UP TO KAISER BEG FOR PEACE, ASSERT

London, Sept. 21.—The Kaiser will have to ask for peace on the Allies' terms, and will have to be humble about it, say the Americans fighting on the French and Belgian lines. Newspapers, who have been seeking the opinions of Samuels on the Austrian peace conference have found them strongly opposed to anything less than complete submission on the part of Germany.

THE DAY OF PEACE

The war will end some blessed day, some day the strife will cease; the kings will put their guns away, and boost the boon of peace. The captives then will drop their tools which made the world forlorn, and drive their teams of sorrel mules along the rows of corn. While still the tide of battle rolls, while still we hear the din, it seems to countless weary souls, the war has always peace. Three years, they say, the strife has raged, across the mourning seas, but it would seem that war's been waged for three centuries. The days that reek of blood and tears pass slowly over the stage; come an end to this long, weary looking forward to the day when peace with honor comes, when kings will put their swords away, and seek their battle drums. I long to see the colorials drop their shining ensigns, and buckle down to raise a crop of beans and early peas. I long to see field marshals hang their batons from a nail, and then get busy with the gang to earn some bloodless kale.—Walt Mason.

EACH TOWNSHIP TO PAY THEIR SOLDIERS' WAY.

The government is asking every township and county to pay the expenses of its soldiers at war. This costs the Government about $1,000 a year for each soldier, except when he is in battle. The way that the Government has devised for each township and county to do this is to purchase its full quota of War Savings Certificates. This amount will take care of the boys sent from that county. A bulletin from State Headquarters points out that for the case of the 5,000,000 American soldiers selected by the first draft, the War Savings fund called for $3,000,000,000 or $3,000 for each soldier in service, or $100 or so more. As soon as the War Department decided to increase the army to 4,000,000 men, Congress authorized an increase of the War Savings fund to $4,000,000,000, thus leaving to the supportment of $1,000 for each sol-of ingratitude would outlive every person now living in the townships. The bulletin says further that when a person invests in War Savings Certificates he serves that part of the Army that is nearest and dearest to him—he supports his own boy or that of his neighbors. It says that every boy in service is represented by some star in some Service Flag and that every star is backed by $1,000 invested in War Savings Stamps.

HARD WORK AHEAD, BUT WE MUST DO IT.

Winston-Salem, September 21.—As regards the approaching Liberty Bond campaign, Col. F. H. Fries, State Director of War Savings, says that his attitude on this is the same as before except that he is convinced that all must work harder. If the State's quota of bonds as well as Stamps is raised in the allotted time for each. Active systematic pledge-taking for War Savings Stamps will be suspended out of deference to, and in a spirit of co-operation with, the Fourth Liberty Bond Campaign. During the period of the bond drive the War Savings work of the State will be confined to the redemption of pledges already made. "As to the two campaigns conflicting, I repeat that they are as much in harmony and working to the same end as the army and navy or as the brave American soldiers and those of our valiant Allies. They are both of absolute importance to the winning of the war, and failure to raise the State's allotment of both would be a serious disappointment to ourselves as well as to our soldiers at the front. "Greater sacrifices and self-denial must be made by every one if the State maintains its present high standard in war work. It has not failed at any call the Government has made, and must not. As long as the boys fight in the trenches and endure the terrors of war, one of which is the rigors of winter, we must stand back of them even though it calls for severe hardships, till the conflict is ended and victory is won."

German Postless Gift Book contains valuable and interesting material for collecting the book. You can see the list of names, including the list of names.

Bids for peace according to specifications are in order, but understand that the specifications do not call for a German peace.
