Three Friendly Gentlemen

Made to Suit Your Taste

We have for years catered to the cigarette smokers of America.

With this experience, we created One Eleven— "111"—"Made to Suit Your Taste" of the world's three greatest cigarette tobaccos—

- 1—TURKISH, for Ardens
- 1—VIRGINIA, for Mildness
- 1—BURLEY, for Nicotiness

We moved from One Eleven—the address of our home office. We are proud of their success.

WHAT THE CHILDREN WANTED BOTH GOOD AND BAD NEEDED

One Night Think It Was Not Altogether Miss Willet's Golden Voice That Entranced Them.

An entertainment was being given in the village school. When the program was half over the faces of the scholars shone with agreeable anticipation for the next item was to be a vocal solo by Miss Willet, who on many occasions had delighted the school with her singing.

Finally the chairman made the announcement: "I am very sorry to say, children, that Miss Willet has contracted a cold and will be unable to sing. She is willing, however, to recite a poem instead if you wish to hear it. Do you?"

Several heads in the rear of the room began to nod as if in earnest conversation. Then they evidently elected a spokesman. "Please, sir," said the boy, "if Miss Willet don't mind, we'd rather have her get up and try to sing and if her throat's too sore to make a noise she can make her funny faces while the pianist plays the tune."—London Tit-Bits.

What Did They Mean?

On Christmas morning the children of the house were spreading out the toys that Santa had put in their stockings.

"Father," said Willie, "I wish I had got a dictionary in my stocking as well as these toys."

"Why? What did you want that for?"

"So that I could find out the meaning of words I heard Santa Claus say when he stepped on the ticks I spread on the carpet last night."

Rev. Sparrow Jones Had Ingenious Reasoning With Which to Satisfy Aunt Miranda.

Whenever Rev. Sparrow Jones called on Aunt Miranda, it was her custom to set a plate of gingerbread before him and then ply him with what she called "ligious spoundings."

"What fo' does de Laved send epidemics onto de land?" she asked him one day.

"When folks get so bad dey must be removed, some of 'em, Sister Miranda, den de Laved permits de coming of an epidemic," said the preacher; and he took a large bite of gingerbread.

"En," said Aunt Miranda. "Ef dat's so, how come de good people gits removed along wid de bad ones?"

"De good ones is punished for widness," said Rev. Sparrow Jones. "De Laved gits every man's fair trial."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Clear Cases.

"I don't take prohibition cases," said the lawyer.

"But I'm an innocent man, I tell you. I'm charged with having liquor in my possession, but I'm the person who called up the police department and stated that I had found twenty-four quarts of Scotch buried in my backyard."

"You say you called up the police and let them carry off that Scotch when you might have concealed it in a hundred different places and defied the true owner to get possession of it?"

"Certainly."

"Well, you must be innocent. I'll engage to defend you."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FARM POULTRY

NO DEFINITE RULE FOR FEED

When Hens Are Laying Heavily They Should Consume Much Larger Amount of Mash.

Feed according to the appetite of the birds; no definite rule can be given. Feed scantily of grain in the morning and give all the grain they will eat in the afternoon in time to find it before dark. There should be no grain in the litter at noon; when found, it indicates feeding too much in the morning.

In general feed by weight two-thirds part of grain to two parts of mash. When the birds are laying heavily they should consume a larger amount of mash.

A green range of alfalfa, clover, or grass furnishes the ideal condition. When these are not available it is necessary to give the birds some kind of succulent food. Mangold beets, cabbage sprouted out or green clover are usually considered the best green feeds. If these are not obtainable, apples and potatoes make a valuable addition to the ration. Feed at noon in small amounts as the birds will clean up before night.

Hard, sharp grit is necessary for grinding feed; oyster shell to supply lime for egg shells. Neither will replace the other.

RAISING GEESSE FOR PROFIT

Opportunities Good in Regions Where They Can Be Fattened for City Markets.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Geese may be raised profitably on many more farms than at present. The United States Department of Agriculture points out that the opportunities are especially good in regions where they are fattened commercially for the growing demand of cities. They are easily disturbed and should therefore be handled gently. When mated they are allowed to run in flocks, but each mating may be kept in a colony by itself to keep the fenders from fighting. A gander may be mated with from one to four geese, but pair or trio matings usually give the better results. From ten to twenty-five geese may be kept on an acre. Under most conditions ten is a fair average. Free range on grass or stubble is advisable, and many persons in the South keep them to kill weeds in the cotton fields.

best results for another 12 months. Sometimes they will lay the first year, but the results usually are unsatisfactory, and the eggs often are used for cooking. Females usually are kept until they are eight to ten years old, or as long as they lay well, but ganders seldom are kept after they are six or seven years old. Yearling ganders of the domestic breed often are used for breeding, but both sexes usually are best for breeding when from three to five years old.

PUREBRED POULTRY IS BEST

Good, Plump, Tender Chickens At Ways Command Top Prices—Sourwy Poultry Are Lost.

