NIGHT POLICE MOORE CAPTURES BLIND TIGER OF LONG STANDING

John Moore, a Negro Barber on His Way Back From Norfolk, Va., With Two Suit Cases Containing 79 Full Pints of Whiskey, Taken in Custody on Board Train. Sam Faison, Another Farmville Negro, Thought to be in With Moore, Also Pulled.—Both Bound Over to Court Under Heavy Bond.

Having suspected John Moore, a negro barber, of selling out county convict liquor in booze for some time, Night Policeman Moore learning that he had gone to Norfolk, Va., got wise, and in company with Mr. Tab Skinner, who he deputized to go with him, boarded the Eastbound Norfolk Southern at 12:30 Wednesday night going to Greenville where they waited for the arrival of the 3:35 a. m. train from Norfolk, on which John Moore, the negro barber, with his 79 pints of booze water was happily journeying. Moore's ticket was from Norfolk to Arthur, at which point he was to be met by Roy Barst in a buggy to prevent a possible capture. But when Policeman Moore and Skinner boarded the train in Greenville they put the conductor wise as to what was up, and as the negro Moore was the only passenger for Arthur, the train stopped on the tracks, where he and his 79 pints of booze were taken in charge. Sam Faison, another negro of Farmville was on board the cars with liquor on his person, and he was also taken along with Moore as a possible partner in the 79 pints.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. C. Joyner Thursday morning John Moore was bound over to court under a $500 verified bond and Faison was required to give a $200 bond. It is the general opinion from the evidence given at the preliminary hearing, that Faison, in a true sense of the law, is not guilty; but Magistrate Joyner thought best to send them both on over to Greenville where Faison, if not guilty, could so satisfy the Judge of the Superior Court. It is no doubt a fact that Moore the negro barber, is guilty, and it is all probably be added out county convict liquor in building of good roads. Another evidence of the guilt of John Moore is the fact that a negro here by the name of Frank Johnson, smelling the whiff of an automobile and drives to Greenville with the hope of saving Moore and his partner from the officers, but as Policeman Moore was right on the lookout Johnson did not succeed in his purpose.

Policeman states there were other suit cases on the train Thursday morning filled with whiskey but was unable to find the owner, so he had the conductor to take same on to the officers in Raleigh. Policeman Moore also seized 25 gallons of the fraud Wednesday morning but the owner could not be found. Calculations to Policeman Moore in the course of making the blind tiger business in and around Farmville. He states that there are some other slick ducks around here that he expects to eventually trot in unless there is a change.
