A BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF A PORTION OF THE BUSINESS SECTION OF Farmville--The Greatest Market In The East

FOR THE SALE OF BRIGHT
TOBACCO

EVERYTHING BEING PUT IN READINESS FOR OPENING.

In strolling through tobacco town this week we found all the warehousemen busy making preparations for the opening of the Farmville Market, which takes place Tuesday, September 2nd.

There has been many changes made to better conditions here for the handling of the weed, and with the two large re-drying plants of A. C. Monk & Co., and the J. P. Taylor Co., together with plenty of storage houses for each of the seven big companies which will be represented on the Market this season, Farmville

The market heretofore has been selling near the ten million mark, but expects to sell a good deal more this season.

Besides the seven wide-awake buyers representing seven of the largest tobacco companies, namely: The American Tobacco Co., Laggett & Myers, R. J. Reynolds, Imperial Tobacco Co., Export Tobacco Co., A. C. Monk & Co., and J. P. Taylor Co., there will probably be a few buyers representing independent tobacco dealers throughout the country.

Now, Mr. Tobacco Grower, if you want to get full value for your entire crop, see that each and every load is sold on the Farmville Market.

Farmville Tobacco Market Opens Tuesday Sept. 2nd -- You're Invited

Yes, the Farmville Tobacco Market with all the opening sale on Tuesday, September 2nd, as previous years of ten to fifteen miles of Farmville are becoming more and more impressed with the push, pull and general git-up-and-git of Farmville's wide-awake, experienced and energetic warehousemen; each of whom not only know tobacco from the plant to the manufactured product, but are also familiar with "the tricks of the trade"—through long years of actual experience—which enables them to meet their task with satisfactory results to the grower of the golden weed. The three main warehouses here namely: Townsend's Warehouse, Monk's Warehouse and the Centre Brick Warehouse, have an unlimited amount of floor space, clever and efficient sales force, and, with two large re-drying plants and plenty of storage room, the market is amply prepared to handle 15,000,000.00 this season. Bring a good load to the opening on Tuesday Sept. 2d.

WHAT A BIG FARMER SAYS ABOUT FARMVILLE MARKET

The Farmville Market has a growing territory. Naturally so because the market has a clean record for years for holding up prices and giving patrons big averages thereby making each crop a profitable one—not only that, but the writer was talking to a farmer a few days ago who had only been selling a portion of his crop each year on our Market and he said "That he could not see any difference in the price market here. I had two thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars worth of property out of my care and exposed to fire without insurance. Now ten trips make $27,500.00. You see I got in my buggy and went to Farmville drove to each warehouse and there I could see the warehouses were not so congested as there are three large houses and the stables were at a safe distance—thereby reducing my fire risk, and Farmville is my market as long as the boys work as hard as they have been doing.

You will always have money if you save half your earnings.

AMERICAN AVIATORS RESCUED FROM MEXICAN BANDITS.

Marfa, Aug. 19.—Lieutenants H. C. Patterson and Paul B. Davis, American aviators, who were held for $15,000 ransom by Mexican bandits, were rescued today by Captain Matlack of the Eight Cavalry.

Matlack paid only half the amount which was demanded. He managed to trick the Mexicans and escaped with the two captives across the border. Both of the aviators are in good health.

Patterson and Davis declared that they had been confined in their directions after being forced to land on account of engine trouble. They were on their way back to headquarters on foot when they were seized by the bandits. Both men state that they suffered no ill treatment.

Candelaria, Aug. 19.—Troops of the Eight U. S. Cavalry crossed the Mexican border this morning in pursuit of the bandits who held Aviator Patterson and Davis for ransom. They are following a hot trail under the guidance of the rescued men. The men are advancing rapidly and if they succeed in catching up with the Mexicans trouble undoubtedly will follow. The Texas rangers are preparing for any emergency that might occur. Sentiment along the border is that the situation is extremely grave.

Each of the three large warehouses of Farmville has an important message elsewhere in this issue to tobacco growers. The half page advertisement of Townsend's Warehouse appears on the back page, Monk & Co. good have a half page on page three, while a similar size space is used by Kott & Newton, proprietors of the Centre Brick, it appears on page five. Read each of these and come to the opening on Tuesday, September 2nd and it will pay you.

EVERY ACCOMODATION ALWAYS YOUR COMMAND.

Each of the warehouses have plenty of nice comfortable sleeping quarters for those who wish to come the evening before in order to get unloaded early, and plenty of nice box stalls for your team where they will be absolutely safe. There is also one of the best cafes here to be found anywhere east of Raleigh, where you can get anything to eat that your appetite may call for. Our water supply is second to none in the state, and too, with paved streets now being pushed to completion, Farmville offers you every inducement to be had in cities ten times as large. Come to Farmville, our business men and citizens in general welcome you.

ONE HUNDRED GALLON STILL CAPTURED NEAR PACTOLUS

Sheriff E. R. Dudley, accompanied by Officers Guy Cason and Mr. S. I. Dudley, paid an official visit to the Pactolus section yesterday afternoon. They were out-looking for monkey rum manufacturing plants and as usual since the sheriff has been in office, his search proved successful.

A 100 gallon still was located on the land of Mrs. Lyda T. Fleming within half mile of Pactolus and destroyed. Its only value was found at the plant. Sheriff Dudley states that they located between fifty and sixty places where this still had been formerly operated.—Daily News, Aug. 20.

WILMINGTON MAN SHOTS HIMSELF--DEATH IS RESULT

Wilmington—C. F. Morrall, special deputy collector of customs under Collector Walter Taylor, of this city, shot himself in the abdomen either accidentally or with suicidal intent yesterday afternoon in one of the lounging rooms of the custom house here, and when found at 2:59 o'clock was unconscious. An operation was performed at a local hospital and his death followed.

For several days he had appeared despondent and yesterday placed his resignation in the hands of Collector Taylor, the same being accepted. Colonel Taylor says he desired to take position in the treasury department at Washington and had so planned. He was 33 years old and a native of Connecticut, where he had a brother and another living.

MR. J. Y. MONK EXPECTED HOME TODAY.

The following is a portion of a letter from Mr. J. Y. Monk which is self explanatory:

Greensboro, Aug. 22, 1919, Mr. G. A. Rouse, Farmville, N. C.

Dear Sir: I will thank you very much indeed if you will mention in your paper this week that I am coming home Friday, August 22nd, and that I expect to see just as many of my customers as possible before our market opens. I am glad to tell you that I am feeling better than I have felt in five (5) years, and am raising to sell some high tobacco.

Very truly yours,
J. Y. MONK.
