THE PRESIDENT VOTES

knows that, while politics is adjourned, voting is not adjourned. The life of the country is in the voting of its citizens.

He voted because it was a duty he owed his country. That in the midst of his cares he took the time to go so far indicates just how important he thinks it is that every good citizen should vote. Is the conduct of the war is not sufficient to keep the President from going one hundred miles to vote, on what grounds can the reader excuse himself this coming November. Rarely has the President left Washington since our country entered the war.

But he left Tuesday just to cast one vote.

No one has criticized him for it. No one has accused him of doing a trivial thing. No one ever suspected him of doing vain or trivial things.

The people of this country understand. They know that the President knows that the enemies of this country—the secret friends of Germany—have yet the chance to strike our country a deadly blow in November. They can paralyze the Administration. They can fetter the President's conduct of the war. They can tie his hands. They can destroy his power. They can elect Senators and Congressmen who are not in sympathy with him. They can give aid and comfort to the Kaiser, as it could not be given in any other way. They know that good citizens must vote this year if they never voted before. They know that President Wilson was "on his job" when he journeyed all the way to Princeton, New Jersey, just to cast one vote last Tuesday.

The November election is the first election since we entered the war. The voters will pass on the war and its conduct for the first time in that election.

The North Carolina election in November is of supreme importance to the State and Nation—one Senator, ten Congressmen, a number of judges, and most of the county and district officers are involved.

Let every loyal North Carolinian profit by the example of President Wilson: vote this year—if you have to travel one hundred miles to do so!

In 1898 our country was at war with Spain. McKinley was President and was running for re-election. Theodore Roosevelt was candidate for Governor of New York. Here is what he said in his campaign speeches:

Remember that, whether you will or not, your vote this year will be viewed by the nations of Europe from one standpoint only. They will draw no fine distinction. A refusal to sustain the President this year will, in their eyes, be read as a refusal to sustain the war and to sustain the efforts of our peace commission to secure the fruits of the war.

Is these words were true in 1898, how much more true are they today! The country stood up to the teachings in 1898; it will stand up to it in 1918.

ALLIES LOOK UPON AMERICA AS SAVIOR

French Food Card Carries Message From Mr. Hoover.

Washington—Proof that the Allied powers look upon the United States as their savior from starvation is shown by the fact that even upon the bread cards of France there is a message from the United States Food Administrator, Mr. Lindbergh. The Administrator has directed the French Government to place upon the bread cards a message from the United States Food Administrator for a message which could be distributed to the people of France, and this message is the French bread card which is now being distributed in France to give proof of the position of the United States Food Administrator in every part of the world. The message of the Administrator is: "The United States is the savior of the world from starvation."

To Whom It May Concern:

The County Board of Health met Monday afternoon to review the health situation in Pitt County, and to discuss the advisability of an early re-opening of the several places closes under the order of October 9th.

According to the reports before the Board, the epidemic, in some sections, is on the increase; there were 145 new cases Saturday and 18 deaths, and with the information at hand the Board very readily agreed that in the interest of public health the order of October 9th should continue in FULL FORCE AND EFFECT and that all places of public gatherings, including churches, schools, theatres, tobacco warehouses and factories and other places where crowds are accustomed to assemble, shall remain closed until there shall be an improvement in the situation, and the condition of the public health will permit of the suspension of the order.

All persons are requested to take notice of this action upon the part of the County Board of Health and govern themselves accordingly.

This October 28th, 1918.
ALBION DUNN,
Sec. Co. Board of Health.

Says 65 year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Meadowville, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Hightower, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of the I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My appetite was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak. I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for this trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least trouble was soon relieved with a few
