomforts and frequently the results of our own foolish carelessness. But as contrasted with his glory there is no comparison. Only eternity will enable us to comprehend what it means to be made partaker through suffering (Phil. 3:10; II Tim. 3:12; Heb. 5:8). If we are heirs of all God has and all that God is, we are likewise an heir just as Christ is, and to the extent that Christ is an heir and hence to his sufferings (we suffer with him) though we are even there more than conquerors for like him we too shall rise triumphant "over all things."

V. Conquerors Over Vanity, v. 25. This story is contrasted with the creation, now subject to vanity, but which is in degradation by comparison. The creature (v. 21) (i. e., creation) was made subject not willingly but by reason of him who subjected it in hope that the creature should yet be delivered from the bondage of the principles of death and decay into the glorious liberty, or the liberty of the glory, of the children of God.

VI. Conquerors Over Infirmities, v. 26. The believer's all-sufficiency and perfect security in the Lord Jesus. We may not have all we want yet we have all we need (Phil. 4:10). This sufficiency is in the privilege we possess in praying "according to the will of God"—we know not how to pray as we ought, but the spirit maketh intercession for us (v. 26); or also Christ, "who is at the right hand of God," intercedes for us (v. 24). The spirit knows the mind of God the father, teaches us how to pray and at times places a yearning in our hearts to do for our own comprehension.

Even God must search the heart to know the mind of the spirit (v. 27) and in this God does "exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20).

VII. Conquerors Over All Things, v. 28. The blessing returns to the spirit-filled life, he is knowing that all things work together for good and hence we are free from all possible anxiety of heart under any and all circumstances. Whatever comes to us is a part of his "all things" and therefore I should be grateful because the outcome will be good. We are not fore-ordained to salvation irrespective of what we may be or do but we are fore-ordained as believers to be "conformed to the image of his Son" (v. 29). The Big Warehouse ON MAIN STREET

OWNED and OPERATED by the Farmer, for the Farmer, with the Farmer.

We ask the farmer to help the farmer. You will help the farmer make money thereby building up the country as well as the town. Our business has exceeded our expectations and we are growing every day. Other warehouses in the State operated in the same manner, made money and divided big dividends among the farmers. When the farmer becomes interested in the business he is building a big business, helping the market and helping the town. Hundreds of farmers have taken stock, and as we have no one selling stock those wanting stock will have to apply at the warehouse.

This is a big business, by your co-operation we can make it a larger business. Appreciation of your patronage is shown by Townsend's hard work.

Yours respectfully, TOWNSEND'S TOBACCO WAREHOUSE CO.

P. S.—Being unable to get out to see friends and patrons, I ask you to get in early with your tobacco, so we can get you unloaded in time for sale. Prices are much stronger, several of my customers averaged as high as twenty cents for large loads of tobacco.