There is always a good demand for market poultry and eggs, and these always will be, but like every other commodity, the price received by the seller depends upon the quality of the goods sold. Good, plump, tender chickens, properly fitted, always command the top price, while the sourwy, starchy, inferior stock has a low value for whatever it will bring. To a farmer who says there is no profit in the poultry business is generally one of these fellows who raises the latter kind.

GOOSE FEED BEFORE ROOSTING

About One-Third of Total Annual Feces Will Clean Up in Day in Just About Right.

Chickens need a good feed before going to roost at night, and it is not about one-third of the total amount they will clean up in a day, but the early morning, and the remainder in the afternoon. The proportion will be about equal. The night can be fed in a large quantity of feed, but it is not necessary to feed them before they go to roost. It is better to feed them in the morning and in the afternoon, and let them clean up the feed in the night.

FEEDING GARBAGE TO SWINE

When Collected Frequently and Well Selected It Will Give Good Quality of Meat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

More than 40,000,000 pounds of garbage-fed pork is produced annually throughout the United States from the feeding of waste scraps and hotel refuse. Heretofore difficulties have been experienced in the economical and satisfactory disposal of city garbage. The United States Department of Agriculture points out that the use of municipal garbage for the production of pork offers a suitable method for disposal of these waste products and has permitted the repetition of our pork supplies at a low cost.

Garbage which is fed to hogs must be collected with reasonable frequency and be free from tin cans, soap, broken glass, and other undesirable or injurious foreign materials. It is desirable always for cities to make garbage collections and then dispose of it to individuals, associations, or corporations on a contract basis, unless the city operates its own hog-feeding farm.

Long-time contracts are likely to be most satisfactory to all concerned, besides they effect the use of a better class of equipment and better sanitary conditions. The pigs or sows to be fed may be bought as feeders or may be raised on the feeding farm. The latter method gives much more satisfactory results. Methods of feeding, handling, housing, and care may differ considerably so long as the essentials of sanitation and hog comfort are observed.

Equipment for feeding should be adapted to the type of garbage available and to local conditions, climate, and transportation. As a rule, raw garbage is preferable to cooked garbage for the use of hogs. In case the weather should be so cold that the garbage freezes, it is advisable to thaw it before feeding. Generally the use of grain as a supplementary feed for the garbage is not an economical practice, but it must be provided when the supply of garbage is temporarily short.

Hogs which are to be fed garbage should be immunized against cholera by the double or simultaneous treatment. Thorough permanent immunization is very important because of the presence of raw pork scraps from in-fectured hogs which may be put into garbage cans. Garbage-fed hogs show no greater susceptibility to tuberculosis, pneumonia, or blooded diseases than grain-fed animals. Pork from garbage-fed hogs is as good in quality as that resulting from other feeds, and the average garbage-fed hogs sell at practically the same prices as ordinary grain-fed animals.

The garbage from more than 3,000,000 people is fed to hogs in cities where municipal supplies of pork are produced from waste food products. If fed under suitable conditions this garbage supply is sufficient to produce approximately 90,000,000 pounds of pork a year. Generally, it takes about 50 pounds of garbage to produce one pound of marketable pork on the hoof.

The garbage should be collected at least two or three times a week in northern cities. In southern cities daily collection should be made during hot weather.

The equipment for feeding hogs includes self-feeders, troughs, or platforms, depending on the kind of garbage fed. Garbage fed on platforms is more readily accessible to the animals. Self-feeders need constant attention to prevent clogging when the garbage contains rotten kinds of corn cobs, or in case of heavy troughs, are useful for feeding garbage that is sullied. In all cases the feeding equipment must be kept clean and sanitary.

Essentials for Hogs.

Plenty of air always before the hogs is one of the essentials for their healthy development, and all of other things.

Deep Bedding Means. Bedding and a good feed are essential to raising the best quality hogs. The most feed makes them grow fast.

Good Health Means. Good health means a nice profit for the breeder.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the following statement: "One reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease."

Dr. Kilmor's Swamp Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Rutherford, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper advertisement.

Just Making Sure.

Backward and forward Johnny marched before the guard gate. He had a brand-new rifle and was playing at being a soldier on sentry duty.

"To him came the lady from next door, her eyes cold and hard.

"Johnny, if you break my window?" she demanded sternly, pointing as she spoke to her damaged property.

Johnny paused in his stride and eyed her thoughtfully.

"Did you see me do it?" he asked cautiously.

"No, I didn't, but—"

"Then I didn't!" And he resumed his marching.

You wouldn't put on hobbles to run a foot race
 That's why load up on handicaps for the day's work?
 A good deal of food, unwisely chosen, does weigh the body down and clog the digestion, and dull the brain.
 Why put on the hobbles?
 Grape-Nuts is a breakfast or lunch-time dish for those who want food efficiency, and mind and body efficiency.
 Grape-Nuts satisfies and nourishes. It delights the taste. It is ready to serve whenever you are ready to eat. And it digests easily, quickly and completely—leaving no handicap of heaviness and drowsiness.
